THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE-WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 17, 1897.

PLEASANT SOCIAL EVENT

Conducted Last Night in Mears' Hall by the Elite Dancing Class---Those Who Were Present.

The Elite Dancing class-the leading social organization of its kind on the West Side-gave a social last evening in Mears' hall. The attendance was all that could be wished and with delicious music played by Bauer and his orchestra the affair passed off most pleasantly.

The hall itself had been prettily decorated. Delicate lined streamers swung from the central chandelier to the corners of the celling and the bare white walls served as a background for fes-tooning of colors. The orchestral music issued from behind a screen of potted plants on the stage.

Dancing began shortly after nine o'clock. Previous to that time the streets were busy with passing cabs and coupes all making for the centre of festivity. The managers of the Elite class can feel proud of the delightful time given their friends last evening. The members are: Edwin G. Peters, Daniel Trainor, Samuel Lewis, W. H. Bonn, David Owens, Paul Brown, Fred Weinss, Gus Weinss, and Charles Bert-Present at the dance last evening were: Misses Mary Fanning, Wilkes-Barre: Margaret Mackey, Kingston; Miss Walters, Mauch Chunk; Mrs. J. ### SOUTH SIDE.

The long spell is broken and relief came The long spell is broken and relief came at last to the sewer agiators of the South Side. Monday night the proposed ordi-nance became a law, signed by the mayor, Many conflicting opinions were rendered in regard to the action of the mayor would take, and the time drew so close to its limit that many thought he would sliently give consent to the carrying out of the wishes of the majority of the people by passing the time within which he held the power of veto. The politicians weighed the project very heavily until yesterday's election, and it no doubt had an effect upon the results thereof, espe-tally in the Nineteenth ward. Monday afternoon as Mrs. Martin Stern was about to descend the stairs in her ome, on South Washington avenue, she ceidentally tripped and fell headlong to he bottom. When picked up it was the bottom. When picked up it was found that her arm was broken and she vas otherwise badly bruised and fright-ned, Dr. Walsh attended her injuries. The Heptasophs met in regular session Storr's hall last evening. Thomas Hoban, of Minneapolis, who

Yesterday's election passed off quietly, although the rival aspirants put up a vigorous battle and excitement ran high. The vote was the largest ever polled in the South district. In the Southwest dis-trict quietness reigned supreme, and a person not posted in the town would not be reminded of an election. Owing to cutting on all sides the ballots were made up of a curlous mixture and were ot counted until a late hour. Patrick Flannery, the well known base ball catcher, was painfully injured at
