Ghastly Reminder of the Wyoming Massacre Is Preserved.

Wilkes-Barre, April 26.-A ghastly minder of the battle of Wyoming has found its way to the Historical society. Recently, says the Record, there was exposed to view by an excavation Scranton & Pitiston Trac. Co. ... nothing else than a skeleton found. The skull gives unmistakable evidence that it was that of one of the unfortunate ploneers who lost his life at the hands of the savages. On top of the head is a bullet hole and on one temple what appears to have been a tomahawk thrust, the blade having been The Avoca Dramatic company will driven with such force as to carry brain exposed. But these wounds are not the most striking feature. The cruel savage scalped his victim so savagely that his r Bates, John Whalen; Henry blade sunk into the skull at each of the two motions made by him in the horrid act. The two semi-circular cuts are plainly distinguished at the very spot where the Indians were accustomed to remove the scalp lock. They form a circle about three inches in di ameter. The grave was found in what was formerly a burying ground on the site of the village, but of which every trace vanished long years ago. It was the first graveyard in the valley so far

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, April 26.-There was not much animation to the stock market today, but the duliness was to be attributed to the fact that the exchange closes tomorrow on account of the Grant monument dedication, and dealers showed their usual disinclination to embark on extended ventures on the eve of a holiday. Prices advanced practically without interruption all day and the tone was strong on the belief that the war between Turkey and Greece is near its end. Prices of Americans advanced in London and London also bought some stocks on the local exchange. This all went to encourage buyers, and it is thought there would have been more of them had it not been for the impending holiday. The total

Had times been good and money plenty we would not have one pair of these expensive, real lace curtains on hand that we bought at the Bankrupt Stock of Kerr, Son & Co. But money is tight and imitations have the field, because they look well at a distance and cost little money. Well, the Spring Curtains, including Cluny, Brussels, and Point Laces, Orientals, Rennaissance, Marie Antoinette and other high class curtains have staid with us. We must sell them; we have no option in the matter, and for this week we will sell the highest grade of curtains that ever came to this city at common quality prices. It's a shame, but there's no help for it.
