THE TORNADO AT DAVIS.
Fine Scenic Melodrama Produced at That Play House.

"The Tornado," a scenic melodrama by Lincoln J. Carter, writer of "The Past Mail," is the attraction at Davis' theater for the rest of the week, afternoon and evening. Two large audiences saw the performance yesterday. The drama was given with all the scenic display and accessories that have made it famous.

The tornado and sea scene are the most realistic ever given at Davis' theater. The play is produced by a good company, Mazie Molyneux and Edward Anderson in comedy roles, being the favorites.

Summer Home Destroyed.

Early Wednesday morning the summer home of ex-Congressman W. H. Hines, of Wilkes-Barre, at Lake Ida, near Bear Creek, was destroyed by fire. The loss was about $16,000, which is partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

LACKAWANNA'S FIRST WHITE CAP CASE

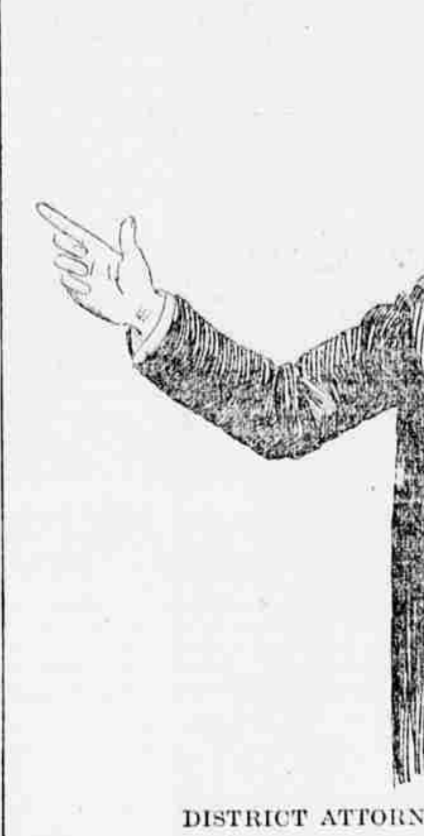

Called for Trial Before Judge Gunster Yesterday.

AFFAIR OCCURRED AT OLYPHANT

Dr. Beck, of Peckville, One of the Principal Figures in the Occurrence—Old Man Baker, the Prosecutor, Is Very Much of a Sinner or Very Much Sinned Against, According to the Stories Being Told—Rush Found Guilty of Burglary.

In tremulous voice and with tragic air and much dramatic force 60-year-old Charles Baker, of Olyphant, declared to the world, but particularly to Judge Gunster and twelve of his peers, that he had been white-capped. Dr. W. J. Beck, of Peckville; Otis Walton, of Olyphant, and George Thorp, of Petersburg, did it, he says.

The affair, it is alleged, occurred Oct. 15 last in Olyphant. A woman, of course, is at the bottom of it. She is Carrie Walton, aged 21, the niece by marriage of the prosecutor and brother of one of the defendants. The prosecution alleges that at about 8 o'clock on the night in question Baker met his niece at a retired place about 100 yards back of the Methodist Episcopal church to lecture her on the error of her ways, especially when her way ran parallel to that of Dr. Beck. While thus communing, three masked men, with a flourish of revolvers, came upon them and suddenly seized him, bound his hands behind his back, gagged him, gave him eighteen lashes on the back with a heavy strap, threatened to kill him, drove him, turn him and bury him in the culm dump, and then after pushing a can of tar under his nose that he might expect a coat of it with feather trimmings, if he didn't behave. Then pinning a placard on his back they told him to "git" and he got.

DOCTOR WAS SUSPECTED.

Baker suspected that one of the men was Dr. Beck because of his unusual size and the fact that Dr. Beck had a name against him, he having been a witness against the doctor in a case where Miss Walton's stepfather, William Doyle, charged the physician with trying to alienate his wife's affections. Detective Michael Moran, of Carbon, Pa., was put on the case and succeeded in ferreting out the identity of all three of the perpetrators.

They do not deny that they are the old man's chastisers, but their story is altogether different from that told by the prosecution. They propose to show that old man Baker had for a long time been acting towards Miss Walton as an old uncle should not act towards a young and unsophisticated niece; that she finally told her mother of the uncle's solicitations, and that a trap was set to catch him and teach him a lesson that he would remember.

On the day before the occurrence in question, it is alleged, Baker asked his niece to meet him behind the church. She promised to go and then went home and arranged to have her 19-year-old brother, Otis, follow her and whip the uncle. When the time came George Thorp was visiting at the house and agreed to go along with the avenging brother. On the way they met Dr. Beck, who was driving home after seeing a patient, and he also agreed to accompany them. They secreted themselves near the appointed meeting place, and when the girl gave the alarm they rushed out and captured old Baker. Young Walton gave him a good thrashing and then sent him with his hands tied and a placard on his back relating his particular sin and warning others to beware of imitating him. They deny that they wore masks or fired revolvers.

NINE CHARGES AGAINST THEM.

Nine charges in all are made against the defendants, each being accused of assault and battery, pointing firearms and carrying concealed weapons. Mr. Ross and Mr. Vidaver are representing the defense. District Attorney Jones appears alone for the commonwealth. The strap, the card, Walton's hat and revolver and the can of tar and other articles which figure in the case were exhibited by the commonwealth.

Baker was in the midst of his graphic recital of the assault at 2:30 o'clock when it was found necessary to adjourn court because of the noise made by carpenters working immediately above the court room. Judge Gunster went word to the workmen that they would not be allowed to disturb the proceedings tomorrow, and advised them to get through with their work before 9 o'clock in the morning, even if they had to work all night.

Mamie Smith was tried on the charges of selling liquor without a license and keeping a bawdy house. County Detective Thomas Leyshon was the prosecutor. The prosecutor and Constable Timothy Jones told of securing evidence against the place, and Patrolmen T. W. Jones and Lona Day described their part in the raid that was made on the Smith place on Franklin avenue Sept. 30, 1896. The defense was an effort to show the beer and whiskey was secured from a neighboring hotel and that "English Annie" and not the Smith woman was proprietress of the place. The jury returned her guilty of the second charge, but not guilty of selling without a license.

VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

A verdict of not guilty was taken in the case of the commonwealth against Arthur Whitney, charged with assault and battery upon Susa Vilag, the prosecutrix failing to appear.

The jury in the Yeomans-Boris cross-suit returned the candy vendor guilty of assault and battery, and said not guilty but pay the costs in the case in which the constable was defendant.

Hugh J. Rush was returned guilty of statutory burglary, but recommended to the extreme mercy of the court. No session was held in court room No. 2 yesterday owing to Judge Edwards' absence from the city.

AMUSEMENTS.

Extravaganza is becoming quite the fad, therefore our enterprising manager of the Academy of Music has secured Fred Rider's Moulin Rouge extravaganza for Friday and Saturday, February 12 and 13. This production has impressed itself upon the public at large in an established fact and has been positively proved by the land office business they have done in all our larger cities, packing theaters from pit to dome, playing return dates as all box office winners do. The Moulin Rouge extravaganza is so funny and yet so clear that everyone who witnesses its bright specialties and licentious to the street music feels an ungovernable desire to undergo a second experience. The scenery is magnificent, the costumes beautiful, the chorus fresh, strong and well drilled.

It must not be forgotten that the curtain will ring to 8:30 next Monday evening at the Academy of Music on the occasion of Miss Bertha Galland's appearance with her company in a magnificent programme composed of comedy and tragedy from the best authors. Charities may be ordered at 10:30 to avoid confusion. It will be well to follow instructions laid down by the management of the Academy in the advertisements.

Katie Rooney and her New York company of thirty stars comes to the Frothingham next Monday and Tuesday evenings and at a special popular priced matinee on Tuesday. The company is entertaining Philadelphia amusement goers this week and the Equivocal of that city had the following to say in its last Tuesday's edition: "Made up of entirely new features and augmented by the Bark Ben Achmet troupe of European acrobats, Katie Rooney's Greater New Yorkers returns to the Auditorium this week. No more skilled acrobats are to be found in the world than the Bark Ben Achmet troupe, who are as famous as the great Schaeffer family. The performance opens with a burlesque entitled 'The Millionaire's Reception,' in which a couple of specialty acts are introduced. Then follows a great olio of strong acts, and in conclusion there is a very funny burlesque in which other clever specialties are performed. Katie Rooney appears in both burlesque and in the olio, assisted by Professor John Harding.

A RIPE OLD AGE.

James I. Blaklee Celebrates His Eighty-second Anniversary.

An interesting family reunion took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of James I. Blaklee on Broadway, Mauch Chunk, in honor of the eighty-second anniversary of his birth. His four sons, Eugene H., Alonzo P., Asa P. and Charles A., with their wives and children, twenty-two in all, were present to honor the occasion. On April 10, 1815, Mrs. Blaklee was born in the town of Mauch Chunk, Pa. She has been married fifty-nine years.

Mr. Blaklee was born in the year 1815 on a farm in Susquehanna county. In 1833 he came with his brother-in-law, Asa Packen, to Mauch Chunk. He began life at Mauch Chunk in an humble capacity, working on the tracks of the Nesquehoning railroad. In 1834 he followed boating on the Lehigh canal, but at the end of the season he entered the store of Packen & Hillman as a clerk. From this time on he became more and more prominent as a citizen, being identified with boat building and the mining and shipping of coal. He also had much to do with the building of the Lehigh Valley railroad and was its first passenger train conductor.

When the Mahanoy branch of the road was completed he became its superintendent, and later was superintendent of all the coal branches. For many years he has been a member of the board of directors. In local affairs he has always taken a keen and lively interest in whatever would tend to the advancement and growth of Mauch Chunk.

PATRICK REAGAN ARRESTED.

Objected to an Electric Light Pole in Front of His Place.

Patrick Reagan, a saloon keeper of Dunmore, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant issued by Alderman Millar, and after being given a hearing he furnished bail in the sum of $500 for his further appearance.

Reagan objected to the placing of an electric light pole in front of his place of business and put his objections in the shape of an assault upon one of the workmen named Patrick Burke, at whose instance the arrest was made. While Reagan was before the alderman the pole was placed in position

REPAIRS OF THE ASPHALT PAVEMENT

City Officials Hold a Conference to Decide How It Shall Be Done.

MUCH OF IT NOW OUT OF BOND

System of Specifications Needed to Be Used in Receiving Bids for the Repairing of Asphalt Pavements. Heretofore Repairs Have Cost About Five Cents Per Square Yard. Systems in Vogue in Other Cities.

A conference was held at the city clerk's office last night between City Engineer Phillips and Chairman Wagner, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Lansing, of the pavement committee, of select council relative to a system of specifications to be used in receiving bids for repairing asphalt pavements.

The city now has 137,000 square yards of asphalt out of bond, that is, asphalt paves which contractors are no longer bound to keep in repair. This amount of pavement extends for 77 blocks or over six miles. Heretofore the Barber Asphalt Paving company has repaired such little pavement has been out of bond and for which about 5 cents per square yard has been paid. Within a few months, however, many sections of pavement have become out of bond and the city finds itself in a position where it must spend quite a large sum each year for repairs.

In his estimated expenditures for the coming year the street commissioner had included an item of $3,500 for repairing asphalt, but that sum was reduced to $2,000. How to provide for spending that sum eventually was the object of the conference between the city engineer and the committee.

The city engineer presented letters from a number of engineers of other cities, in some of which the asphalt was repaired by the square yard of actual work prepared, while in others the work was paid for according to section. The committee was unable to arrive at once upon a plan. That will be laid over until another meeting. Meanwhile it will be necessary for Mr. Phillips to prepare specifications on which bids for performing the work of repair will be submitted.

DE MUNN-ALWORTH WEDDING.

Took Place at Noon Yesterday at St. Luke's Church.

The marriage of Miss Louise De Munn and Attorney H. S. Alworth took place at noon yesterday in St. Luke's church, where was gathered a large assemblage of friends and relatives. Rev. Rogers performed the ceremony.

Miss Margaret Bentley attended the bride. The groom was accompanied by A. W. Blandin. Miss De Munn was attired in a suit of gray broadcloth and carried an ivory-bound prayer book. Miss Bentley's gown was a handsome garment trimmed with duchesse lace.

The ushers were Fred E. Beers, E. J. Barthold, Fred W. Edwards and G. M. Pierce.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Alworth received their friends in the church parlor. They left during the afternoon for Philadelphia.

The bride has until recently occupied a government clerkship in the United States senate clerk's department. She is a young woman of high intellect and culture. Mr. Alworth, who is a native of Harford, Susquehanna county, is a graduate of the law department of Harvard university, from which he graduated in 1893 and was admitted to practice in the Philadelphia courts. He located that year in Scranton and established an office in the Commonwealth building.

JOHN WASHELL INJURED.

Tried to Get on a Moving Train of Cars at Clark's Summit.

An Austrian named John Washell, said to be a resident of Evans court, lies in the Lackawanna hospital in a very critical condition, the result of an accident that befell him while trying to get on a moving freight train in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western yard, south of Clark's Summit, yesterday afternoon. In trying to get on the train he fell and his wheels passed over his legs, badly crushing the right and injuring the foot of the left. His wounds bled profusely and when the injuries were examined at the hospital it was found necessary to amputate at a point above the knee and also two toes of the left foot.

To an attaché of the hospital the wounded man said that he had last worked for the Delaware and Hudson company, but that for the past two months he had been out of work and it was for the purpose of seeking work in some other place that he had tried to get a ride on the cars.

Late in the afternoon several of his friends called and stated that Washell did not live in Evans' court, but on South Washington avenue. His brother also called and spent some time at his bedside. Up to a late hour last evening the injured man's condition remained very critical, and it was believed he could scarcely live until morning.

RELIEF UNION FORMED.

Officers for It Chosen Yesterday Afternoon in Fuller's Hall.

Oakford Union Veteran Relief union was formally organized yesterday afternoon in Fuller's hall on Lackawanna avenue. This is the first branch of the ladies' union that has been organized in this city, and the indications are that the society will have a sturdy existence.

E. L. Hass, the authorized mustering officer of the society for this district, instituted the union and the following officers were installed: Mrs. F. S. Scudder, president; Mrs. Kimball, senior vice-president; Mrs. E. Grever, junior vice-president; Mrs. S. Bryant, chaplain; Mrs. E. Haas, treasurer; Miss C. Adams, conductor; Mrs. G. Davis, guard; Miss Lou McFarland, secretary, and Mrs. Hortree, assistant secretary. The next meeting of the union will be held next Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

RESCUE MISSION ANNIVERSARY.

An Audience of 150 Persons Disappointed Last Night.

The special exercises to commemorate the fifth anniversary of the Rescue mission did not take place last night exactly as announced owing to the inability of a number of pastors and officers to be present.

Converts and their friends and families were present in large numbers and showed their interest in the institution by the ardent spirit with which they participated in a brief service conducted by Superintendent Sanborn and Rev. C. L. Malice. Light refreshments were served in the basement after the meeting.

A new date for a formal anniversary service has not been announced.

ABSENT COMMON COUNCILMEN.

Thirteen Failed to Appear for Last Night's Stated Meeting.

There was no meeting of common council last night owing to the lack of a quorum. When Clerk Hutton called the roll, the only members present were Messrs. Gordon, Keller, Seaman, Noone, Zedler, Regan, Sweeney and Planagan.

An adjournment was made to next Thursday night, when the select branch will be in session. Excepting the needed approval of a large batch of bills from the auditing committee, there was no urgent business in view.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

The Vulcan Iron works at Tamaqua has started up its foundry on a new basis. An order for four 1,500 horse power engines by the Forty Fort and Alton Coal companies is the cause of this increase in working hours. Additional large orders are expected from other large coal operations in the Wilkes-Barre region.

It has been rumored for several days that the Lehigh Valley Railroad company would begin next Monday to ship its coal from the mines to tide water, without shifting at Packerton. The report is not true.

The officials of the Central Railroad of New Jersey have been experimenting of late with many devices by which they hope to make accident from collision an impossibility. A big force of men is at work along the various lines of the company replacing the old semaphores with new ones operated by electricity, and placing relays on all the switches, so that it is impossible to leave them open without giving warning of the danger. The superintendent of signals, Mr. Dawes, has divided the track into a series of blocks as is done in the ordinary "block" system. In case of an accident on the road the fact is automatically signaled to the semaphores in the rear, and traffic over the part of the line is instantly warned.

DEDICATION OF PUBLIC STREETS

City Solicitor Torrey Writes City Engineer Phillips About It.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF LAW

Require a Deed from the Land Owner and Acceptance by the City—One Rule, However, Can Hardly Govern All Cases—Long Use of a Street May Imply Its Acceptance—Nuts for City Officials and Real Estate People to Crack.

With reference to what constitutes the dedication of a public street to public use and its acceptance by the city, City Engineer Phillips has received the following letter from City Solicitor Torrey:

Dear Sir:—Replying to yours of the 5th inst., in which you ask my opinion as to what action of council, if any, is required in order that there may be an acceptance of a street or strip of ground thrown open by individuals for the purpose of selling lots on either side, would say: it is difficult to state any rule which will govern all cases. The general principle of the law is that in order to constitute a street a public highway there must be a dedication of the land by the owner and an acceptance by the public authorities. The laying out of the street, and the selling of the lots upon either side of it described as fronting upon the street, the filing or recording of a plat showing the street or other similar acts, constitute sufficient dedication of the land for street purposes by the owner; after such dedication the public authorities may accept whenever they see fit.

Such acceptance is, in the case of the city, accomplished by passing an ordinance or, perhaps, resolution, expressly stating the streets named and their acceptance as public thoroughfares; an implied acceptance arises in cases where the public authorities have done acts recognizing the existence of the public highway and treating it as one of the public highways. This may be by appropriating money for any making repairs upon it, by locating several street railway or other franchises upon it, by recognizing the street in ordinances by laying sewers or sidewalks, paving or by any corporate action which clearly and distinctly recognizes the existence of the street as a public highway. An implied acceptance also frequently arises from long continued uses of the streets by the public as such.

Very truly yours,
James H. Torrey,
City Solicitor.

Bargains.

Among the hundreds of special values of this odd ware sale are some bargains that outclass others, both in their desirability and the sweeping character of the reduction.

Particularly is this true of our open stock patterns of decorated dinner ware, which have been made up in sets. It has been a matter of doubt whether they should be included in the sale or not, but once decided upon as belonging to the "odd ware" class, their cost or value had no part in deciding the price. 'Twas what would sell them quickly—they are all the best goods. Haviland & Co. and Other French China, Maddock's English Porcelain.
