DIAMOND DUST.

Sporting Editor of The Tribune:-Will you please inform me what constitutes an earned run? By answering this question you will enlighten a large number of patons of the game as well as myself.

Yours truly, E. S. Harrison, 515 Marion street.

Scranton, Pa., May 15. Some of the fans are a little puzzled over se scarcity of earned runs and the correct way to determine them. The rule of 1897, Sec. 9 (No. 59), admits of no misurlerstanding: it simply means that no runs rre carned off the pitching when not sole-y made by base hits. This is the rule: 'An earned run shall be scored every time AID OF BASE-HITS ONLY before ch es have been offered to retire the side. For example a batsman reaches first on a single and steals second or is advanced a base on an outfield fly and then scores on a hit. The run is not earned. The phrase before chances have been offered to retire the side" might be thus illustrated: The first two batsmen are put out. No. 3 reaches first on an error. Several runs are batted in. No one of them can be earned because No. 3 reached first on an error with two out and the side in the field missed a "chance to retire the side." President Young recently announced that scorers should use "common sense" in determining earned runs. So it is commor practice and quite correct to designate as earned a run made on a hit, a steal and a two-bagger, provided it is plain that the runner would have scored from first base on the two-base hit. An outfield fly which advances a runner a base is also ignored unless the run would have been made on the hitting which follows and without the aid of the outfield fly,-[Sporting Edtor.]

It is beyond question that Buck has two jewels in Malarkey and Lampe.—Syracuse Standard. He certainly has a "jewel" in Lampe, He's the individual who dropped his bat when he thought he had three strikes called on him in a game at Scranton, Discovering his error he picked up a broom and made a swipe at the ball as it came over the plate. The ball took the bark off Boyd's fingers. Umpire Kennedy allowed Lampe another chance at the ball. When Lezotte asked Lampe why he used the broom and en-dangered the lives of every living thing back of the plate the "jewel" answered:
"Why, it was the first thing I could lay my hands on." Lampe has tacks.

BIG INCREASE IN L. A. W. MEMBERSHIP

Keystone Division Now Numbers 14,323 But 5,918 Behind New York.

GOVERNOR HASTINGS HAS APPLIED

on the Sabbath.

He and His Private Secretary, L. E. Beitler, Now Ride the Wheel. League's Annual National Meet at Philadelphia Will Strengthen the Organization in This State -- Result of the Decision Against Race Meets

The Pennsylvania division, League of American Wheelmen, during the past week made the greatest increase in membership in its history. In the Bulletin of May 14 there was published the names of 719 applicants which were received the week ending the preceding Saturday. This brought the total mem bership up to 14,323, which is but 5,918 less than New York. Only a year ago Pennsylvania was a bad third in point of numbers, but with the progressive methods put in force by the state officials Massachusetts was passed, and steadily forging towards first place. At present Pennsylvania exceeds the membership of Massachusetts by 5,636, although the latter has a considerably larger membership than it had a year back, and at the present rate New York is bound to be overtaken and the coveted first position gained.

Among the recent applicants for membership in the League of American Wheelmen were Governor Hastings and his private secretary. Lewis E Beitler, whose names were sent in by J. W. Wright, local consul, and Hon. John Wanamaker, whose application was secured by J. A. S. Heath, local consul. Mr. Wright has since the first of the years secured 380 applications for membership, and Mr. Heath 628 applications. Many other members of the Pennsylvania division are also credited with large numbers of applications and it is owing to the great work which is being done by the officials in the state that the remarkable increase in membership has been secured. The Pennsylvania division gives its members more in return for the $1 per year paid in than does any other division, and as the membership in creases the proportionate cost is smaller and the benefits continue to grow.

C. Herbert Obreiter, esq., local consul and representative of the League of American Wheelmen at Lancaster, is organizing a local branch of the league at that place to strengthen the local municipal government in its efforts to secure improved street paving.

The fact that the League of American Wheelmen will hold its annual meet at Philadelphia this year should help to increase the membership in this state. The first week in August promises to be a gala occasion for wheelmen in every sense of the word, and this event will unquestionably be the greatest gathering of the kind on record. As the entertainment will be solely for members of the organization an early application for membership is desirable. To become enrolled it is necessary to have the indorsement of two members of the organization and to pay an initiation fee and one year's dues, amounting to $2.00. Full inforadvantages may be secured upon application to the secretary-treasurer.Pennsylvania division, 668 Bourse, Philadel

At the meeting of the National assembly of the League of American Wheelmen held last February the question which caused the greatest amount of discussion was that of allowing each state to use its own preference in the matter of giving race meets on Sunday under the league santtion. The propo sition was vigorously opposed by many Springfield will be here next Monday, of the more thinking members of the Springfield will be here next Monday.

Springfield will be here next Monday.

The begins assembly, prominent among the series of five games between Wilkestook the ground that even though the took the ground that even though the erly avail themselves of the privilege. the mere fact of the league officially sanctioning Sunday sports would have almost as bad a moral effect as though they did, and that the rejection of the proposed amendment would win for the organization the support of the best element in the country. The amendment was defeated and the disgruntled element on the Western coast at once started a rival organization to the league based on Sunday sports, which while it will probably amount to little is causing some trouble.

The wisdom of the course pursued by the Pennsylvanians was at once apparent, aside from any moral question involved, for numerous applications for membership were at once received from those who desired to show their endorsement of the league's action. Included is one lot of applications re-ceived a few days ago from A. D. Knapp, the local consul at Williams port, where nine ministers in that city, Men's Christian association, and the prominent citizens, all of whom are league to indicate their approval of an organization with the back-bone to carry out what they thought was right in the face of threats of secession from entire states.

Carrying children on bicycles is prohibited in Belgium.

The Irish Roads Improvement association has been organized in Dublin and started on its work.

Notwithstanding the wail of the English press, Americans keep exporting bicycles and parts, the export business growing each week.
