

THE MEMBERS OF M'KINLEY'S CABINET

Brief Sketches of Those Who Will Oversee the Country's Business.

FEW EVER HELD ANY OFFICE

People Who Have Attained High Places from Lowly Beginnings Aided Only by American Push and Perseverance.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—Senator John Sherman, secretary of state, who has been the author, sponsor or defender of some of the most important measures in our legislation...

land, O., to enter upon his profession. On the last day of 1869 he set out for Michigan with a little borrowed capital and entered into the lumber business at Grand Rapids with a friend...

temperance work through the agency of moral suasion, he has long been president of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence society. An active Unitarian, he has also been president of the Unitarian club.

hundred acres which he now owns. There is probably not another farm in the state so well improved in all respects. For many years he was a holder of forty-acre tracts, and that business he has made a competence.

LYMAN J. GAGE.

Lyman J. Gage, president of the First National bank of Chicago, Ill., is perhaps the most popular man in that city. Even "Tommy" Morgan, the leader of the Chicago Socialists, approves Mr. Gage's appointment.

JAMES A. GARY.

James A. Gary is the postmaster general. He wears a heavy beard and mustache, and has all the outward and visible signs of a man of substance.

JAMES A. GARY.

James A. Gary is the postmaster general. He wears a heavy beard and mustache, and has all the outward and visible signs of a man of substance.

the start that gave the great cavalry officer his rapid rise. Alger served under him at the battle of Boomville, Michigan, and was severely wounded.

co bar of Judge Joseph McKenna, who will be attorney general. Judge McKenna is not, strictly speaking, a Californian. He has resided in that state continuously since 1855.

separating rigidly his adherents from his personal characteristics, and admitting neither friendly nor hostile consideration. The question then would be, not what is he, but what he has really done for his party, his country, or mankind in general.

RAPID RISE AS A BANKER.

In Chicago he could find no openings for clerks in banks. Therefore Gage went to work in the stock market, and spent only a few months showing lumber when the manager, noticing his intelligence, gave him a place in the office.

In politics James McKenna is of course, a staunch Republican. His experience in public life dates back to 1857, when he was elected to the assembly of the state of California.

But we are confronted at the outset by the circumstance, without parallel probably in American experience, that the self-appointed custodians of the twenty-second president's fame demand that he shall be judged according to another standard than that of accomplished results.

JOHN D. LONG.

Of Hon. John Davis Long, who is to be secretary of the navy under Mr. McKinnley's administration, it may be said that he has a positive gift for popularity.

The new secretary of agriculture is spoken of by lovers who know him well, as a large all-around man. His career in congress was creditable, but perhaps not brilliant. His speeches are substantial rather than eloquent.

But we are confronted at the outset by the circumstance, without parallel probably in American experience, that the self-appointed custodians of the twenty-second president's fame demand that he shall be judged according to another standard than that of accomplished results.

RUSSELL A. ALGER.

The career of General Russell A. Alger, who will have the portfolio in President McKinnley's cabinet, is an encouraging study for those who have life still before them.

Wilson is a practical farmer and his stock in Tama county is said to be worth $50,000, which signifies a pretty good Iowa farm.

WALL STREET CELEBRATES. Flags, a Song and Cheers on the Floor of the Stock Exchange.

THE SUN'S VIEW OF GROVER CLEVELAND

What Charles A. Dana Has to Say About the Ex-President.

A WORMWOOD-SEASONED FAREWELL

Powerful Searchlight is Turned Upon the Retiring President's Many Weaknesses--A Review of Character That Savors of the Proverbial Plain, Unvarnished Tale.

This is the New York Sun's farewell: The fairest estimate of Grover Cleveland's public career would perhaps be one every administrative detail; and he was likewise independent with that independence which springs from a growing magnification of the third vowel. At this stage he was described by our neighbors in the Times, as "a parochial statesman"; and the same journal ventured to cast unwarranted doubt upon his strict honesty as a public official.

Reform, but reform was not reform until the word was implanted with Cleveland. Successfully the various issues to his attack, on his administration, the president, were absorbed into his capacious self-consciousness and became part of the Cleveland scheme, and went forth again as emanations of Cleveland.

Reform, but reform was not reform until the word was implanted with Cleveland. Successfully the various issues to his attack, on his administration, the president, were absorbed into his capacious self-consciousness and became part of the Cleveland scheme, and went forth again as emanations of Cleveland.

THE SUN'S VIEW OF GROVER CLEVELAND

What Charles A. Dana Has to Say About the Ex-President.

A WORMWOOD-SEASONED FAREWELL

Powerful Searchlight is Turned Upon the Retiring President's Many Weaknesses--A Review of Character That Savors of the Proverbial Plain, Unvarnished Tale.

This is the New York Sun's farewell: The fairest estimate of Grover Cleveland's public career would perhaps be one every administrative detail; and he was likewise independent with that independence which springs from a growing magnification of the third vowel. At this stage he was described by our neighbors in the Times, as "a parochial statesman"; and the same journal ventured to cast unwarranted doubt upon his strict honesty as a public official.

Reform, but reform was not reform until the word was implanted with Cleveland. Successfully the various issues to his attack, on his administration, the president, were absorbed into his capacious self-consciousness and became part of the Cleveland scheme, and went forth again as emanations of Cleveland.

JOSEPH M'KENNA.

Attorney General.

Next, as to the development of the ego. This process has gone on swiftly, as swiftly as in his always sagacious judgment the public forbearance would tolerate. He has studied and learned in progress not only the extent of the market for solemn oracles, but also the danger line for personal ascription and surrogation.

RESULTS ACHIEVED.

Very meagre, except in words, and even more meagre in nouns than in adjectives, is the record of actual achievement exhibited as the Hon. Grover Cleveland's title to be regarded as "the greatest president since Washington."

JAMES F. WILSON.

Secretary of Agriculture.

James F. Wilson, secretary of agriculture, is a practical farmer and his stock in Tama county is said to be worth $50,000, which signifies a pretty good Iowa farm.

CORNELIUS N. BLISS.

Secretary of the Interior.

Cornelius N. Bliss, the secretary of the interior, who he believes in 1863, at Fall River, Mass. He traveled in this country to the year 1835. He is head of the wholesale dry goods firm of Bliss, Fabyan & Co.

WALL STREET CELEBRATES.

Flags, a Song and Cheers on the Floor of the Stock Exchange.

New York, March 4.—The inauguration of President McKinnley means much to those engaged in financial enterprises, and the event was quietly celebrated in that part of the city where the banks, the treasury and the Stock Exchange is located.

ONE BRAVE DEED.

Once, to his honor, he has been led to intervene for the suppression of domestic riot.

Once, to his honor, he has been led to intervene for the suppression of domestic riot. Once, also to his honor, he has sounded a note of genuine Americanism in a continental and its motive power.

