BUILDING NOTES.

Work on the four small store rooms which the executors of the Handley estate are crecting at Wyoming avenue and Spruce street is well advanced. When completed the little shops will make quite a transformation on that

The Rice building on Wyoming avenue, adjoining the Dime bank, which was badly damaged by fire last win-ter, has been rebuilt. It is a handsome stone structure. Workmen are now engaged in fitting up the interior.

The improvements made by the Casey Brothers on their property at Wyoming and Lackawanna avenues, has greatly enhanced the appearance of that corner. The unsightly peanut cender's stand has disappeared, and a series of glass show windows now take up the entire Wyoming avenue side of the building.

Samter Brothers have added attract-Ive show windows to their building at Penn and Lackawanna avenues and changed the entrance from the centre of the Lackawanna avenue front to the corner. No firm in the city now has such advantages as the Samters for displaying goods.

The foundation walls for the Colliery Engineer building which will front on Wyoming avenue, are being laid.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆ DEMOCRATS CAUSE ANOTHER DELAY

Their Action Last Night with Regard to the Appropriation Ordinance.

WAS REFERRED TO A COMMITTEE

The Report Was a Favorable One and Reading .- Conflict Over the Calling of a Special Meeting -- Chairman Sanderson Has Appointed His Committees .. Henry T. Koehler Named as Inspector.

The Democrats of select council further delayed the passage of the long verdue appropriation ordinance last night by refusing to consent to a regular order of procedure. Mr. Chittenden, who was leading the Republican members in the debate, finally moved to adjourn and the motion prevailed after the ordinance had been passed ne reading.

Only a temporary delay is occasioned by the Democrats, however, as before the next meeting night, Thursday of next week, the Republicans can consider and have ready for immediate action at that meeting the matters they wished to bring about last night.

The ordinance came up in its regular order when were read the measures from the common branch, Following the adoption of Mr. Manley's motion to refer to a special committee to report forthwith, President Sanderson appointed as a committee Messrs. Chittenden, Ross, Thomas, Robinson and Manley.

Mr. Manley refused to retire with the mmittee after learning that Mr. Chittenden proposed offering some amendments not to be voted upon until after the ordinance had passed one reading and at a special meeting.

The committee was absent but a monent and returned with a favorable report. It was unanimously passed one reading on motion of Mr. Chitten-

MR. CHITTENDEN'S MOTION. Mr. Chittenden then offered a motion that the ordinance be referred to the ommittee, the committee to consider the proposed amendments and notify President Sanderson when they were ready to report, so that he migas imnediately call a special meeting. Mr. Manley and Mr. McCann debated have a definite time set for the special meeting, and Mr. Roche remarked that he had no doubt there was "another scheme afoot to make a deal for police appointments."

Mr. Chittenden explained that the mmittee would meet at once and lose no time in reporting. There would be a delay of but one night. There had en discovered some important flaws and omissions which would have to be attended to and there were several items that must be provided with anexactly what was needed, then would not ask for time to consider the amendments.

Mr. Chittenden's motion to refer to emmittee was then lost by a tie vote. Mr. Schroeder unwittingly voting "no" and thus having his name recorded with the Democrats. The vote was as follows: Ayes-Ross, Finn, Thomas, Williams,

Lansing, Sanderson-10, lev. McCann. Schroeder

Coyne, McAnurew-10. As soon as the result was announced Mr. Chittenden made a motion to adjourn. The motion prevailed by a vote of 11 to 9, Mr. Schroeder this time being recorded in the bosom of his own political family.

COMMITTEE'S ACTION.

The committee will informally consider the amendments just as though the ordinance had been referred in accordance with Mr. Chittenden's motion. Then at next week's meeting the Republican majority will refer the ordinance for immediate report and it will be passed second reading amended An adjournment will then be made to the following night to pass the meascial meeting will be called for Saturday night or early next week, in which case the same procedure will be followed. President Sanderson announced his 1897 committees early in the meeting. They include all but the estimates and auditing committees and are as fol

Ten of the chairmanships, the important committees, are given to Republicans and nine to Democrats. The selections are about the same as last year, the Democrats receiving a very liberal representation.

Straws show which way the wind blows and there was one last night which indicated that Henry T. Kochler is not to be appointed street commis sioner. He was nominated for the in-spectorship of the Mulberry street pavement by the mayor, but the nomination was referred to committee for reasons which appear in a further acconcerning the Mulberry street contract.

The mayor submitted a letter addressed to him by City Engineer Phillips in which the latter wrote that he would insist that the paving be performed by two gangs of workmen on separate portions of the thoroughfarand that two inspectors should be appointed on the work. This matter, as well as the nomination of Mr. Kochler, was referred to committee. Mayor Bailey's selection of Mr. Koehler as inspector is very nearly conclu-sive evidence that the ex-register-ofwills will not be appointed street commissioner.

The nomination of William Dougherty as inspector of the Penn avenue and New York street sewer contract was confirmed.

The resolutions directing the city engineer to prepare estimates for paving Providence road. North Main avenue and West Market street were concurred

Among the new measures introduce was the old select council ordinance providing for a sewer in the Eleventh ward on Wyoming avenue and Water avenue and Rirch, Beech, Maple and Elm streets. It was introduced by Mr. the Ordinance Passed on First Chittenden and was referred to committee. NEW RESOLUTIONS.

Among the new resolutions were the following: Directing the city engineer to prepare plans and estimates for walks on both sides of West Linden street from Ninth street to Main ave nue; directing the city engineer to prepare plans and estimates for sewers in Park place and in the northern sec tion of Providence along North Main avenue, each to be a separate system. About all the business now before the body was disposed of before adjournment.

PENN AVENUE CHURCH PARSONAGE Agreement with Reference to It Is Now in Dispute. Attorneys A. A. Vosburg, A. V. Hower and C. E. Olver, sitting as arbitrators, yesterday in court room No. 2 began the taking of testimony in the suit brought by Nathaniel Halstead to make operative the revisionary clause in the alleged, with Richard Morgan, of Plybrought by Nathaniel Halstead to make deed by which he conveyed, to the Penn Avenue Baptist church the Mifflin avenue parsonage. The deed provides that the church shall own the property as long as it is used for parsonage purposes, but if it should be used for propriations. If the old ordinance was any other purpose its ownership should revert to the grantor.

Last summer the trustees of the church while negotiating for the services of a new pastor, were impressed with the belief that a more desirable residence would have a tendency, to say the least, of making the Penn Avenue charge more inviting, and with this in mind consulted Mr. Halstead with a view of having him waive the reversionary clause, which concession he Durr, Chittenden, Robinson, Fellows, readily agreed to, it is alleged. A new Nays-Kearney, Clarke, Roche, Man-ey, McCann, Schroeder, Burns, Frable, avenue and Rev. Dr. Dixon soon after accepted the call to the church and was installed in the new parsonage. The interview with Mr. Halstead was had in June, and in September church trustees again called upon him to have him put the agreement in writing. This he declined to do, and a short time later instituted the suit to recover possession.

The property in question has been untenanted since the departure of Rev. Warren G. Partridge. This arms the defense with the secondary contention that no "other uses" have as yet been made of the old parsonage. Mr. Halstead was, and still is, a deaon of the church. The suit is virtualy an amicable action, the end in view eing an official decision of the dispute oncerning the parole agreement. The plaintiff is represented by W. J. Hand and Frank T. Okell. S. B. Price and J. W. Browning appear for the trustees of the church.

SONS OF VETERANS ENTERTAIN.

Reception and Campfire in Their Rooms Last Night.

Camp S, Sons of Veterans, gave a eception and camp-fire last evening to the eligible sons of union soldiers in their rooms over the First National bank. There was a large and enthuslastic attendance. F. W. Martin was chairman of the evening and opened the meeting with remarks. Then the programme was given. In included addresses by D. W. Phillips, A. B. Stevens and Alderman John T. Howe; songs by the Sons of Veterans quartette, songs by the Florida Students, banjo solos, George Carr; autoparp and guitar, Sherman and Hutter; recitations, Archie Jones; armonica selections, John Jones, guitar selections. Hartie Zintle.

The addresses of Messrs. Phillips, Stevens and Howe were full of spirit. Mr. Phillips took for his theme "The Hereic Period in American History. He named the revolution as that period and gave a very intelligent resume of the stirring events of those days, referring incider tally to the Turco-Greek

Mr. Stevens' talk was an eloquent appeal for attention to the old soldiers. The speech of Alderman John T. Howa was well received. WAGON LOAD OF CONSTABLES.

They Swoop Down On a Party of Fishermen and Bother Results.

City fishermen and county constables had a clash at Justins Monday and stables, Giles White, is under bail to answer for aggravated assault and battery.

It appears that the fishermen tres passed on private lands and wer swooped down upon by a wagon load of farmers who represented themselve as officers and proceeded to place the alleged trespassers under arrest, Headen resisted when they were load ing him into the wagon and this start ed a general conflict. Just what oc curred remains to be told in court, but this much can safely be stated-Header emerged from the melee with his head cut, bruised and bleeding and a conviction that the deed was done by Giles White and a hickory club.

When their case had been disposed or by Justice of the Peace Lawrence of Justus, the fishermen hastened home and after Headen had his injuries attended to, he went before Alderman Fidler and swore out a warrant for White's arrest. Constable Smith went to Justus, yesterday, and placed the accused under arrest. He waived a hearing and entered bail.
