MCGRAW TAKEN BACK.

His Bondsman Comes from McKeesport to Get Him. G. W. McGraw, captured here by the local police Friday, was taken back to McKeesport Saturday afternoon by his bondsman, John McKeown, who it was brought about his arrest. McGraw's crime is that of shooting through the window of an engine cab at an engineer with whom he had some trouble. No one saw the shot fired, but as McGraw was found in the vicinity immediately after the shooting he was arrested and charged with crime. He gave bail, but before his trial came off, skipped out. But for this added evidence of guilt, it is thought by Mr. McKeown, McGraw would have escaped, as the commonwealth had a very weak case against him. McGraw comes from one of the best families in Pittsburgh and is said to have gone through a good sized fortune.

DELEGATES HAVE RETURNED.

Elated Over Securing the Sessions of the Grand Castle for Scranton. Delegates Henry Geis, Thomas Saville, Henry Kunz, James L. Quick and George M. Okell, representing the Scranton caucuses Nos. 358, 375, 398, 453 and 216, Knights of the Golden Eagle, in the grand castle session held at Harrisburg last week, arrived home Saturday night happy and elated over the fact of the grand castle being secured to meet here in 1898. They state that the credit for securing the grand castle was not due to the efforts of their efforts, but to the efforts of the representatives, who attended last year and laid the foundations there, that made it an easy victory for the representatives this year.

IT STANDS FOR THE GOLDEN RULE

Rev. J. C. Hogan Tells What the Prohibition Church Will Try to Do.

IS OPPOSED TO THE RULE OF GOLD

Under Existing Conditions, He Says, the Party Cry Rises Loud Above Public Needs, Politicians Are Substituted for Statesmen and Legislation Is Controlled by the Dollars of Corruptionists—The Demands of the Patriot for Reform Are Not Heard.

Rev. J. C. Hogan, who left the Methodist Episcopal church because, he claims, of its attitude on the Prohibition question, was too broad for his ideas, preached yesterday afternoon in Fuller's hall to the prospective members of the new Prohibition church, which will be established in this city.

Mr. Hogan's remarks were, as usual, decidedly interesting and frequently stirred up encouraging responses from some in the audience. During his address Mr. Hogan read articles taken from newspapers and re-interpreted his statements. One of these clippings was intended to show the contrast between what Mr. Hogan called "abnormal wealth and abject poverty." One told of a party given by a wealthy personage in New York city in honor of a "pauvre" daughter at which all the select pug dogs of the neighborhood, attired in fancy things, jewelry, coats of arms, etc., attended.

REV. J. C. HOGAN.

On Tuesday an important and unique convention will be held in Wilkes-Barre. It is the sixth annual meeting of the delegates representing 264 assemblies of the National Slavonic society, of which P. T. Rovanek, of Pittsburgh, is president. He is a highly cultured gentleman, and it was through his work and influence that the Slavonians in this country were organized. He is editor of the official organ of the society, and wields great influence among his countrymen.

WHAT MR. HOGAN SAID.

Under present religious, social and political conditions in this country we are making millions by the hundred and paupers by the millions. With room enough for all the inhabitants of the earth and the animals that roam the earth, we have more families without homes of their own than are to be found in Germany or France or England today. Yet England has 200 population to the square mile, and the United States a population of but eighteen to the square mile. In 1890 the farmers owned two-thirds of the total wealth of the nation. In 1897 they owned less than one-third. Today the legalized monopolists pay a better care for than the honest poor man's child, hundreds of thousands of children are no more than born into the world as damned into it and cursed out of it by conditions forced upon them. Millions of men, able and willing to work, are idle; millions of women forced to enter the ways of toil in order to keep body and soul together and millions of children compelled to work as hard as their fathers. It cannot be overproduction, for that would be to make plenty the cause of poverty, and the blessing of God the means of misery. No, it is not overproduction, but underconsumption and unequal distribution.

Notwithstanding this, Mr. Dunn has made sweeping reductions in price. If you want a good hat, at this season's style, it will pay you to attend Dunn's hat sale next week.

THING OF IMAGINATION.

These are some of the industrial and political conditions which now obtain in this country, and have grown up side by side with the multiplication of churches and the increase in ministers. These are some of the fruits of political sin and sinners, and that, too, notwithstanding 33 per cent of the total vote in this country represents church voters. So essentially Christian citizenship is largely old men, women and children by the scores may be seen at public dumping grounds striving to get 25 beef livers, lungs, pieces of meat and other refuse at a state of starvation. And in many of the great cities even this cannot be done.

EPWORTH LEAGUE EIGHT YEARS OLD

Methodist Churches Fittingly Commemorate the Anniversary.

DR. GIFFIN'S SPECIAL SERMON

The Subject of Character Reading Treated in a Manner Particularly Appropriate to Young People—"A Man Cannot Play Two Hands" Is the Expressive Way the Reverend Doctor Puts It.

Several of the Methodist Episcopal churches about the city yesterday held services commemorative of the organization of the Epworth league, eight years ago last Tuesday. Some of the churches listened to special sermons by the pastors while in others the Epworth league conducted the service.

IDEA IS FALSE.

The idea that a man has three characters—"what he exhibits, what he really is, and what he thinks he is"—is false. The first is a pretense and the last is a conceit. Character is the real self. "A man," said Dr. Giffin, "cannot—though the expression should not be used by a Methodist minister—play two hands." The builder is responsible for the character. It lies with you.

LECTURE ON FOOD.

Miss Parloa Gave Some Very Valuable Information Saturday Concerning Best Method of Preparing It.

Miss Parloa's lecture Saturday afternoon in the Young Men's Christian Association auditorium, was on the subject of "Food." Her audience was larger than at any previous lecture and much interest was shown. Miss Parloa illustrated her remarks with charts showing the skeleton of an ox and another of the muscles of the animal. These charts are the same as those in use at the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn. The lecturer explained the right way to cut a beef and under the head of carving she gave much interesting information which is not generally known.

ON MR. EVERHART'S DEATH.

Resolutions Were Adopted by the Vestry of St. Luke's Church. Concerning the death of James M. Everhart, who was a vestryman of St. Luke's church, resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the vestry of the church yesterday. The resolutions are as follows: Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in His wise providence to remove from our midst our friend and fellow-vestryman, James Marion Everhart; be it therefore, Resolved, That we hereby testify to our respect for his sterling character, his earnest, regular and cordial co-operation in the work of the parish, both by personal attendance upon the services and by the giving of his means to its support, and to his wise and able advice in the councils of the vestry; That the vestry realize that they, together with the community in general, have suffered a severe loss in the death of their associate, and would hereby express their sympathy with his afflicted family; That this vestry, as a body, attend the funeral services to be held in the church Tuesday afternoon, May 18th.
