AN ACT DEFINING LIBEL IS PASSED

Committee Appointed to Investigate Child Insurance Scandal.

SCHEMES TO USE CONVICT LABOR

The Commission Recommends That Machinery Be Dispensed with in Prisons .- Smith Bill at the Head of the Calendar -- A Measure Introduced Prohibiting the Sale of Beer to the Spenkensics.

Harrisburg, April 22.-The senate this morning concurred in the house resolution providing for an investigation into the management of the Eastern and Western penitentiaries.

The president pro tem, appointed Messrs. Gobin, Hardenbergh and Durham members of the committee, on the part of the senate, to investigate the child's insurance bill scandal.

The act defining libel and its punishment was passed finally without a dissenting voice. The vote was 20 to 0 The commission appointed by the legislature of 1896 to ascertain the best methods of utilizing convict labor so as not to interfere with legitimate industries made its report to the senate

The commission recommends that machine labor shall be dispensed with in the prisons of Pennsylvania.

The joint military committee in formed the senate that it has completed arrangements to enable the legislature to attend the dedication of the Grant monument in New York.

The house will adjourn tomorrow morning until 3 o'clock Wednesday af-

The Smith bill regulating the distribution of the public school fund was at the head of the calendar for the day's session. A similar bill has passed the senate and on motion of Mr. Smith, of Bedford, consideration of the house bill was postponed so that the senate bill may be substituted. The Hamilton road bill passed second reading.

MARSHALL'S BEER BILL.

Mr. Marshall, of Allegheny, introduced a bill providing that brewers tally hurt. shall pay an annual license fee of $1,000 into the state treasury and that the license shall be issued by the state treasurer instead of the courts. The measure also prohibits the sale of beer, ale or porter by brewers to unlicensed houses and "speak easies."

Mr. Muchibronner, of Allegheny called up postponed house bill limiting the number of inmates of state benal institutions to be employed in the manufacture of goods and prohibiting the use of machinery in the manufacture of such goods. The bill was amended so as not to apply to the manufacturer of goods for the inmater of such institutions and then laid aside for second reading.

Mr. Gould, of Erie, called up postponed house bill to make a uniform poor system in the state outside of counties containing a population of more than 50,000. The purpose of the act is to abolish the practice in some counties of "farming out" their poer The temper of the house was against the measure, but it was so amended by the author to meet many of the objections. The bill in its present form does not apply to the poor districts until the following conditions have been complied with:

In all poor districts co-extensive with counties and governed and managed by directors of the poor elected as such when such poor directors of any county shall adopt a resolution expressia desire to come under the provision of the act and the resolution shall have been approved by a grand jury of the county and the president judge of the district and placed on file in the office of the clerk of the quarter sessions, after which the act shall apply to such poor district on and after Jan. 1 next ensuing.

In all counties where the county commissioners are ex-officio poor directors and as such have entire control and management of the relief and maintenance of the poor in such county poor districts only when the same shall have been recommended by two grand juries of the county and the president judge of the district, shall have approved of the recommendation and t has been placed on file in the office of the clerk of quarter sessions of the county after which the act shall apply to the poor district on and after January 1 next ensuing.

In counties where the poor directors are not co-extensive with the county or where the poor districts are managed and controlled in whole or in part by overseers of the poor the act shall become operative only when the overseers and voters of any such county shall have recommended it by petition and recommendation of one-half of the overseers of the county, the court of such county shall submit the question of coming under the provisions of the act to the voters. The election shall be held at any time as the poor directors shall direct under the provisions of the act of June, 1879, relating to poor districts and if a majority of the yotes shall be in favor of coming under the provisions of the act then it shall become operative at once. In all other counties and poor districts the act shall become operative only when local or special laws under which the poor districts in such counties are organized and managed are repealed.

TO REGULATE FISHING.

A bill was introduced by Mr. Stew art, of Philadelphia, regulating fishing in the Delaware river. The measure was drafted by the joint fish commissioners of New York, New Jersey. Pennsylvania and Delaware, with the understanding that it should be enacted by the legislatures of these four states before it should become operative. It does away with fish baskets and eel weirs, increases the sizes of the meshes of shad and herring seines and regulates the season for fishing.

The New Jersey legislature amended the bill and it was not reached in the New, York assembly. There is no chance of its being passed by the Pennsylvania leguslature, but it was presented as an evidence of good faith on the part of the Pennslyvania com-At 5.30 the house adjourned to meet

He was seated in his buggy, and before he had time to collect his thoughts two of the men in the party of six seized the bridle of the

One of the men drew a revolver and, cointing it at Sawyer's head, asked him for his money. He was a little slow about complying, when the other tramp took hold of him and pulled him from the buggy and knocked him down. He was then searched, and a gold watch, a revolver and $48 in money were taken. During the search he was being dragged into a clump of bushes and he thought the men intended to kill him, but after they had relieved him of his valuables he was escorted back to the buggy, told to jump in and drive off.

The man who held the revolver said o him, after he was seated in the "Say, don't you want a dime ouggy: to buy yourself a drink?" He then tossed him a 10-cent piece into the buggy, and, with the revolver still pointed towards his victim, the latter was told to drive on. During the robery Mr. Sawyer says that surrey drove past, in which were four men. He wanted to make an outcry, but was told by the tramps that if he so much as uttered a sigh his head would be blown off, and that they could easily make their escape. He drove at once to New Castle junction and informed the railroad men there of what had occurred. They went to the spot, saw the fire, but the tramps had departed.
