HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kinney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effect following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. left alone in his cell and the torture was It stands the highest for its wonder- not repeated. RUIZ'S FEARFUL DEATH.

Tortures Prolonged Four Days, When the End Came---Terribly Beaten Each Time.

From the Sun.

Havana, Feb. 20.-The torture known as componte in Cuba, and by means of which the American citizen, Dr. Ricardo Ruiz, was assassinated, is the most barbarous of all the cruel nunishments invented by the Spaniards. A prisoner is beaten, sometimes with a cane and sometimes with a large cylindrical piece of iron, until he faints from pain or loss of blood. His wounds are then cared for, and when he is hetter the awful treatment is repeated. Care is taken by the savage executioners that the victim shall not die at the first componte. The design is to kill him by degrees, and when the climax of cruelty is reached, then a powerful and decisive blow on the head puts an end to the poor victim's sufferings. The torture began on Friday, Feb. 12. Ruiz was patiently awaiting assistance from the American consulate, it being then the ninth day of his arrest. The only persons who had entered his cell were the Auditor de Guerra and his notary. He declared before them that he was innocent of any connection with the insurgents, denied all the charges against him, and, asserting his American citizenship, asked permission to communicate with the American consul general.

He received no answer, and was left alone. Meanwhile his wife sent word to Consul General Lee, and later called herself at the American consulate. General Lee, as usual in these cases, notified the state department of the arrest, and awaited instructions, which dld not come. Neither General Lee nor Mrs. Ruiz could believe that the doctor was in danger of being assassinated.

Without any answer from Washington and without any more news from Dr. Ruiz, the time passed until Feb. 12. Mrs. Rulz repeatedly, but in vain, tried to communicate with her husband, and to send him food from their own house. Admittance to the jail was refused to her. She was told that her husband was incommunicado It is also said that she called on Major Fonsdeviella, who gave her a very large attendance. The Nicholson or- rough reception. "Apply to the American consul general, madam," said Fonsdeviella to the poor woman, with the devilish, ironical smile which had so many men tremble befor him. On the night of Feb. 12 the doors o the cell in which Dr. Ruiz was confined were opened and the componte began. The details of the awful scene cannot be told, as no witness was there except Ruiz and his murderers. What all the other prisoners heard were the desperate cries of the victim, his entreaties for mercy, and his despairing imprecations. A fact is also known, which is proof that the torture was inflicted by the major's orders, for at the door of the cell, while the componie was going on, stood Major Fonsdeviella, and several times he addressed the prisoner and the executioners. On Feb. 13, about 7 p. m., the scene was repeated. The unfortunate Ruiz appears to have made a desperate effort to overthrow his enemies and get to the door. The noise sounded as though ne had made a leap and had at once received a terrible blow which felled him, and as he fell he uttered a loud cry. The door was immediate'y locked, and the assassins, passing through one of the narrow halls, expressed to each other the fear of having killed the man "against orders." One of them was plainly seen in the dim light of the corridor. He wore the uniform of a soldier belonging to the military police called Orden Pub-On the next day, Sunday, Ruiz was left alone in his cell and the torture was ing "Socorro! socorro!" (Help! help!) If you need a medicine you should have for hours together, until his strength the best. Sold by druggists price fifty was exhausted.
