COMMON COUNCIL DID NOT CONCUR

Appropriation Ordinance Goes to Conference Committee.

ANOTHER DELAY IS THEREBY CAUSED

Instead of Rectifying the Difficulty. Which Was in Its Power, Common Council Necessitates Another Delay -- Partisanship to the Fore -- An Hour Spent in Explaining Who Was to Blame .- Nothing Definite as to When the Measure Will Become Operative.

As predicted it would, common counil in special session last night refused o concur in the amendments to the appropriation ordinance and sent the neasure to a conference committee.

Select council, which meets one week from tomorrow night, will, under the rule, appoint a similar sized committee and the two will get together to settle the disputed points. It is possible that the upper branch may hold a special session this week or early next week to appoint conferrees, but there is gain a possibility that they won't.

The Democratic common council, it is concluded, is responsible for this additional delay and there is no reason why the Republican selectmen should break their necks lightening the burden of the opposition. As a first step towards liberal concession and compre mise, which must be the watchwords of the conference, President Nealis selected as the conferrees from the lower branch five Democrats and he would have a difficult task to select five scrappier ones. They are James J. Grier, Morgan Sweeney, M. F. Giroy, . F. Noone and J. J. Flanaghan.

After the minutes of Mayor Balley's joint convention had been approved without protest, President Nealis declared the purpose of the meeting and directed Clerk Mahon to proceed with he reading the amendments.

While he was engaged in this task the Republican members, nine in number, quickly withdrew and retired to the committee room at the rear of the chamber. Shortly after their retirement President Nealis discovered that there was no quorum and ordered a recess of ten minutes. Before that time had expired the Republicans were back in their seats and the reading of the amendments was again proceeded with. When it had concluded President Nealls announced that the question before the house was on the passage of the amendments. A roll call was made and the motion to concur was defeated by a strict party vote, nine ayes to eleven nays. Mr. McGrail, Democrat. from the Twentieth, was the absent members.

MR. GRIER'S MOTION.

Mr. Grier forthwith moved to pro eed to the appointment of a conference ommittee of five. The Republicans voted a vociferous nay and demanded a roll call. President Nealis directed the clerk to proceed with the call of the roll and incidentally asked if "the gentleman from the Seventeenth, who made the call for the ayes and nays would explain the position of the minority. Mr. Keller was just waiting for the opportunity and he proceeded to explain in detail.

"We feel," said Mr. Keller, "that we should concur in those amendments. We are acting in a childish manner. I am opposed to many of those amendments made by the select council, but ather than hang up the city finance any longer I am satisfied to swallow them, good and bad as they are. At the most it is only a matter of a few hundred dollars. There is no sense in tleing up $390,000 and blocking the city's treasurer simply because a man up in the North End or over in Hyde Park or up in Petersburg wants a couple of hundred dollars and some other man doesn't want him to have bling. We should act the part of business men and treat this matter from business standpoint." Messrs, Noone, Gliroy and Flanaghan by personal criticisms and other enother Mr. Keller's logic, but he came back at them again along the same line, and left them nothing to a and upon, except their original poor excuse that they didn't propose to give

In to a select council. Mr. Oliver followed with an echo of Mr. Keller's sentiments. He said he was opposed to the associated charities bill and other items in the ordinance but he was willing and ready to swallow it as it was that the city's business might be no longer hindered. Mr. Keller said there was no assurance that the conference committee would ever agree on an ordinance or, if they did agree that it would be satisfactory to councils. Common council has it in its power now, he said, to settle the whole difficulty by passing the amended ordinance. MR. NOONE'S QUESTION.

Mr. Noone asked who was respon sible for the existing difficulty. "Common council," answered M:

There was a chorus of vehement denials and such ejaculations as "You are wrong, and you know it," but Mr. Keller didn't know that he was wrong by any means and preceeded to show that he was far from being wrong. "Wasn't it the common council that tore up the ordinance after it came from the estimates committees?" asked. "Has not the select council the same right to amend as we have?" Gifroy broke in at this juncture with the speculation: "Wonder i the honorable gentleman from the Fifteenth, who has been parading his honesty in the newspapers lately, will say it is right or just to take money from his neighboring ward and apply it to his own." Mr. Oliver promptly replied that he was not a party to the amendment, which took money from the Fourteenth and gave it to the Fifteenth. Further-ore he did not approve of it. There was a whole lot of further quibbling and speeches, but none of them succeeded in winning a single vote one way or the other. After everybody else had finished Captain Moir ctured himself and everybody else for the way councils are acting. "There are many families suffering through our d- nonsense," said the captain. The motion to appoint a conference mmittee was finally put and received thirteen votes; Messrs. Wenzel and Moir voting with the eleven Demo-

BURGLARS AT WORK.

They Broke Into the Ontario and Western Station at Providence.

Eurglars broke into the Ontario and Western station at Providence yesterday morning about 2 o'clock. The discovery was made by Station Agent Reichard, who upon going into the store room yesterday morning found articles strewn over the floor. Upon further investigation he found that the burglars gained admittance to the place by breaking a window.

The articles stolen were some gents' furnishing goods consigned to Stephen Chappell. The amount of plunder taken will in all probability reach $100. It is supposed that they took a north erly direction as a bat was found on the trestling north of the station. The company's detectives are working on This station was broken in-

The bride was beautifully attired and was attend by Mrs. R. G. Norton, R. G. Norton was the groomsman. The nuptial knot was tied in the parlor by the weak attempts at refutation tried to bride's father, assisted by his brother, Rev. J. H. Race, of Binghamton, N. Y. Only the immediate friends of the bride and groom were present. Among them were the bride's brother, William Race, and wife, of Geneva, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Dayton were presented with handsome and costly gifts by Mr. and Mrs. Erward Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Norton, Rev. and Mrs. John Race, of Binghamton; Misses Marie Goddard and Ida Dickson and Will Race. The customary wedding festivities and tour being dispensed with, the newly married couple will immediatel commence housekeeping in their handsomely furnished home in Brooklyn, where they will be at home to their friends after June 16.

STATIONS UNITED.

The Niles and Youngstown stations were united by the conference and placed under the one pastorate and $150 was appropriated to Rev. W. J. Richards, the newly stationed pastor. In connection with the stationing of Rev. W. T. Williams, at Wilkes-Burra second, there arose some difficulty. An attempt was made to appropriate $200 to this station from the missionary redemption fund, but it failed. Then it was moved that the pastor's house ren be paid. This also fell by the wayside and the culmination of the whole affair was that Rev. Mr. Richards goes as pastor under the present existing conditions.

The afternoon session opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. T. Cooke. The confirmation of the stationing committee's report was taken up and with a few changes on the report was confirmed as printed above. A claim for money paid out by Rev M. Harvey was sent in by Mr. Harvey but the motion to pay the claim was This presentation and disposal this claim excited considerable dircus sion. It was supposed that this claim had been settled at a previous conference meeting, and the bringing of i into this conference tried the president in his endeavors to prevent a clash by the personal remarks sometimes made.

The special committee appointed to ubmit some plan of settlement of laims held against the defunct book oncern, reported and their report was received and adopted. Rev. T. M. Bateman was appointed a committee on resolutions of thanks.

DISTRICT MEETINGS. The next item of business was the hoice of place and time of the first district meeting. This was decided upon as follows: Schuylkill district, at Mt. Carmel on July 12; Wyoming district, at Nanticoke, same date: Pittsburg district, Youngstown, O., same The following secretaries for each district were selected: Schuvlkill district, Rev. S. T. Nicholls, Girardsville; Pittsburg district, Rev. George Ball, Westmoreland City; Wyoming district, Rev. R. W. Wilson, Nanticake. Rev. Charles Presser was re-elected as missionary secretary and in addition he was given the office of traveling missionary agent. He was instructed to visit as many stations as possible. Rev. W. H. Acornly was re-elected ook agent. It was decided that assistant missionary agents should be appointed in each district. The follow ing were chosen: Schuylkill, Rev. George Lees; Pittsburg, Rev. T. M. Bateman; Wyoming, Rev. R. W. Wilson. Rev. H. G. Russell was chosen as treasurer and secretary of the general conference, and Rev. D. Savage as secretary and treasurer of the contingent fund committee. As treasurer of the redemption fund, Rev. W. H. Holder, vas chosen.

A rising vote was taken in apprecia tion of the valuable services readered by Rev. C. Prosser and Rev. W. H. Acornly in their offices as missionary secretary and conference book agent, respectively.

EVENING SESSION.

Object of the New Locomotives Dickson Company Is Building.

The Dickson Manufacturing company report considerable improvement n their business. The Penn avenue shops have been running full time, and with a practically full complement of men for a long time. The boller shop has been kept exceedingly busy. They have been making special efforts to build up their locomotive trade, and with this end in view some extensive improvements are going on in this department. The foundations are now in for one of the largest and best equipped boiler shops in the country.

Having recognized the fact that in ocomotive practice high steam pressure is being required they are putting in a 12-inch gap riveter, very power bending rolls, and boiler shell drilling machinery. In the machine shop of this department, they are arranging to place some very heavy tools. Having aiready equipped their forge in the best possible manner, they are now prepared to build conomically the very heaviest class of locomotives.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway placed an order with them last week for eight 10-wheel passenger engines, having cylinders 194x28 with 6-72-inch driving wheels. These en-gines are designed for their transontinental passenger service, which they expect to reduce the time twelve hours between Chicago and California. These locomotives should prove a very good edvertisement for Dickson engines, and lead to a large
