NEW PASTOR INSTALLED.

Rev. Lorenzo R. Foster Is Now in Charge of the Summer Avenue Presbyterian Church—Impressive Services.

It is now Rev. Lorenzo R. Foster, pastor of the Summer Avenue Presbyterian church. The pastor of this church was impressively installed in his first pastorate last evening in the presence of a large part of the congregation.

Rev. P. H. Brooks, of Wilkes-Barre, was presiding bishop. Rev. Dr. C. E. Robinson, of the Second Presbyterian church, was the first speaker, and he preached a short sermon of instructions and kindly advice to the church and its pastor to be. In the course of his remarks he dwelt upon the attitude to be taken by pastor and church, the spirit of love which should permeate and govern their every action, the praying for the continual presence of God and His Holy Spirit.

He urged upon both the necessity of a desire to spread the cause of Christ by following out Christ's teaching through the medium of missionary effort. "Above all," said Dr. Robinson, in conclusion, "the power of the church is embodied in a strong and natural growth along all lines."

Presiding Bishop Rev. P. H. Brooks pronounced the required constitutional question to Rev. L. R. Foster and to the church body. These were satisfactorily answered in each instance. Rev. J. P. Moffatt gave the required charge to Rev. Mr. Foster. He chose as his text the passage, "Ye are witnesses of these things."—Luke xxiv, 48.

Rev. Mr. Moffatt was moderator. He drew out the service to the Apostle Luke and compared the work of the pastor to the work of the apostle. He felt that all the mission of the pastor was in the natural and direct succession of apostolic succession. Two positive requisites were necessary, viz., "To know, and to tell."

Rev. S. C. Logan, D. D., then gave the charge to the church. Dr. Logan asked the church to first recognize the solemnity of the occasion, its significance and prophetic results. He showed how a proper co-operation between church and pastor would be beneficial. Their every action should be governed by the commands of God and His Son, through the influence of the Holy Ghost. Then, secondly, their conduct towards the pastor should not be one of criticism or questioning, but of quick assistance. Rather to correct any faults, than to enlarge upon them. Their spirit should be to help and encourage and thus increase the capacity of the pastor's influence in his chosen field.

At the close of Dr. Logan's charge Benjamin Morgan, a licentiate, was called upon to make the closing prayer after which Rev. L. R. Foster was declared duly installed and pronounced the benediction. The services were then closed by the greeting of the pastor by his church with the hand shake of fellowship.

THOMAS HAVARD INJURED.

Thomas L. Havard, who boards at 822 Eynon street, was badly injured by being struck with a wooden rail. He is employed as a miner in the Bellevue mine, and was engaged to lifting a loaded car onto the track when the rail he was using as a lever slipped and flying up struck him across the forehead. An ugly gash was inflicted, which required several stitches placed by Dr. J. J. Roberts, to close it. Mr. Havard will be incapacitated from work for some time.

CHURCH CHOIR ENTERTAINS.

Rendered a Fine Programme in the Simpson M. E. Church.

The choir that renders such pleasant music at the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church at each Sabbath service entertained their friends at a dime social last evening. They had the assistance of several non-members of the choir, namely: Thomas Abrams, David Jenkins, Misses Margaret Jones and Aida Davis and Charles Sweet. The affair was an unqualified success and the enjoyment gained by those present. Following the entertainment refreshments were served.

The exercises as rendered were opened by a ruse spring song sung by the choir, followed by a solo, "Joy Glad Train," by Harry A. Wrigley. The Misses Minnie Weber and Stella Yohs played a pleasing piano duet, and a quartette consisting of Miss Ella Godshall, Mrs. Lewis, Louis Jones and William Whitman rendered a selection. The lady members of the choir then sang a chorus, "Lullaby," in a fine manner.

Following this Mrs. J. B. Sweet recited and Miss Ella Godshall sang a solo entitled "Burst Ye Apple Buds." Charles Sweet played a banjo solo, and Miss Margaret Jones sang a contralto solo in her usual pleasing manner. A male quartette consisting of Thomas Abrams, W. W. Jones, H. A. Wrigley and William Whitman sang "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," by request. The exercises ended with the glee "Sheep, Gentle Lady," rendered by the choir.

Professor W. W. Jones, chorister, acted as conductor and Walter Davies was accompanist.

FOUND DEAD IN THE MINE.

Martin Melvin was Eating His Lunch in the Meadow Brook Mine When His Call Came.

A tragic death was that of Martin Melvin, a well-known resident of Cedar avenue, South Side, who was found dead at 10:45 o'clock yesterday morning by a fellow-workman in Connell & Co.'s Meadow Brook mine. The body was discovered in an erect sitting position. One of Melvin's hands held a tin cup with water in it while the other grasped a piece of cracker, showing that death had come as he was eating his lunch.

The suddenness of the death is explained in a rupture of the main artery leading from the heart, which was disclosed by Coroner Longstreet in his post-mortem examination in the afternoon.

Melvin was an aged man, 72 years, and he was employed in the mine as a pump runner, which work he had done for the past twenty-three years. He went to work yesterday morning in apparently excellent health. Shortly before 11 o'clock John Jenkins, another workman passed the place in the mine where Melvin's post was, Jenkins, as usual, saluted him, but the customary answer was not given and Jenkins wondered what was the reason. He could see Melvin sitting on the bench, but curiously he did not move. Going over to the bench Jenkins found the aged man cold in death. The other employees were notified and the body was removed to the late home. At 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Coroner Longstreet appointed a jury to act on the case. The jurors were: John Marjetic, A. J. Wineback, Patrick Conboy, Patrick Killeoy, Joseph Moore and W. G. Moser. The verdict returned was in effect as stated—death from rupture of a blood vessel.

Mr. Melvin was well known on the South Side. He had lived in the Twentieth ward for twenty-five years and was born in the County Mayo, Ireland, and has worked at the Meadow Brook mine since it was purchased by the Connell company.

His wife and the following sons survive: Anthony Melvin, of Nebraska; James Melvin, foreman of the "William A." mine at Durysa; Patrick Melvin, engineer at "William A." colliery; John Melvin, engineer at the Meadow Brook mine; William Melvin, of Pittsburgh; Edward F. Melvin, of Cedar avenue; Joseph Melvin, bookkeeper for Casey & Kelley, and Miss Mary E. Melvin.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning. Mass will be celebrated at St. John's church at 6:30 o'clock a. m. and the remains will be taken on the 7:45 Delaware and Hudson train to Hazleton, where interment will be made.

DUNMORE.

The case against Street Car Conductor Daniels was amicably settled before Burgess Burschel last night. The ordinance governing the obstruction of public highways in Dunmore was read to him, after which he acknowledged that he had violated the law, but had done so unknowingly.

John R. Holiday, Jr., of Blooming Grove, Pa., is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Holiday, of Brook street.

A stray cow wandered into the yard in front of Dave Parfrey's house on Brook street and did considerable damage to his property which had been newly sowed. Mr. Parfrey kept the animal tied up until the owner appeared, and after paying all damages he was allowed to take the cow home.

The funeral of Michael Barrett was held yesterday morning from his late home on Clay avenue. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Paul's church after which the remains were conveyed to Archbold, where interment was made. The pall-bearers were: Patrick Reagan, John McCann, Patrick Coyne, Patrick McLane, Patrick Jordan and Michael Barrett. Division No. 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of which he had been an active member, attended the funeral in a body.

A new coat of paint is being placed upon the Laurel Hill Park hotel.

The Guild of St. Agnes, of St. Mark's church, is rehearsing for an entertainment which is to be given in the near future. The entertainment will consist of tableaux, recitations, vocal and instrumental music, etc. The proceeds from the entertainment will go toward the establishment of a library for Sunday school. Each person, upon the presentation of a book, will be admitted.

James A. Lansing, president, and A. C. Fuller, vice president and treasurer of the Scranton Stove works, are in Detroit, Mich., where they are attending the Stove Manufacturers' convention.

The Women's Christian Temperance union will meet in the Methodist Episcopal church this afternoon. All are welcome.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. David Pugh died yesterday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at her home on Putnam street, Providence, after an illness of two weeks' duration. The deceased was born in Dowling, South Wales in 1842 but came to this country from Merthyr about eight years ago. She lived in her home in Putnam street, and since her arrival in this country, and during that time has, by her loving disposition, made hosts of friends, all of whom will deeply mourn her death. She is survived by a husband and four children, all of whom reside in the North End, with the exception of a married daughter, who is at present living in the old country. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be conducted at the house by the Rev. W. F. Davis. Burial will be made in Hyde Park cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret Thomas died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William R. Jones, of 539 North Hyde Park avenue. The deceased was well on in years and has lived on the West Side for some time. The funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. and interment will be made in Washburn street cemetery.

Harry, the ten-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop, of North Main street, died on Tuesday after a brief illness. Death was due to bronchitis. The child was the youngest of their small family, and the afflicted parents are in deep sorrow because of their loss.

Arle, the 6-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman, of 902 Madison avenue, died yesterday morning. He had been ill four weeks from measles and pneumonia. The funeral tomorrow morning will be private.

Rev. W. B. Thomas, of Carbondale, an aged Methodist minister, retired from service, was called away yesterday at the advanced age of 73 years. He resided with his son, Professor A. P. Thomas. The funeral will be attended at the Methodist church on Saturday at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Sarah Higgins, a resident of Carbondale for thirty-eight years, died at her home yesterday after a short attack of pneumonia. The funeral will be held today at 3:30 at St. Rose church.

MRS. FRALEY WANTS HER DAUGHTER.

Yesterday She Obtained a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Mrs. Lydia Fraley yesterday, through Attorneys Watson & Zimmerman, secured a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Edwards as a preliminary step to securing the release of her daughter, Sophia Homewell, aged 12 years, from the House of the Good Shepherd. There will be a hearing in the case Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The writ is directed against Mrs. W. B. Duggan.

Mrs. Fraley created not a little excitement several months ago by telling a sensational story about the manner in which her daughter had been mysteriously kidnaped at night. It thereupon transpired that the girl was in the House of the Good Shepherd and it was asserted that Mrs. Fraley was not a fit person to have the care of the child. Mrs. Fraley came here from Wilkes-Barre some time ago.

AN UNIQUE COUNTRY.

It Had an Abundance of Everything, Even to Phonographs.

An English gentleman addicted to field sports arrived in Cork last autumn and engaged a car and driver to convey him to a village some miles from the city. On the way the traveler remarked: "Ought to be a good country for game, eh?" "Game is it, yer honor?" was the reply; "Shure, there's ashins av it." "Any snipe?" "Ay, is there? There's more snipe nor peelers, an' more peelers nor praties, an' that's saying a good deal." Plenty of pheasants and grouse, too, I suppose?" "Faith, there's no supposin' at all about it; there's millions av 'em—so there is."

Having proceeded some miles and not seeing a deer, the Englishman observed, sarcastically: "T'm, yes; plenty of small game, but I don't think there are any phonographs in these parts." "Arrah! don't be talkin'; shure, after a bit av a frost the whole country side an' more 'speeshly the ploughed lan' does be swarmin' wid 'em."
