DEBATE ON M'WHINNEY RESOLUTION

An Amendment Arouses the Eloquence of Mr. Flinn, Mr. Gobin, Mr. Kanffman and Others -- A Bill to Protect the Button-Scheme to Regulate the Granting of Naturals

Harrisburg, Pa., March 11.-The refusal of Dr. Swallow to divulge the names of his informants in alleging negligence on the part of the state custodian in the matter of the capitol fire was again brought to the attention of the senate this morning. Mr. Walton, chairman of the judiciary general committee, made a report on the matter. The committee's recommendation is that if the joint committee of in vestigation desires to compel the attendance of Dr. Swallow before the bar of either the senate or house, to answer the questions which he has refused to answer, that the committee make to the legislature a full and complete report of its proceedings, so far as the same relates to the subpoeming and examination of the editor-preacher. This practically postpones action In the matter until next week.

Among the bills reported from the committee was the measure creating the office of excise commissioner. From the committee on education Mr. Short reported, with a negative recommendation, house bill relating to the compensation of female teachers. Mr. Kauffman, from the committee on forestry, reported the bill making constables ex-officio fire wardens as committed.

Among the other bills reported were those making unlawful public exhibitions of hypnotism; providing for the pay and mileage of coroners; empower ing county commissioners to employ an additional clerk, with a negative recommendation.

Incident to the discussion on the act governing cancuses or conventions for the nomination of public officers or election of delegates to nominaring conventions, Mr. Flinn served notice on Mr. Kennedy, the author of the bill that no matter what legislation be had passed, it would not affect the Republican county organization in Allegheny. The bill was passed finally.

MWHINNEY RESOLUTION. The senate was drawn into a long debate this afternoon over the report ing relative to the McWhinney house resolution authorizing an investigation into the condition of the miners of th Pittsburg bituminous coal district. The debate assumed a personal turn at sev eral points and had not been concluded when Mr. Grady, who was temporarily presiding, declaring the motion to adjourn, made by Mr. Brown, of Philadelphia, as carried.

favored five, because he said the responsibility of a bad investigation or placed. Mr. Gobin was against a large membership. He believed it would destroy the object of the resolution. With stray the object of the resolution. With biting sarcasm he said he admired the modesty of the mines and mining com mittee in taking upon itself the re sponsibility of the investigation.

The two Schuylkill senators, Messrs Coyle and Losch, engaged in a some what personal controversy as to the necessity for an investigation of the anthracite regions. The former favored such a move, while the latter claimed there was no necessity for it. Mr. Coyle attacked the Morgan interest in the coal business of the state but agreed with Mr. Losch that the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company had been most humane in the treatment of its miners in the Schuylkill coal regions. He could not tolerate, however, he said, the conduct of these controlling the coal output who are responsible for the small amount of work and low wages.

MR. KAUFFMAN'S APPEAL.

Mr. Kauffman, of Lancaster, made a passionate appeal for the passage the original resolution. He said that while the senate was engaged in fruitless debate on the subject hundreds of miners were on the verge of starvation. "In the name of God," said he, "let us for once rise above factional feeling and give these people the relief they seek. Let us be men, forgetting politics, casting aside partisanship and doing without prejudice that which we believe to be the proper thing."

Mr. Merrick favored the report of the committee and being interrogated by Mr. Losch as to his knowledge of the condition of affairs in the anthracite region said he secured his information from the newspaper and reliable men. Then turning on the Schuylkill senator he said: "You're a coal operator, are you not?"

Mr. Losch admitted he was, whereupon Mr. Merrick said the reason for his opposition to an investigation was very plain. Mr. Brown, of Lawrence, offered an amendment, which was defeated, pro viding for two separate committees on the affairs of the two coal districts to consist of five members 'each, three from the house and two from the senate. Mr. Brown's amendment carried with it an amendment offered by Mr. Flinn for one committee making the membership five. This was of course defeated and the question recurred on the report of the committee. On this the vote was 24 senators in favor and 16 in opposition. Mr. Grady, still presiding, declared that a two-thirds vote was necessary because the report of the committee carried with a change in the rules and he, therefore, decided the motion to adopt the committee's report loat, From this decision Mr. Coyle took an appeal and during the discussion Mr. Brown, of Philadelphia, moved to adjourn. The motion was carried At 2.05 o'clock the senate adjourned

GOVERNOR'S CAPITOL RECOMMENDATIONS

Yesterday. BUILDING SUGGESTIONS SUBMITTED

Communications Sent to the Legislature

Governor Hastings Believes That the Public Interests Will Be Best Served by the Erection of a Group of Buildings .- The Structures Should Be of Brick, Iron and Stone and Should Be Fireproof.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 11.-Governor Hastings today sent to the legislature the following communication. which was referred to the buildings committee.

Executive Department. Harrisburg, Pa., March 11.
The pressing necessity for legislative action providing for the erection of a capitol sultable for the meetings of the general assembly prompts me respectfully to call your attention to the emergency confronting us. The fire of Feb. 2, 1897, having destroyed the main capitol buildings, your honorable bodies are now occupying quarters which are necessarily only temporary. A differ-ence of opinion naturally exists among the people as well as among the mem-bers of your honorable bodies as to what should be done and the manner of doing it. To erect a single building, of such ample propertions as would be of such ample proportions as would be becessary to accommodate all the de-partments of the state government is advocated by some, whist others be-lieve that the better plan would be to erect a group of buildings for the ac-commodation of the general assembly and the several departments of the ia, made a speech against the mease, and Messis, Goold, of Erie, and orthers, of Philadelphia, supported It passed second reading. There was a long discussion of the lideclaring the species of fish which e game fish and fish commercially aluable for food and regulating the arching and propagation of the same. It specifies the size of fish to be aught and repeals all other laws relief to the fish and fishing. Mr. Eocht, of Union, opposed the bill in a strong speech and Mr. Stewart, thiladelphia, spacke in favor of it. Mr. Socht moved an amendment, which was adopted, reducing the minimum ength of black lass from nine to seven inches. Pending consideration of the general assembly of understands and brongerial and probabilities and the first form and architectural standpoint, scarcely less imposing. This would be to follow, with such improvements as might be suggested, the existing plan of separate buildings which have been found convenient and satisfactory except for the increasing demand for additional room made necessary by the growth of our population and business interests. It will be conceded by all that whatever plan may be adopted, we should keep in yiew the probable public needs for at least a century to come.

MOST FEASIBLE PLAN,

MOST FEASIBLE PLAN.

After a somewhat careful study of the question, I have reached the con-clusion that the public interests will be best served by creeting, first, a building suitable for the meetings of the general assembly, with enlarged accommodations for its officers and committees, and, subsequently as a part of the same general plan and as the financial of the state will recent Impressive Services Held in Plymouth Church.

Brooklyn, N. Y. March II.—The functural of Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher took place this afternoon from Plymouth church. The remains, which arrived at the church from Stamford Comment cannot at one time be torn down. As originally presented to the senate the resolution called for an investigation of the Pittsburg bituminous district. As reported from the committee it was amended so as to extend its investigation to the anthracite regions. It also delegated the power to investigate to the mining committee, which numbers forty in both brunches of the legislature.

Mr. Filmi made a savage attack on the resolution called for an investigation of the Pittsburg bituminous district. As reported from the night by a file of sixteen members of the night by a file of sixteen members of the public business, to say nothing Short ad- should, in my judgment, be immediate the commonwealth. are impelled from stern necessity so to curtail the expenditure necessary for the erection of a public building as to be within the bounds of strict economy and our ability to pay as we go. The long continued depressed condition of business warns us to avoid increased taxation. The present estimated revenues will not be sufficient to maintain the state establishment and give such aid to our school and charitable and penal institutions as they have the right to expect and which seem to be absolutely necessary.
