COURSEN HAS DISAPPEARED.

He Was a Resident of This City Until Three Years Ago.

Harry E. Coursen, formerly a resident of this city, has created a sensation by disappearing Monday from Binghamton, where he has made his home for three years. Mr. Coursen was raised in the North End of this city and resided there until about five years ago when he married Miss May Davis, daughter of Mrs. Humphreys, of the West Side.

Mr. Coursen and his bride lived on the West Side for about two years after their marriage and then removed to Binghamton, where Mr. Coursen had ecepted a position in the drapery department of the large dry goods house d Hills, McLean & Haskins. Since hen Mr. and Mrs. Coursen have made their home in the Parlor City.

Before going to Binghamten Mr. oursen was employed in several of the large carpet stores of this city and was very popular among his acquaint-He was member of the Jackson Street Eaptist church of the West ide and of the Thirteenth regiment. The cause of his disappearance on Monday is not satisfactorily explained. He was in high favor with the firm by which he was employed and his home was exceptionally happy. Nothing nas been heard from him and the cause of his disappearance is a matetr of much speculation, Mrs. Coursen is still n Binghamton,

That all too infrequently acted trag-"King Lear," was intelligently Ladies' circle, No. 19, Grand Army of and artistically interpreted at the the Republic, requests all members to be Frothingham last evening. Lear has not what the latter day critics are pleased to term as heart ir ' st. It is exaggerated, unreal and of the range of human sympathy, but withal its exaggeration makes it impressive its unreality serves to make it the more marked and imposing, and its rise beyond the heights of human sympathy gives to it a sublimity without parallel in all the domain of the drama. The company which Interpreted "King Lear" last evening was in the main well fitted to its great task. Frederick Warde has served a dramatic apprenticeship, which is, in itself, a guarantee of histrionic polish. He has always been identified with the legitimate drama and this experience has given to him an earnestness of endeavor and a zelf praise which are possessed by but few living actors. The Shaffer, E. District the Required Length of Warneka, Ralph Watrous, Jacob Warg, Wallace Woodward, Deth Watrous, Thom Warg, Robert White, Leander Yeager. Time or Were Not of Legal Age.

The Democrats of Dunmore are doing their best to make a farce of the contest which is now in progress. Their bill of particulars filed a few days ago attacks every Republican vote in Dunmore save seven. The legality of all of the votes are disputed on the following grounds;

First-They had not paid taxes as required by law,
Second—They had not been born in the United States and had never been naturalized and were not therefore citizens of the United States at the time of said elec-

Third-They were not registered and had not made proper proof of their right to vote in accordance with the provisions of the act of Jan. 29, 1874. The persons casting the said ballots violated the provisions of the Baker Ballot law in that therefor, and it is hereby averred that none of said persons were under any such legal disability as warranted them under the provisions of the Baker Ballot law in having assistance in making up their ballots, but all of said persons had asdistance and disclosed to other persons how their ballots were marked in viola-

A number of the votes are also challenged for the following additional rea-

First-They had not resided within the election district where their votes were vall the legal period required by law to entitle them to vote in said district. Second-They were not of the age of 21 years at the time of said election.

MARCH TO THE ARMORY.

The Second battalion, Companies A 3, C and D, formed under the command of Major F. W. Stillwell and headed by the regiment drum corp, the march to the armory was begun, Company P left for their West ade nests, Com-pany H got aboard street cars that providentially were laying about, Compang G flew to Montrose on the "night line," and E company, of Honesdale, p. m. traveled homeward at 19 o'clock on a special car provided by the Eric and Wyoming company.

The route of the Second battallon vas up Lackawanna avenue in columns of fours, to Wyoming, where the fornation was in company front, to Linden street, to Adams avenue and the armory. The boys were too tired to make much noise. Only once, when the line passed under a banner on Lackawanna avenue advertising Company C's Lake Ariel excursion, were there any cheers. The drum corns played en route. At the armory the battalion dissersed, and the end was over, either the homeward or outward bound Quarters were abandoned in trips. New York city at 3 o'clock and the Ninth and Thirteenth regiments marched a distance of forty-five blocks to the Hoboken ferry. The Thirteenth's train, eleven cars in all, started at 4.15 o'clock and the run was made without any delays. Only one man, a member of Company H, was left behind. At Dover, N.
