a position as teacher in a high school, After being away two years he returned to St. Paul's in response to an urgent call and to his energetic way proceeded to make up for the lack of regression that had featured his abonce. During his pastorate a church structure has been erected and the ingregation greatly increased and strengthened. Mr. Lange's resignation was caused by calls from several churches. He has not definitely decided which he will accept. He will continue as paster until during May, when te is to be succeeded by Rev. T. C. Huas, of Elgin, Ill, On Palm Sunday Mr. Lange will confirm a class,

The annual week of prayer will begin on Monday. The objects of the observance is contained in the following:

First-That God wil bestow such influences of the Holy Spirit his shall quicken the consciences of all Christians that they may give more earnest heed to His command to hallow the Sabbath in their homes and in public by refraining from such acts as will tend to weaken regard for the Lord's

Second-That He will lead Christians to obey the important part of the Fourth Commandment: "Thou," nor thy man servant nor thy maid servant nor the stranger," and to understand that it is a greater sin to require another to do a wrong than to do it ourselves; and that no one obeys God fully in this command until he has done all the membership. in his power to secure for those in his employ an opportunity for the enjoy-

Third-That He will lead to victory all who are striving to enforce the laws ngainst the open saloon on the Sabbath, and such amusements as disturb the peace and quiet of the day.

The close of the celebration of the fittieth anniversary of Plymouth Congregational church was marked with a rell call of members and an entertain ment and social Monday evening. There were 227 members who responded to the Rev. Jacob Fenerlicht, who has been rabbi of the Linden street synagogue for four years, terminated his service last Sunday and on Wednesday left for New York city. His successor has not been chosen. Tuesday afternoon the primary department presented him with a handsome study chair.

The city Christian Endeavor union will meet Thursday evening, April 15, in the Young Men's Christian association building and consider the project for holding a banquet in the near future. The banquet will probably be held in the lecture room of the Penn Avenue Bantist church, Rev. George E. Guild, the president of the union, urges a large attendance at the approaching meeting.

Five elders of the First Presbyterian church were elected as follows at a meeting of the congregation Wednes W. E. Plumley, F. K. Tracy, R. W. Omstead, J. H. Kays and Fi. C. McKenzie. The other elders are Alfred Hand, A. W. Dickson, W. H. Platt, T. H. Watis, H. A. Knapp and T. Mattes, Rev. Dr. James Me-Leod was moderator and A. W. Dickson secretary of the meeting.
