Retailers Say That Before Three Months Have Expired the Brewers Will Be Glad to Sell Them for $5 That They Even Now Get a Rate Better Than 86.

Beer has taken another drop-or to speak more correctly the price has. During the last year there has been a good deal of shaving of prices by the local brewers from the former standard price of $8 a barrel but attention to this fact was not very prominently focused until this week when the firm of E. Robinson's Sons reduced the price to $6. Several of the breweries have been making a $6 rate for several months in consequence of the sharp competition that now exists and the radical step taken by the E. Robinsons' Sons was wholly a surprise to the tride.

The Scranton Browing company hich expects to have the product of new brewery at Poplar street and Monsey avenue on the market within a few months contemplated making a rat or 86 a barrel to the tracts.
