DOWN GOES SCRANTON.

Miners' Bunched Errors and the Bisons' Bunched Hits Gave the Latter a Deserved Victory.

The Bisons had but little better than a makeshift team to practice on yes-terday by reason of the injury received by Massey in Thursday's game. O'Brien played first and Meaney centerfield. The latter characterized his appearance by three errors in quick succession in the first inning which, with four hits and a few other things, gave the Bisons five runs and the game.

Scissors Fields put one over the cen-ter fence in the second inning with two ut and a runner on third and that clinched the game beyond a doubt. The contest wasn't permitted to end, howthe last inning which gave the visit- ning and then a streak of hitting ors opportunity to but in three uncarn-

From the second to the last inning Morse gave only two bits. But with this advantage the heavy hitting Miners were unable to get more than seven scattered hits off Gray or to take much advantage of his frequent bases on balls. Under these conditions the home team sustained a deserved defeat.

The game was not without its fea-Eagan fairly revelled in glory in the fourth inning on a miraculous catch with two out and a runner on third. Sullivan hit a line drive toward the fence that looked good for at least three bases but Peter caught it with one hand while on the run. minger made a one hand stop over third base of Beard's grounder with two on bases and two out and shot the ball over to Fields and retired the side

FIELDS' HOMER.

Fields' homer was made in the sec with two out and a runner of third. The ball went over centerfield fence with a rod of space to spart. It is the third time Fields has perforn ed the trick. His two other similar of fenses were made last summer.

O'Brien opened the game with a wall to first, but Bonner's strike-out and : double play retired the side. Th Hisons were more fortunate. Clymer out on a foul to Boyd, Grey made a third strike at a wild pitched ball and reached second. Gilboy and Wise singled to center and Meaney let each hit go through him. The ball that Wise hit bounded from Meaney's handandrolled beneath one of the poles which are permitted to ornament the bottom of the fence. Wise walked home and the ball is still missing. Meaney followed his first two errors maffing Field's fiy. An outfield fly, Suffivan's triple and Urquhart's single brought in the last three runs. Maguire made a wild assist which didn't prove costly and the nightmare ended in Clymer's retirement at first.

The eighth run for the Bisons was made in the third on O'Brien's muff of Beard's assist, Urquhart's single and Gray's force hit. In the fifth Buffalo banked another on a base on balls, Gray's life and a wild pitch. The distinguished themselves in their last time at bat. With two out and a runner on the circuit through Maguire's fumble, three runs were made on an outfield fly, two singles and a double.

SCRANTON'S RUNS.

Gray's wildness made all of Scranton's runs possible. In the third Boyd got a walk, but was forced by Morse who reached second on a passed ball and scored on O'Brien's single. O'Brien was forced by Bonner. Daly's double sent Bonner to third, but Gremminger's one-hand stop of Beard's grounder retired the side. The two Scranton runs in the sixth were developed from two bases on balls, a force hit and Maguire's threehaser with two out. In the ninth Boyd fanned and Morse and O'Brien singled. Bonner flew out to Fields. The bases filled on a walk to Daly and a run was forced in by a base on balls to Heard, and with the bases full again Eagan forced Beard

Amos Rusie, who is in the opinion of the players of the National league, the best pitcher who ever faced a batter, is a native of Indianapolis and did his first pitching for various amateur clubs of that city. His work was so good that Indianapolis signed him after he had pitched his first game. He remained with Indianapolis during the rest of the season of 1889, doing excellent boxwork.
