EIGHTY YEARS OF AGE.

Interesting Event Celebrated Yesterday by Hiram Stark at His Home on North Main Avenue.

"We must beat them today or tomorrow Molly Stark is a widow!" Every patriotic American knows who spoke this immortal appeal to the little band of Green Mountain boys on the eve of battle in the struggle for American independence.

HIRAM STARK.

day anniversary at his home, on North Main avenue. If the artist has been true to the photographic resemblance you can see in the strange Puritanic face of the aged gentleman the marks of that peerless type of manhood, formed by the hardy exertions of pioneer days.

It is the face of old General Stark; he must have looked just about as did Hiram Stark a few years ago when age had not whitened the hair or softened the voice.

Mr. Stark thinks that his father lived at Plains during most of his long life. He must have been in the locality at the time of the Wyoming massacre.

Mr. Stark was a "Squire" in the early days of Hyde Park borough. By his older friends he is still called by that quaint title.
