FIGHT AMONG ARABS.

Participants at a Christening Batter Each Other with Clubs, Etc .-- Several Arrests Were Made,

While friends of an Arab family were celebrating a christening yesterday afterneon in the tenement house at Scranton and Seventh streets, a dispute arose among several of the men and much blood was shed. Missles of every description were brought into use and Lieutenant Williams and Patrolmen Lowry, Matthews, Dyer and John Thomas arrived great excitement pre-The residents in the vicinity imagined murder was being committed and created no end of excitement

The appearance of the officers had the effect of quelling the disturbance and eight of the belligerenus were placed under arrest, and together with four others were escorted to the West Side station house. Alderman Blair was apprised of the disturbance and arapprised of the disturbance and ar-ranged to give them a hearing. The talks to be given. "The Prodigal Child" prisoners gave their names as Joseph Solemon David, Sweid Solomon David, Noah Heider, John Tonaso, of Scranten; Simon Abraham, George Abra-ham, Samuel Simon and Casper George, of Wilkes Barre.

At the hearing it was learned that the four others arrested were not mixed up in the fight and they were discharged, Joseph Sciomon David was the "casiest mark" for the others to batter, and he received severe punishment. He was taken to the West Side hospital where he received medical at-tendance. An ugly gash was discovered over the left eye and he was otherwise bruised about the body. Matron Smith dressed the wound, and Joseph Solomon was returned to the alderman, where he paid a fine of $2.50 for his part of the trouble. Noah Heider was cut about the head, and the others were injured to some extent. The alderman fined Helder $4 for his fun and Sweld Solomon was taxed

The unfortunate visitors from Wilkes-Barre, together with John Tonaso, were fined $4 each. It is believed that several other besides the men arrested received injuries, as a large number of persons were mixed up in the Proportion of the Female Workers to the Laboring Class Increasing.

Commissioner Wright's Figures. Confined to a Comparison of the Extent of Employment and Wages in the Present Period With the Conditions Prevailing Some Years Ago. An Interesting Compilation.

The eleventh annual report of the department of labor, by Commissioner Wright, relates entirely to the work and wages of men, women and children. It shows that the proportion of women to the whole working class is increasing, while that of children is decreasing. The report was prepared in pursuance of a joint resolution of congress directing an investigation relative to the employment of men, men and children. This report is confined strictly to a comparison of the extent of employment and wages in 1895-96 or "present period" with the conditions which pertained some years (termed "former period") antedating the present period by at least ten Years.

The definite purposes of the investigation were to dtermine to what extent, if any, women were superseding men; to show the conjugal condition of the women who were employed; to ompare the relative efficiency of men and women, and finally to show the relative rates of wages received by each sex in each industry.

RELIABLE DATA SECURED. It was quite unnecessary to cover the whole country. That is, to collect information from all industrial estab-The attempt, therefore, was not made. The agents of the department, however, secured information from 1067 establishments of various kinds, located in thirty different states, and employing 143,367 persons, a number large enough to ensure that the data collected were thoroughly representative. The complete sought for, however, was obtained from only 931 establishments. These 931 establishments employed 64,560 persons in the former and 108,648 in the present period. Of this number, in the first period, 26,479 were males of 18 years of age or over as against 43,195 in the second; and 4.175 males under 18 years of age, as against 7.540 in the second. In the first period 27,163 were females 18 years of age or over, and 6,743 females under 18 years of age, as against 45,162 and 12,751 respectively in the present period. From these figures it is seen that male employes 18 years of age or over increased in the present period over the former period 63.1 per cent., while female employes of the same age period increased 66.3 per cent. Male employee under 18 years of age increased 80,6 per cent, while female employes under 18 years of age increased 89.1 per cent. As collateral information, an interestthe past three censuses concerning the summer employed in all occupations in the hand. ole number employed from 14 68 par ent. in 1870 to 17.22 per cent. in 1890, while males decreased in proportion from 85.32 per cent. in 1870 to 82.78 per

The report throws considerable addiional light upon the much-discussed question as to married women in industrial pursuits. For the present perod, out of an aggregate of 79,937 women, 79,921 or 88.7 per cent. were single; 8,775, or 8.5 per cent., married; 2,611, or 2.5 per cent., divorced, and 244, or three-tenths of one per cent., unknown. The last census figures on this point are also analyzed. Of the 3,914,571 females 10 years of age and over engaged in gainful pursuits in the United States in 1830, 69.84 per cent. were single or their conjugal condition unknown; 13.16 per cent, were married; 16.10 per cent, were widowed, and 90 per cent. were divorced.

A comparison of the census figures with those resulting from the investigation of the department can only be made with certain limitations, as the former relate to all females productively employed, while the latter relate chiefly to manufacturing establishments where women are employed to 2 large extent. In 436 of the establishments canvassed the agents secured data as to the relative efficiency of women and children and of men working at the same occupation. Of 782 instances in which men and women work at the same occupation and perform their work with the same degree of officiency, men receive greater pay in 595, or 76.1 per cent., of the instancer, and women received greater pay in 129 or 16.5 per cent., while in 58 instances, or 7.4 per cent., they receive the same pay for the same work. The men receive 50.1 per cent, greater pay than the women in the 595 instances in which they are given greater pay, while the women receive but 10.3 per cent. greater pay in the 129 instances in which they are paid higher wages.

Out of the 228 instances in which nen and children (persons under 12 years of age) work at the same occupation with a like degree of efficiency men receive greater pay in 182, or 79.8 per cent. of the instances, and children receive greater pay in 20 or 10.5 per cent., while in 22 instances, or 9.7 per cent., they receive greater pay in 24, or 10.5 per cent., formed with the same do gree of efficiency. The men receive 57.7 per cent greater pay than the children in 182 instances in which they are paid more, while the children receive but 8.6 per cent. greater pay in the 24 instances in which they are paid higher

WOMEN ARE RELIABLE.

The main reason given for the employment of women and girls is usually that they are better adapted for the work at which they are employed. Other reasons are that they are more reliable, more easily controlled, cheaper, more temperate, more easily procurable, neater, more rapid, more dustrious, less liable to strike, learn more rapidly, etc.

On the other hand, the reasons for for the employment of women to in-D. J. Lovering, the efficient clerk in very often women, who are better

A REMARKABLE DISCOVERA.

The Distinguished Professor's Unwelcome Increase of Knowledge. From the Washington Star.

One of Washington's scientific men found himself in an assemblage where there were a great many young people. He endeavored to rise-or, perhaps, to descend-to the occasion as gracefully as possible. Having been introduced to a number of young women he tried to make himself agreeable by explaining some of the latest information in ethnology, and he became s absorbed in his discourse that he did not notice until they were nearly all gone that youth with a nasal voice was wining his audience away from him with a funny song. He tried it again with archaeology as the theme A girl with a bano wrecked his ambitions. He thought he was making some headway by means of his remarks on paleontology when a man who took a rabbit out of a silk hat eternally squelched his pride.

"My dear," he said to his wife, on their way home, "I have been thinking it over, and I find that the evening has been far from wasted."

"I was very much afraid that you would feel differently about it." "No. I have made a very important and interesting discovery. The merest accidents sometimes lead to the most surprising revelations, and tonight I learned something which completely overturns an accepted theory." "Is it possible?"

"We have been led to believe that the chief of all forces is that attraction of gravity."

"Well," I have found out tonight that there are times when it can't hold a candle to the attraction of levity."
