POINTERS ON HOW TO FISH FOR TROUT

Some Valuable Hints to Guide the Novices.

AVOID THE INHABITED REGIONS

Best Results Are Obtained in the Wild and Tangled Courses of Pure Mountain Streams, Which Should Be Whipped Downward -- There's a Way to Be Successful and a Way to Fail.

It is but a few days now until the trout fishing season opens in Pennsylvania, and the woods will be full of anglers who will strive to carry home baskets of their satisfying catch. The man who is a trout fisher of old needs to be told little about how to prepare for the sport or how to engage in it. The novice may well be guided by a few pointers, for fishing for tront is different from any other branch of the fascinating pursuit of angling.

Trout are never found in polluted streams, nor will they tolerate any but cool water. They delight in little pools beneath rocks or logs which obstruct the stream and break the current into fitful and turbulent cataracts and rapids. The deep forest is more of a favorite than the open country, hence the man who would find a reward for his day's tramp must go forth expecting to penetrate laurel thickets, tangles of undergrowth, and somewhat inaccessible places in the forbidding mountains.

The successful fisherman is the one who will desert the roads and paths and follow the stream resolutely, let it lead whithersoever it may. For this purpose it is well to be equipped with a pair of rubber wading boots, that the middle of the brook may be taken when the banks are difficult of passage.

FISH DOWN STREAM.

In fishing for trout it is best to proceed at once to the head of the stream and fish down. The treut is a lively feeder, and is on the lookout up stream for the swift current to bring him a dinner. As the fly or the worm is dropped over a log below which he is concented he darts at it savagely and is at once fast, or he is frightened away by the strange apparition. It is useless to sit on the bank and hold a line in the pool. If it is not taken quickly it is rarely taken at all, and the angler may as well move on down stream. trout is the readlest biter of all the fish of the water. Little pools, edg-es of overhanging rocks or any bunch of drift likely to afford him a home are apt to respond to the hook.

If it is inconvenient to start at the head of the stream and fish down, the sportsman should keep his pole well ahead of him, so that he can throw his hook and not be seen by the fish on the lookout. In fishing up stream it is wise to follow the banks rather than to keep in the stream. By so doing the hook can be dropped into the post while the fisher stays back out of sight.

SHORT LINES BEST.

Short lines as a rule are best for the mountain streams, as long ones get tangled in the drift and in the trees and branches overhead. Fancy tackle is all right for the experienced fisherman who knows how to use it, but the novice will do as well to follow the advice of some rural fisherman, who will cut a pole from the head of the stream, tie a short line to it, and with a worm dug from the moist places along the shore, catch a basket with anybody. Artificial flies are taken readily by the troot. But the earth corm has fully as warm a place in his affections, and can be relied upon.

Those unacquainted with woodcraft can bear in mind that every stream leads to a bigger one, and that the large ones lead to settlements. The lost man has but to follow the stream and he will in a few hours, at most, reach a town or village whence he can speedily be set on his way. In going fishing carry as little paraphernalia as possible. A tramp over the mountain grows tiresome enough in a day without a load of useless baggage to weary the unaccustomed feet. To get the best results it is wise to go to the country as near the fishing sreams as possible, and there put up with the equatry tayerns or the farmers or woodsmen, who for a moderate consideration, will entertain strangers and do it very well.

GELBERT MUST STUDY. Faculty Takes Him Off the U. P. Base Ball Team.

It has been learned that Gelbert Scranton's well known and brilliant half-back on the University of Pennsylvania foot ball team, who has been playing the outfield on the 'Varsity base ball team, has been forbidden by the faculty to participate in base ball any further this spring. The action of

At this moment thousands of men are standing at the cross-roads of life. Death in the guise of a foolish ambition coaxes them to take one road, while health and happiness in the form of wife and babies coax them to take the other. For the sake of a few added dollars will they continue to of a few added dollars will they continue to over-work and neglect the commonest pre-cautions for the preservation of health, or will they listen to love and reason and draw back before it is too late? A man may do almost any amount of good, hardwork if he will take care of his health and when he feels out of south will take the right remedy will take care of his health and when he feels out of sorts will take the right remedy. The great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the hard-workers' medicine. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver, purifies the blood and tones and steadies the nerves. It makes the appetite hearty and brings refreshing sleep. Thousands of hard-workers owe their lives to it and have said so over their signatures. Druggists all sell it and all substitutes are frauds.

"I was taken with erysipeles in my hands and went to the doctor," writes Mrs. Lena Raumgartner, of Joy, Charlevoix Co., Mich. "He said he could not cure me. He gave me medicine to ease me but the disease apread all over my body. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two of the 'Favorite Prescription' and am entirely cured. I have a boy three weeks old. I was helpless two or three months before confinement, but after taking the 'Favorite Prescription' I was able to do my washing three days before I was confined."

There is scarcely a known form of ill-health that constipation will not cause or aggravate. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an unfailing cure for constipation. One lit-tle "Pellet" is a gentle laxative.

the faculty advisory committee was quite a surprise, as Gelbert is in full standing in all his studies,

It seems that the faculty's decision in Gelbert's case was made on the rec-ommendation of one of the quiz masters, who, being particularly desirous that Gelbert should pass his final ex-amination without any trouble, thought he needed his entire attention for his studies, and that if he devoted some of his time to ball playing it might affect his graduation.

Manager Griffin, of Scranton, believes in home work to round his men into form in the spring, with plenty of rub downs and cold baths. Mr. Griffin's idea has been expleded again and again. It is useless to try that sort of thing in a northern climate.—Boston Herald. Following is the list of the players on worth, James A. Brown, Edward Gem-this year's Buffalo team: Smith. Wads-lat of known value in the Eastern league and strengthened several positions over last year's form. Moreover, they have a manager who knows the Eastern league speed instead of one who underestimates it, as last year, If Sandy Griffin can maintain harmony in his collection of discards from the other teams of the league he should keep well away from the tail end this year." Frank Bonner, of Wilkes-Barrre, who has been secured to play second base for

Scranton, was at the St. Charles hotel last night. He looks strong and well and fit to bring a little of that much needed ginger into the Scranton outfit. Bonner said he had been requested to report here next Monday and would be here on that day. While discussing the season's prospects with a party of friends he offered to bet a suit of clothes that Scranton would beat out his old Wilker

Barre mates but found no takers.

The Rochester team will be made up as follows: Pitchers, Herndon, Caliban, McFarland, Gannon, Yerrick, Lee, Tull and Murphy; catchers, Carr, Frary and Roberts: first base, Deoley; second base, Roberts: first base, Dooley: second base, D. Jim Hall says that he will at once authorize Charley Mitchell to match him against Kid McCoy for any amount, either n this country or in England.

If Kid Lavigne does not beat Eddie Connolly easily it will be plain that the kid has struck the toboggan which is the besetting danger of all pugilists. McCoy must meet Creedan and van-quish him before he has an established form as a middle-weight or as a light heavy-weight. Barring defeat by Fitz-simmons, the sturdy Australian has an unbeaten record. Corbett and Firz showed at Salt Lake Thursday night at rival theaters. Fitz-simmons drew much the larger house. He was met at the depot by 500 people and brass band, while Corbett attracted paratively little attention.

Billy Newman, matchmaker of the New York Polo Athletic club, says he will give a $10,000 purse for the Maher-Sharkey bout. There is likely to be another club to make a bid for the contest, and that is the Palace Athletic club, at One Hundred and Seventh street and Lexington

The Olympic club, of Birmingham, England, is a good thing. It has offered $15.000 for a fight between Fitzsimmons and Mitchell. Mitchell makes the bait more tempting to Fitz by offering to wager $10.on the result. This would be like find-ing money for the Australian, provided Mitchell has not received some assur-ance that he can't lose.
