THAT WIDE TIRE PROPOSITION.

Mr. Streator, of Chinchilla, Has Something to Say About It.

William Streator, of Chinchilla, is not much impressed by the offer of the Providence and Abington Turnpike and Plank Road company to make a reduced rate of toll for vehicles equipped with wide tires. To a Tribune reporter yesterday, Mr. Streator said:

"The present single round trip tell from Chinchilla Methodist Episcopai church into the city over the turnpike is 16 cents. By paying $1 down, one ticket is now sold good for eight trips; or from the old O'Donnell tavern, where the turnpike is used by citizens coming to the city from Newton, the single round trip toll is 14 cents, or 10 trips

"Under the new proposition, it is my belief that the company proposes to do away with tickets and charge the full single trip fare for all narrow tires. Thus the wide tire would pay really more than all tires pay now on the ticket system, while by the doing away of the ticket system, those having nar-row tires will have to pay about 10 per cent, more than at present. Thus the company wins on both deals.

"Will this increased charge be expended on improving the turnpike?" is a question that Mr. Streator says he is anxious to have answered.

PRESIDENT PATTEN A NOTED GUEST

Created Enthusiasm and Contained His Hope for a Princeton School of Jurisprudence -- Election and Business Meeting Preceded the Dinner. A Rap at Old Yale Featured the Decorations.

The annual dinner of the Princeton lumni of Northeastern Pennsylvania was held last night at the Hotel Jermyn. A notable guest was Rev. Francis L. Patten, D. D., L.L. D., president of Princeton university. About thirtyfive graduates and guests were pres-

The dinner was served in the breakfast room, which was fairly recking with the orange and black of old Nassau. A significant feature of the decoration was a tiger rampant over a flag f Yale blue. The beast contained a menanical device which kept its head ragging and jaws opening and closing above the rival blue in a style that gloated over the latter's downfall and furnished material for frequent comment by the speakers,

At 6.15 o'clock began an informal reception period, followed by a brief business meeting and election, and then began the discussion of the dinner. From 9 to II o'clock was occupied by tonet responses and the singing of old

Rev. Dr. James McLeod, '89, the retiring alumni president, presided. The speakers and their toasts were: Dr. Patten, "Princeton University;" H. S. AMUSEMENTS.

You must go and see Denman Thompson's play at the Academy this afternoon and evening, Everybody goes to see "The Old Homestead" when he has the chance, and another opportunity occurs to enjoy this perennially popular play. The cast is a particularly strong one, with Archie Boyd as the loveable Jeshua Whitcomb, the rest of the members being the same as a the last visit. The double quartett Delivered a Tonst Response Which and choir have been carefully selected, and includes rare voices. The musical portion of "The Old Homestead" is not the least commendable. All the scen-ery has been made new since the play was last seen here.

Robert Mantell will present "Monbars" at the Academy of Music Thursday evening, March 18, for the benefit of the Green Ridge Wheelmen, "Mon bars," as played by Mantell, is one of the strongest dramas on the American

An innovation in burlesque will b seen at the Davis' Theater for 3 nights and matiness beginning Monday March 1. The Musical Students, La Danse Risque, The Gymnastic Frolic, Ballet Equestrinne and the Gilt Edge Club will be catchy numbers in this big show, while the specialty features includes a list of high-class vaudeville mars. Don't miss seeing the "Night Owls" and the many startling noveltles to be presented.

The concert of the Cornell University Glee Club, next Monday evening, will be one of the best heard in Scranton this year. The boxes and lodges as well as the best seats in the bouse are selling rapidly. The concert coming two days before the Lenten season opens is just in time to close the gayeties of the season. Very many will take advantage of the time and enjoy concert and entertainments provided for the clubs.

The advance sale of sonts for "The Speculator," Thomas Q, Seabrooks's latest success, will begin at the box office of the Frothingham this morning and the engagement which will be for next Tuesday evening only promises to be a particularly successful one, judg-ing from the interest exhibited by the theatergoing public and Mr. Senbrocke's multitude of admirers. The cast sup porting Mr. Seabrooke is notable for its excellence, containing as it does the names of many well known artists. The scenic presentation will be entirely

McAuliffe and Green's company will open a week's engagement at popular prices at the Academy Monday evening, presenting the "Bowery of New York." McAuliffe was for several seasons the principal comedian of Thomas E. Shea's company and Mr. Green was Shen's leading man. As such they became very well known to Scranton theatergoers, the former as a very successful laughter-producer and the latter as a handsome, forceful leading man,
