Some Spirited Contests Waged in the School Room of the Baptist Sunday School.

The Bellevue Baptist Sunday school last night. The whole programme of hundred persons. One noticeable feais easily discernible that the Welsh custom of keeping up the song spirit is not on the wane. Donations were received from many prominent individuals and business houses.

Henry P. Davies was the adjudicator of the musical contests and Professor D. D. Stone capably judged the recitational numbers. Edward James (forwerth Ddu) gave judgment upon poems and impromptu speech, and Mrs. D. B. Thomas acted as official accompanist.

The first number called was the reci-tation "Smack in School," open to boys under 15 years. Wilfred Davis and Roy Rogers were the two contestants and Roy Rogers was awarded the first prize value $1; second prize to Wilfred Davis, value 50 cents. The bass solo contest was entered by David Jenkins, William T. Hughes, Hugh Williams, Thomas named divided the prize equally, value Three young misses, Miss Beatrice Morgan, Miss Lizzle Lewis and Miss Sarah Lewis, all under 12 years of age, entered the solo contest "Myfi sy'n Magu'r Baban." The prize, value $1, was carried off by Miss Lizzle Lewis. The spelling contest for children under least for the juniors. The contest conthem off-hand and was entered by five girls and one boy, The boy, Johnnie

The sixth number, the impromptu speech to be given in Welsh or English, was a mirth-exciting number. The three contestants were called upon to discourse upon the misty subject of "Clouds." They did in a cloudy way, seemingly entering more into the funny aspect of the thing with zest to the audience's extreme delight. Deniel Evand Rev. D. C. Edwards, Wilkes-ans, of Taylor, succeeded in capturing the prize of $1. The other two contests.

to be the singer's own. The rendition of the soprano solo, "The Bells of Aberdyfi," brought out one contestant, Miss Naomi Hughes. Miss Hughes was complimented by the adjudicator upon her true rendering of this really beautiful solo. Prize was $2.

The main contest of the evening came with the calling of the double quartette to sing Pinsuti's "Good Night, Good Night, Beloved." The contest was entered by two quartettes. The Mozart double quartette, of Hyde Park, consisting of the Misses Mary Ann Jones, Naomi Hughes, Barbara Lewis, Lizzie May Howells, Mrs. Isaac Davis, Mrs. Levi Williams, Mrs. William Williams, Charles Richards, William Evans, William T.
