HIS FAREWELL SERMON.

Rev. W. S. Jones Speaks for the Last Time to the Congregation of the First Welsh Baptist Church.

The First Welsh Baptist church was crowded to the doors last evening by those desirous to hear the last sermon to be delivered by the Rev. W. S. Jones as pastor of that church. The words uttered by the pastor were full of feeling and indicated his deep regret at parting with the members of the congregation. He reviewed his four and a half years' connection with the church and said he hoped his work had not been fruitless. His sermon is given in the main below:

My dear Christian friends—Over four and a half years ago we met together in this house for the first time to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ and you to obtain what enlightenment and inspiration for better and godlier living as my manner of preaching was calculated to impart. The connection then formed between us, which has remained up to the present, if I am not greatly mistaken, a happy one to both parties, is about to be broken; my opportunity to teach you the truth of the Gospel and you to learn from me, ceased with this service. At this close of a pastorate in which he has spent a number of years there can be nothing more natural for a minister to do than to review his work to call to mind what he sought to achieve, and to think over, even though he cannot estimate accurately, the actual results of his labors.

These latter—the emphases—are beyond our power even to approximately compute.

It comes me and you just at this time to ask ourselves what these four and a half years have done for us; what new light we have received, what new amount of spiritual power we have gained, whether or not we are better, nobler, holier characters now than when this pastorate began.

One of our first talks in this neighborhood was concerned with a question put by our Lord to the disciples of His Son: "What think ye of Christ?" They were expecting the arrival in Palestine of the Savior promised by God through Moses and the Prophets, and the Master's question was calculated to elicit from them their conception of the kind of Savior they needed and God would send. Their answer was that to think of Christ as being the Son of David, an answer which revealed how grossly they had failed in their understanding of the prophets, and how mistaken they were as to the real need of humanity. What was really needed, according to their notion, and what they truly wanted, was a wise, strong, brave and daring Jewish King to make laws for the world and to be fearless in the enforcement of them. The Jew should be exalted, and the nations subdued and controlled by a power from without, whose might would be recognized and feared throughout the world. It has not struck them that the great need of man lay in the direction of the renewal of character from within, and that nothing short of the life of God Himself lived forth by a human being—a veritable Son of God, Son of Man, pressing His way patiently through all the trying, tormenting, painful experience of common humanity "without sin"—was sufficient to inspire men with the life by which the removal of man was possible. "The Christ needs be the Son of David," said they. "The Christ, according to Scripture, needs be much more," said Jesus, "the Son of God."

Rev. Mr. Jones and the members of his family expect to leave the city Wednesday.

SATURDAY'S FUNERALS.

The last rites over the remains of William T. Morgan, of 147 South Filmore avenue, were read on Saturday afternoon at the residence. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. David Jones, of the First Welsh Congregational church, assisted by a choral party led by Evan Miles. The pastor spoke with much feeling, in enumerating the sterling qualities of the deceased; his manhood; his quiet, retiring mode of living; his attachment to his family and the respect borne him by all his friends. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. A large delegation from the Central Mine Accident Fund and the Knights of Pythias Hyde Park lodge, No. 306, were in attendance. The body was borne to Washburn street cemetery, where interment was made. The following acted as pall-bearers: David Reyon, John Howell, William G. Williams, James Ruane, Thomas and David Collins, of the Fund, and David Edwards, David Argus, Solomon Jones, William G. Powell, John H. Howell and Evan J. Williams, of the lodge.

The funeral services over the remains of Cora, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Davis, of Fourteenth street, were held Saturday afternoon at the residence. Rev. D. P. Jones, of the Tabernacle Congregational church, officiated, and interment was made in Washburn street cemetery.

Harry, a young son of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Jones, of 305 North Filmore avenue, was buried on Saturday in Washburn street cemetery. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Thomas Bell, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, assisted by a choral party led by Chorister Richard Phillips. The attendance was large and the floral offerings profuse.

The remains of Mrs. M. H. Moran were borne to Pittston Saturday morning, where interment was made in the Pittston Catholic cemetery. The funeral was attended by a large number of the relatives and immediate friends of the family.

WAITED MORE THAN A MINUTE.

Henry Burschell, constable of the Fifteenth ward, was given a warrant Saturday to arrest one William H. Thomas, of Hampton street, for beating his wife. Mr. Burschell decided to heed the lion in his den and forthwith called at the Thomas domicile and lo, the lion was home. Of course he would go with the constable and asked him "to wait just a minute until I get a coat." "All right," says Burschell, "I will do so much." Now it may be that William had to go to a tailor for the coat, at all events the constable has not seen him since.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Cousin Clopi was drunk and flourishing a revolver on Duck street last night, and threatened to annihilate anyone who would go near him. Officer Pace, after some difficulty, succeeded in arresting him and placed him in the lockup. A few minutes later Clopi was arrested for punching a hole in a man's face with an umbrella handle.

Morris Thomas, of Bellevue, and Thomas Heynon, of South Hyde Park avenue, will participate in the drama "A Nation Eelied," at the Academy of Music to-night. Both will have prominent parts.

The Rev. J. B. Sweet has gone to Binghamton on business in connection with his duties as secretary of the Wyoming conference. He will remain until Thursday.

Mrs. Robert Evans, of North Sumner avenue, is slowly recovering from a long illness.

On Thursday evening the ladies of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church will serve a supper in the church parlors from 6 to 8. Following the supper a reception will be tendered the pastor, Rev. J. B. Sweet and wife in honor of his return as pastor to the church.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lacey, of Forty Fort, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Robert Evans, of North Sumner avenue.

PROVIDENCE.

A large representation of the order of Knights of Malta, of this and surrounding towns, assembled in Ostrout's hall Saturday night on West Market street to witness and assist Sir Grand Recorder George H. Pierce, of Philadelphia, in instituting the recently formed commandery. The name given was Eastern Star. After all preliminary work had been gone through preparatory to the conferring of degrees upon the candidates for membership, fifty in all, Mr. Pierce acted as sir grand commander and selected the following officers to serve for the evening: Sir grand generalissimo, Thomas S. Daves; sir grand general, C. F. Robertson; sir grand prelate, Frank Beldin; sir grand recorder, D. E. Williams; sir grand senior warden, Frank W. Thornton; sir grand junior warden, W. H. Powell; sir grand standard bearer, Harry A. Hall; sir grand sword bearer, Herbert Lloyd; sir grand warder, E. N. Morgan; sir grand sentinel, David John; sir grand first guard, M. H. Hildeman; sir grand second guard, Harry Sexton.

The Knights of Malta degree was administered to the candidates by Sir C. Hall, of Electric City commandery, No. 17, and the black degree by Sir R. S. Gillingham, of the same commandery. The other degrees were accomplished by Sir Grand Recorder G. H. Pierce. After all formalities had been gone through the following officers were installed by Sir William Jones: Sir knight commander, J. H. Phillips; sir grand generalissimo, D. W. Edwards; sir grand general, W. E. Smith; sir prelate, Richard Rutland; sir recorder, J. L. Jones; sir assistant recorder, D. J. Edwards; sir treasurer, J. J. Henry; sir senior warden, David D. Davis; sir junior warden, David Travolta; sir standard bearer, E. J. Lewis; sir sword bearer, L. A. Jones; sir standard, H. Evans; sir sentinel, Alfred John; sir first guard, G. Edwards, and second guard, W. J. Edwards. The honors of past commander and organizer were awarded to David H. Reese and he was presented with a jewel in recognition of his services. Armit Thomas made the presentation speech. The commandery, though organized but a short time, has made rapid strides in the way of increasing its membership.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Andrews took place yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Jervis, on Wayne avenue. Services were conducted by the Rev. W. G. Watkins, pastor of the North Main Avenue Baptist church. A large number of friends attended the funeral. The deceased ceased to exist as a Christian. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The pall-bearers were: Thomas Williams, John Evans, Daniel Coleman, Stephen Van Wert, William Owens and John John. Burial was made in Washburn street cemetery.

Superintendent of Schools George Howell has secured the services of the following capable instructors: Deputy state Superintendent Henry A. Lock Haven, Pa.; and Professor C. B. Dorman, of this city.

This is the corrected list of instructors, many of the celebrities whom Superintendent Howell first secured having announced that they are unable to attend the institute.

The entertainment Tuesday night and the lecture Wednesday night will be free to the public generally.

SATURDAY'S SENTENCES.

The Penalties Imposed on Breakers of the Law.

John McGowan, the Carbondale degenerate who has been convicted of three felonies within five years, was called to receive his sentence for robbing the house of Mr. and Mrs. Devine, of Carbondale, and also beating the old people. Judge Edwards sentenced him to three years in the penitentiary and directed him to pay a fine of $100.

Howard White and Edward Mulhall, who held up George Smith on the highway in Scott township and robbed him, were sentenced by Judge Gunster. Mulhall was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and to spend thirty days in jail for stealing Patrick Higgins' hat. John Howley was sentenced by Judge Gunster to pay a fine of $10 and the costs of prosecution, upon a charge of larceny, to which he pleaded guilty in a second case against him he was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.

Henry Johnson was sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and spend thirty days in jail for stealing Patrick Higgins' hat. John Howley was sentenced by Judge Gunster to pay a fine of $10 and the costs of prosecution, upon a charge of larceny, to which he pleaded guilty in a second case against him he was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.

Frank Dambrosio was sentenced Saturday by Judge Archbald to ten years imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary. He was also directed to pay a fine of $100.

Dambrosio was convicted of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of Rocco Salvatore at Dunmore on November 13, 1896. The severity of the sentence was a surprise, although Judge Archbald's charge to the jury indicated that it had a very clearly defined opinion about Dambrosio's guilt. An application will be made for a new trial.

TEN YEARS FOR DAMBROSIO.

Sentence Imposed Upon the Slayer of Rocco Salvatore.

Frank Dambrosio was sentenced Saturday by Judge Archbald to ten years imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary. He was also directed to pay a fine of $100.

MURDER IN THE SECOND DEGREE.

That Was the Verdict Returned in the Polya Case Saturday.

Andrew Polya was on Saturday afternoon found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of George Shemo. The show which resulted in Shemo's death was inflicted with a grate shaker in Polya's house in Dunmore on October 10, 1896. Shemo died six days later in the Lackawanna hospital.

Polya will be sentenced today by Judge Archbald.

OBITUARY.

George S. Jessup, of Monroe, died suddenly Saturday night at his parents' home in that place. Heart disease was the immediate cause of death. He was a son of ex-Judge William H. Jessup, formerly of Susquehanna county but now a practicing attorney in this city. He complained early in the afternoon of not feeling well and lay down in his bedroom. Later he said he was better, but at 5:30 o'clock his mother found him dead. For many years he had at times been afflicted with rheumatism and this complaint is thought to have been the primary cause of his trouble. Mr. Jessup was admitted several years ago to practice at the Susquehanna county bar and has always resided in Monroe, of late years managing his father's legal and other interests there. He was the first lieutenant of Company G of the Thirtieth regiment, having advanced from the second lieutenantancy to which he was commissioned a few years ago when the company was organized. He was the younger of two sons and one of five living children of ex-Judge and Mrs. Jessup. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at the arrival of the early afternoon train from Scranton.

Mrs. John Tansley, of Jessup, died at her home yesterday at 12 o'clock, aged 83 years. She was born at Cleveland, Yorkshire, England, and came to this country about thirty years ago and resided at Scranton, and remained there for two years, after which she moved to Jessup and remained there until the time of her death. She was a lady of a kind and loving disposition and one that was always found ready to render charitable deeds and was held in high esteem in the community where she lived. A husband and six children are left to mourn her loss. William, who is in Africa, a soldier in the British army, and five are at home, as follows: Harry, Alfred, Robert, Jennie and Maggie, the youngest, who is 11 years of age. The funeral will be held from her late residence on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. and the remains will be conveyed to the Methodist Episcopal church at Peckville, where the services will be conducted by the Rev. S. C. Simpkins. Interment will be made in Prospect cemetery.

Edward D. Richardson, aged 71 years, a high esteemed resident of Hawley, died at his home at 12 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Richardson spent about forty years of his life in Hawley, during which time he has carried on an extensive mercantile business and has been successful in conducting a successful bottling establishment. For about three weeks he had been a sufferer from diabetes, which was the cause of his death. He is survived by his wife and four sons—John, William, Edward and Luke, of Hawley. Funeral will take place at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Philomena's church.

Anthony McHugh, of 1578 Luzerne street, died yesterday. The deceased gentleman came to the West Side from Ireland over twenty-four years ago and has resided here ever since. He was a man of many sterling qualities and was much respected for his uprightness and sterling manhood. He is survived by his daughters—Mrs. Thomas McHugh, Mrs. William Barrett, Mrs. John Reap, Mrs. Thomas Stone and Mrs. Michael McHugh. His only son, John, died a few days ago. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Such Kime, aged 75 years, died early Saturday morning at his home, 1210 Robinson street. He is survived by four sons: William H. Kime, 125 Robinson street. He is survived by four sons: William H. Kime, 125 Robinson street, and Theodore Wesley, A. S. John R. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock this evening at his son's home, on Robinson street, and the remains will be taken on Tuesday morning to Easton, Pa., for interment.

John, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Locker, of 1210 Hampton street, died Saturday at the parental home. The funeral will be at 2 p. m. today from the residence. Burial will be made in Washburn Street cemetery.

VERY DARING BURGLARY.

Duryea Was the Scene of It on Saturday Morning.

The most daring burglary recorded in this region of recent years took place at Duryea at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Henry Anderson, an engineer, whose home is the Stricken homestead on the back road, was the victim.

The family was asleep, when Mr. Anderson heard a terrific sound. He arose and saw four men battering in the outer door with a long fence rail. One man met Mr. Anderson at the door of the bedroom. His little daughter ran to her father's side in her night dress and the burglar threw her down and covered Anderson's head with it.

The burglar's companions had by this time entered the house, and a search for booty was begun. Anderson could not restrain himself, but his efforts were quitted when one of the rascals fired a revolver at his head, the ball just grazing the scalp, clipping off a part of the hair.

The burglars left with $10 and Mr. Anderson's $90 gold watch. They warned him to keep quiet or one of their number would be near at hand to blow his brains out.

Good Roads Meeting.

The Scranton board of trade and "Good Roads" meetings this evening will probably attract one of the largest audiences that has ever been in the new building. The board meeting will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and an effort will be made to have all business transacted by 8:30 o'clock, at which time President A. H. Dunning, of the Lackawanna county Good Roads league, will take the chair. The speaker will be General Roy Stone, and E. R. Harrison, of the national department of agriculture, J. H. Hamilton, of Center county, author of the Good Roads bill, now in the legislature. The meeting will be open to every one interested in the battle for better highways.

KEAG PLACED UNDER ARREST.

H. T. Trager, of This City, Says He Defrauded Him.

Lieutenant of Police John Davis went to Wilkes-Barre Saturday and arrested H. H. Keag, who is charged with embezzlement and false pretense by H. F. Trager, of this city. Keag entered bail before Alderman John H. Donovan, of the Fifth ward, Wilkes-Barre, in the sum of $1,000 to appear before Alderman George F. Kellow on April 27 to answer the two charges.

Mr. Trager avers that Keag represented himself to be an agent for the American Investment Trust company and Trager contracted with Keag for a loan of $300 and paid him $62 interest money in advance. The loan did not materialize and Trager became impatient. He communicated with the New York officials and found that Keag had made no returns to them. He then went before Alderman Kellow and swore out the warrant.

When Keag was arrested he said it was all a mistake and that he could explain to Trager. The bail was in the sum of $500 on each charge. M. C. Driestuch qualified.

THEY WERE AFTER HIM.

Crowley, with a Bag Under His Arm, Was Well Shadowed.

Patrick Crowley, with a bag under his arm, was sneaking along Lackawanna avenue Saturday morning. Patrolmen Day and Karins had observed Crowley coming out of the alley near the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western station so they followed him. Crowley crossed the bridge and went to King's second-hand store on West Lackawanna avenue. Here he offered for sale a kit of tools which he took from the bag. The officers arrested Crowley.

He admitted that he stole the tools from Muldoon's stone yard. Mayor Bailey held him in $500 bail.
