EXTORTION IS CHARGED.

J. J. Timlin, of Fifteenth Street, Arrested Last Evening at the Instance of Mrs. William Edington.

Last evening J. J. Timlin, of Fifteenth street, was charged before Alderman Blair by Mrs. William Edington, of South Hyde Park avenue, with extortion and false pretenses. It seems that the International Fraternal Alliance, having from Baltimore, once did business in the insurance field in this state, but the company lost its standing in March of 1896 according to the extortions of the state insurance law.

This fact, it seems, did not deter Timlin from writing out a policy on the life of Mrs. Susanna Reese, mother of Mrs. Edington. This policy was dated May 25, 1896, and upon it Mrs. Edington had paid seven monthly premiums, for which she had Mr. Timlin's receipt. Hearing some time ago that the company was not safe, Mrs. Edington wrote the home office and was answered to the effect that the company was not and had not been represented by these agents and she was referred to P. J. Vetter for further information. Her discoveries led her to demand a refunding of the paid out premiums, amounting to $28.08, and Timlin returned her $20, but then demanded some of it back, claiming that he had not received all that was due on his receipts.

His reason for this peculiar state of affairs was that Lewis P. Williams had agreed upon some unknown condition to advance a part of the premium each time and that Timlin should give Mrs. Edington a receipt in full, though only receiving one-half from her.

The alderman held the defendant in the sum of $500 bail, and he, failing to secure the amount, was committed late in the evening to the county jail.

CLUB PRACTICALLY DISBANDED.

Twenty Members of the West Side Wheelmen Withdraw.

The West Side wheelmen have practically disbanded. At a meeting Tuesday night twenty of the fifty-six members whose names are on the roll south of their resignations and by a majority vote the resignations were accepted.

The split is due to lack of personal harmony among the members. The club was composed of young men of several degrees and stations and various social circles were represented. To this is attributed the break-up. A petition has been in circulation for the past two weeks for the organization of a new club and the twenty members who resigned signed the petition.

As the club now stands there are not enough active members in it to keep the organization alive.

MISS WATKINS HONORED.

Many friends of Miss Mattie Watkins tendered her a very pleasant surprise at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Watkins, of South Main avenue, Bellevue, Tuesday evening. It was in the nature of an anniversary celebration of her birthday. After the guests had enjoyed the pleasant diversions usual on such an occasion, the Rev. S. P. Matthews was chosen to present Miss Watkins with a beautiful quartered oak parlor stand and a maple wood easy rocker. These gifts were a testimonial of her worth and regard in which the young lady is held. The words of presentation were fittingly spoken by the Rev. Matthews and were responded to in acceptance by the almost overwhelmed recipient, Miss Watkins is the teacher of the infant department of the Scranton Street Baptist Sunday school. Those who gathered at her home were: Rev. S. P. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. George Watkins, sr., Mr. and Mrs. George Watkins, jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Marsh, Dr. and Mrs. B. G. MR. JONES WAS NOT JOKING.

Two Scranton Young People Quietly Married in Binghamton.

Llewellyn Jones, of Landis street, who has charge of one of the departments of Powell's music store and who is a pianist of some note, had been telling his friends during the past couple of weeks that he was going to be married on the 14th inst., but as he told it in a half-joking kind of way and as no one saw him making any of the preparations that usually precede a wedding they took it that he was merely speaking talk.

Yesterday, however, they learned that he was telling the whole truth. Whether or not he had been joking he alone possibly knows, but that as it may, he was about among his friends and relatives introducing his erstwhile sweetheart, Miss Myrtle Hardy as Mrs. Jones, and she proudly acknowledged the introduction in every instance.

It developed during the day that they had quietly taken a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train for Binghamton Wednesday afternoon and after having Rev. Mr. Salomon make them man and wife, returned to this city. They are making their home with the mother of the bride, Mrs. Lizette Hardy, of 242 Penn avenue.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Both are positive in their identification of Kane, with whom old man Devine had a hand-to-hand struggle and Mrs. Devine is sure that McGowan is the man who ran away after the scuffle with Kane's team. It was also shown that Kane and McGowan were together that night and that they inquired for each other at different places about town.

McGowan's defense was an alibi. He tried to show by a number of witnesses that he was at a restaurant on South Main street from 1 o'clock until 3.30 o'clock a. m. Kane skipped out day before yesterday, leaving his bondsman to settle for his non-appearance.

Timothy McDonough and John Dalton, of Austin Heights, were tried for the burglary of the clothing store of John S. Weible, at Taylor, on the night of Dec. 4 last, when about $100 worth of clothing was made away with. The only evidence against McDonough was that a coat and vest that a witness testified was once worn by the defendant were found with some of the stolen goods that had been dropped by the waylaid.

The evidence against Dalton was simply that he was seen with a pair of pants which Mr. Weible identified as part of the booty. Judge Edwards took the McDonough case away from the jury and practically told the jury that the evidence against Dalton would not warrant conviction. Attorneys Nathan Vidaver and Evan Thomas, of Wilkes-Barre, appeared for the defense.

After the select council meeting last night the Democrats of that body adjourned to Chief Hickey's office to caucus. The purpose of the getting together was to assist Mayor Bailey in selecting a successor to Street Commissioner Kinsley. When it was seen that almost every man present had a different candidate to suggest—either themselves or some friend—it was decided to get the mayor's view before any further action was taken and Messrs. Clarke, Frable and McDonough were constituted a committee for this purpose.

Among the candidates who were put up for consideration were ex-Sheriff John J. Fahey, ex-County Surveyor A. B. Dunning, ex-County Auditor Stephen S. Sprague, School Councilman James J. Manley and M. J. Burns; Common Councilman J. F. Regan and ex-candidate for chief of police, Joseph J. Taylor.
