YANKEE NATURE REVEALED. The Story That So Greatly Amused Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Ralph Waldo Emerson was once greatly amused with the following anecdote: A lady, deeply veiled, and dressed in mourning, was riding in a stage coach in Vermont, opposite to whom sat a small, sharp-featured, black-eyed woman, who began catechizing her thus: "Have you lost friends?"

"Yes, they were," "Was it your dear friends?" "Yes, they were," "How near?" "A husband and a brother."

"Where did they die?" "Down to Mobile." "What did they die with?" "Yellow fever," "Was they scarlatina?" "Yes, they were," "Did you get their chests?" "Yes, I did."

"I hope and trust they were," "Well, if you got their chests, and they were hopefully pious, you have great reason to be thankful."
