MR. OLIVER EXPLAINS.

Tells Just Why It Was He Opposed the Ordinance for the Opening of Hampton Street.

Some fellow down in the Fifteenth ward who wants to represent that baliwick in common council, has wasted about $2 of good silver in the printing of a number of circulars with which he "greets" the voters of the ward. He distributed the circulars Saturday afternoon and evening in all the saloons of the locality. He wants the voters of the ward to understand that Joseph E. Oliver, the Republican nominee for reelection, has been guilty of a breach of feith to his constituents. The circular does much into detail, citing an instance of Mr. Oliver's supposed infidelity. He asks: "Did you read the record of the common council meeting of Dec. 30, 1896, when Mr. Oliver was the first man in the room to pump up and oppose the opening of Hampton street to Fourth street?" Then he exciaims: "I am sor-ry to say such was the case!"

These circulars, spread broadcast, would tend, if truthful, to injure Councilman Oliver at the polls tomorrow. Candidate Oliver was seen last evening by a Tribune reporter. In regard to his altitude on the Hampton street opening matter he acknowledges that he opposed the measure as it was con-structed at that time. His reasons are: If the opening was made according to those plans the grade from Meridian street to Fourth street would be 20 feet in every hundred. This would be seven feet more of an incline than there is at present on West Lackawanna avenu-Think of this-seven feet of earth piled on the top of Lackawanna avenue hill! Moreover, the width of Fourth street is but 40 feet and a street car track takes up the centre. With a ling, instrumental music and speech-grade nimest like a precipice and a making was indulged in, John C. Morstreet car running at the foot the opening according to the plans which Councilman Oliver defeated would be far worse than useless.

a system that is responsible for the many ills the people now suffer. Dunmore possesses many advantages and should grow rapidly and steadily and it should have public improvements commensurate with its importance and development. It could have them without increasing the tax rate if the money raised was wisely and economically expended. It is not, and therefore it has come to pass that the borough has an indebtedness of $20,000 and nothing to show for it save a borough building worth about $6,000 which is kept as is probably no other borough building in the state. The borough debt consists of $12,000 bonded indebtedness and a floating indebtedness of $8,000. In such a slovenly manner is the business of the borough conducted that recently it had no tion Thursday night of last week in a money to pay the '96 interest on its most lamentable condition.
