An excellently prepared paper show- | read a report of his work. In the abing the work of the Epworth league sence of the president, Hon. Alfred in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal Hand, who is abroad, J. L. Stelle, first church was read last Sunday evening by the president, Miss Rachel Jones, at M. Boies, secretary, being absent from the league anniversary service. The the city, S. G. Kerr will act as secrepaper was as follows:

The pian of work for the Epworth league represents a wheel, with each department as one of its spokes and the cabinet at the hub. If one spoke of a wheel is broken, the wheel is disfigured, so if one department refuses to work, the whole plan is marred, But I will at-tempt to show you that in our chapter at least, the wheel is always presentable and in good working order.

During the year spiritual meetings have been held every Sunday evening under the direction of the department of spirit-ual work. This committee select the lenders for the Sunday evening meet-ings and assign them their topics. The topics themselves are sent to us from the head office at Chicago. The commit-tee report every one as ready and will-ing to do their part, so that no diffi-culty in the way of selecting leaders oc-

Under the second department of ou work, mercy and help, comes the charit-able work, and while we do not let the whole responsibility of being good by doing good, rest on the members of this committee, still in order to have systematic giving, they stand at the head of all the benevolences connected with our society. One-tenth of all money which comes to us is given to this department to aid them in their work of caring for the poor and distressed. They have dur-ing the past six months made calls on eighteen sick persons, providing bouquets and potted plants for a number of them, have given away four quiits and made and given away a number of garments Four families have been furnished with provisions, who would otherwise have gone hungry.

But while we are attending to the spiritual side of our natures, we are mindful of the fact that we must all develop our God given mental powers, in order that we may more effectively per form our allegience to our Master. So we have a literary department, under whose guidance literary moetings are held every two weeks. At these meet-ings we have an average attendance of twenty-five members, all of whom are interested workers. We are at present studying two books from the Epworth Reading course, namely, "A Vision of Christ Through the Poets," "Torch-Bearers of Christendom," the study of which we find very profitable. Each one is expected to take some part, and here again we find that cheerfulness that characterizes every department of our work. Neither is the social instinct neglected. for in order to lend a hand in the true spirit, we must lend a friendly hand, we must cultivate friendliness or the social nature. Under the supervision of the de-partment of social work, a number of home socials, at the homes of our members, have been successfully conducted; a reception was given to the old folks, which proved so great a success that we are tempted to repeat it in the near future; another reception was given to new converts; and last month the animo-toscope exhibition given, which netted us about $50. Besides this department furnishes all flowers for the pulpit and I'm sure you will all agree with me in saying, "Well done" to this part of our

Our secretary and her special committee attends to all the correspondence, keeping us in touch at all times with the general work of the league outside of our own chapter. She also takes careful min-utes of all the business and special meetings, and attends to the enrollment of new members, etc. Our department of finance always shows an encouraging re-port. At present the report shows us that during the year, dating from July, '96, we have paid over to the church treasurer for the liquidation of the mortgage the sum of $97.92, and that we still have in our treasury $52.65, with which we are going to send two delegates to the international convention, to be held at Toronto, Canada, on July 15, '97, fully confident that our money will be thus

It is not strange that so many un scientific remedies do no permanent good when they disregard this close interdependence of the nerves and the organs of digestion and circulation, and attend to but one deranged part at the expense of all the rest.

The only possible way that a real lasting gain in strength and vitality can come is through purer blood, better nourished nerves and tissues, more refreshing sleep and an economy in the expenditures of nerve force. These are the objective points aimed satisfied.

The question was: "Resolved, that the commercial supremacy of England not likely to endure." The samors' debaters, who supported the negative were Charles Sweet, J. Donald Hull and George Orr. The victorious sorbs" was S. O. Dickinson, William H. Scranton and Leon Levy.

Livy S. Richards, editor of The Tri bune, President T. J. Jennings, and F. L. Wormser, of the school board, were the judges. In making the announcement of their decision Mr. Richard complimented both sides on the able manner in which they presented their arguments and said that the victory was awarded the sophomores because they covered the subject somewhat more systematically than the others.

Frincipal George W. Phillips presided over the debate. Superintendent of Schools George Howell and a number of the controllers and parents of the pupils were in attendance.

The speakers were interspersed with the pupils. Messrs, Stanton, Teal and furnished by five pieces of Law-Morse and Misses Summers, Lewis, rence's orchestra.
