MR. HARRIS, DETECTIVE.

He Made It Extremely Unpleasant for a Pickpocket He Caught Plying His Trade at the Circus.

There are two men who will not forget the circus for some time. One of them is David Harris, of North Garfield avenue, and the other a pickpocket. While Mr. Harris was taking in the sights of the side show a young woman touched him upon the shoulder and told him that a man had twice attempted to pull her skirt loose and as he (Mr. Harris) was the only one she knew near her "would he please watch the man."

Harris told her to step back to the place she had vacated and he would watch the fellow Carefully stealing up behind the rascal, he caught him just in the act of committing a third attempt Seizing his fellow with his left hand by the collar and straightening him up, Harris plunged his right hand into his face. Then followed a football scene in which the pickpocket was ball and the bystanders were players. In attempting to get away the football ran against Harris again and in striking him an upper cut, Harris broke the knuckle bone and the metacarpal bones of the little and third fingers.

The pickpocket was seen again in the evening asking Patrolman Saul on the west side for a place to sleep. He was offered a cell and cot, but did not seem to want that as he ran off down Jackson street and was last seen going up Lackawanna avenue without coat or hat.

In the excitement of the scrimmage, no one thought of handing the fellow over to an officer, but his injuries were enough to be a reminder of his Scranton visit. They consisted of a gash over the right eye, both eyes black, chin cut, lip split and several other minor injuries.

SERMON OF REV. JAMES HUGHES.

He Filled the Pulpit of the First Welsh Baptist Church.

Rev. James Hughes, the South African missionary, who is visiting his brother, John R. Hughes, occupied the pulpit of the First Welsh Baptist church yesterday. He took his text for the morning sermon from Mark 1:1 "The beginning of the Gospel of the Son of God." During his discourse he said in part:

Most of you, I presume, know that the word gospel means good news. Every man with a heart will say it is good, the best he has experienced in this world, he never experienced any so inspiring, enobling and elevating as the gospel. Every man with a heart will say it is new, every man with an understanding mind will say it is new—the newest thing in life. There is in our day a craving for novelty, a morbid tendency for new things. We have in the Bible a perennial newness. The gospel is the first and the last of its kind. The gospel is divided into sections, Mathew, Mark, Luke and John. We speak of all these sections as the Gospel. Each section has special characteristics. Mathew is the gospel of the King It is regal from first to last.

Luke the gospel of the man. Jesus in Luke is flesh of my flesh, blood of my blood; being human he knows all about us. In the 19th of Luke and tenth verse we find these words: "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." Son of Man, what a peculiar expression! Suppose some one of you were to go around the street of Scranton tomorrow and say "I am the Son of Man." You would conclude there was something wrong with such a person's head. Jesus was the Son of Man, not the son of Joseph, the carpenter of Nazareth, not the son of a Jew, but the Son of Man, the Son of the human family. He is the perfect blossom of the human family. Luke is the gospel of man.

The leading characteristic of the gospel of John is different from Mathew and Luke. It is not exactly the gospel of the King, or of man, but of the eternal genealogy of Jesus. In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." We have in Africa Sprigs of philosophers, who profess to know the age of the world. They search the rocks, etc., but no matter how far back they place the beginning, they have to come to the conclusion there was a beginning. Yes, there was a beginning, and Jesus was there then. Before the morning stars sang, before one angel was born, was He. "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was God."

Mark is not the gospel of the kingdom, or man, nor of the eternal genealogy, but of work. He came here to work. Some there are who think that work is a degradation. The workers are the true aristocracy of the world. It is difficult to get servants to work in Africa, it is becoming so in England, because they think it a degradation. A degradation to work! Jesus did not come into the world to be to the world an object lesson on the dignity of serving. He washed their feet, thereby giving an occular demonstration of the honor of serving.

The gospel commenced in the divine mind. It was then an imponderable something in His mind. It was not an afterthought to correct the mistakes of creation. No, but it was a foregone conclusion that the world was to be saved—to be redeemed by the Lord Jesus Christ. As the temple in Jerusalem was a casket to hold the Shekinah, the miraculous light or visible glory which was a symbol of the divine presence so was the body of Christ a casket in which was God. He was God manifest in the flesh."

The "Word?" What is the Word? What is the legitimate use of language. It should show what man is in his inward heart. If when you meet a person you should say "I am glad to see you," when in your heart you do not feel so, you make an improper use of language. The "Word" here is the true expression of God's heart. The Word was God.

He referred to the conversion of the soul, and eloquently described true conversion.

The water falling and surging as they fall over the rocks to the depth, never resting until they reached their native home in the ocean, the air escaping from a bottle where it had been confined for years, on ascending, were used as illustrations of the truly converted in their constantly moving on and ascending to their native home.

The truths of the gospel sustained us when our dear ones were taken away from us in death. They have gone home —gone back to God. He described the glorious welcome they would give to their loved ones into the land of bliss.

He asked the congregation: Have you this hope of the gospel, that can and will premeate your whole life, that will scatter the shadows and give the light of cheer?

FLAG POLE ERECTED.

The erection of a 30 foot flag pole and the flying therefrom of a beautiful silk flag was one of the incidents of Saturday's celebration. The pole was erected upon the lawn of John Hale of South Main avenue. The underlying purpose of Mr. Hale's action was to carry out a long cherished wish of his son Theodore, who was killed about a year ago while engaged at his duties as outside foreman at the Sloan mines. Theodore Hale had made nearly all the preparations for the event, but was prevented from carrying out his patriotic idea by his sudden death. So on Saturday as a sort of memoriam the flag was flung to the breeze by his father.

CANTATA THIS EVENING.

This evening at the Jackson Street Baptist church the young people of the church will produce a cantata entitled, "The School Festival." A great deal of care has been expended by the promoters of the affair, and a delightful entertainment is expected. Richard Nichols will be conductor, and the Misses Viola Evans and Norma Nicholls will act as accompanists. An orchestra will assist the choruses consisting of William N. Stanton, cornetist; Philip Thomas, flute; William Allen, violinist.

PERSONAL MENTION.

The condition of Ensign Wiseman continues to be serious. He is confined at his home on North Hyde Park avenue.

Many friends accompanied Mrs. Edwin Bowen and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Roberts, to the train early Saturday morning to witness their departure to New York city, from which city they sailed for Wales. The travellers expect to spend the summer in Wales.

Miss May Maxey, of Towanda, returned home on Saturday after an extended visit with West Side friends. During her visit here Miss Maxey made many friends. She is an accomplished musician.

The marriage of Austin F. Duffy, of Binghamton, N. Y., and Miss Mame L. Gallagher, of Jackson street, will take place tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's church.

Mrs. Evans of Plymouth has returned home after visiting with her daughter, Mrs. H. H. Bamforth.

Herbert and Harry Hall of Eynon street are visiting relatives at Milton, Pa. They made the trip on their bicycles.

Fred G. Peters and S. F. York, of the firm of Peters, York & Co., South Main avenue, spent Decoration day and yesterday at Lake Winola.

Mrs. Thomas Williams of Montana, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Lewis of Eynon street.

James Jopman of Inkerman is visiting West Side friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams of Lafayette street are visiting at Clark's Summit.

Mrs. John Diehl of Jackson street is visiting relatives in New Jersey.

Mrs. Coleman of Binghamton visited her sister, Mrs. Trumbower of Scranton street, during last week.

MINOR NEWS NOTES.

Memorial Day was observed by the pupils of intermediate A, of No. 19 school, on Friday afternoon. The rooms were all nicely decorated for the occasion and the scholars acquitted themselves with due credit. Many of the parents and friends of the pupils were in attendance, and heartily enjoyed the rendering of the excellent programme.

The remains of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Watkins, jr., of Bromley avenue were interred in Washburn street cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Short funeral services were held at the home before proceeding to the cemetery, which were attended only by immediate friends.

Special services were held on Saturday evening, and during Sunday at the Salvation Army barracks by Staff Captain Hunter, of Wilkes-Barre. He was assisted by the Gypsy Jingle band and the blind songster.

On Friday afternoon the pupils of Miss Mattie Watkins at public school No. 13 entertained their parents and friends. The occasion was the observance of Memorial Day, and a very elaborate programme was carried out.

The remains of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Burns of Meridian street were interred in the Hyde Park Catholic cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Many friends of the bereaved parents attended the funeral procession to the cemetery.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkins of 408 Aswell court, over the remains of their infant child. Rev. Thomas Bell, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church preached the funeral sermon. There was a large attendance of sympathizing friends of the bereaved parents and the floral tributes were very beautiful. Four little misses acted as pallbearers and interment was made at Washburn street cemetery.

The West Side Athletic baseball team will hold a picnic at Webber's grove next Wednesday. There will be dance music and a good time is promised.

PROVIDENCE.

While George Lawrence, a resident of Susquehanna, was sojourning in this city last December, he decided to have a good time, and so took along with him a former acquaintance, Robert J. Hill by name. Lawrence and his friend imbibed freely and when morning dawned upon Lawrence he found his friend missing and after a few moments' search found his watch and $12 also gone. Search failed to reveal the whereabouts of Hill and the case was reported to County Detective Leyshon, but the description given him was very faint and Hill went free. Saturday Mr. Lawrence came to town to spend Memorial day and take in the circus. He has a brother who resides in this end at whose home he was going to spend the night. He stepped over at Morris' hotel and while renewing old acquaintances he espied Hill. A warrant was immediately sworn out for Hill's arrest. He was locked up and after a time broke down and implicated Thomas Morgan in the theft. Morgan was arrested but stoutly denied any connection with the crime but, when confronted by the facts given by Hill at the hearing before Alderman Roberts, he confessed to being one of the party that relieved Lawrence of his valuables. He also wanted to compromise by paying half the loss that Lawrence sustained. The latter would not listen to any such overtures and the accused were held in $800 bail for their appearance at court

A team of horses belonging to Michael Maloney, of Greenland, Susquehanna county, took fright near the Bristol house Saturday. Mr. Maloney who was in the wagon at the time was unable to check their speed but pluckily clung to the reins. Near West Market street they ran into the curb and threw him heavily to the ground. He escaped, however, with slight injuries but the wagon was completely demolished.

The members of Company H attended divine worship last evening in the Presbyterian church. The church was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting. A sermon appropriate to the occasion was delivered by the pastor, Rev. G. E. Guild.

The funeral of John, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs William Owen, took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence on Green street. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. T. Davis. Burial was made in Washburn street cemetery.

Richard Davis, of Green street, is visiting relatives in Plymouth.

Evan Reese, of Plymouth, called on friends in this vicinity Saturday.

John Burns, of Arthur street, is suffering from a severe attack of brain fever.

Orton Jackson, ensign on the United States battleship Indiana, is spending a short forlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jackson, of Hollister avenue.

Miss Ann Patten, of Olyphant, is visiting her aunt, Mrs Thomas Jenkins, of Oak street.

Harry Danners called on friends in Olyphant yesterday.

Mrs. Alfred Carwardim, of Spring street, is recovering slowly from a severe illness.

Miss Edith Davis is spending a week with relatives at Nanticoke.

Samuel Wilcox, of Ohio, and William Wilcox, of New York, are visiting relatives in the Ridge.

Miss Grace Lutz, of Wyoming avenue, spent Saturday with friends at Moscow.

Mrs. W. H. Stevens and sons, of East Market street, have gone to Ocean Grove, where they intend spending the summer.

A few of the members of the Women's Christian Temperance union met at the home of Mrs. Walters, on Marion street, Friday afternoon and arranged bouquets attached to Scripture texts. On Memorial Day the ladies distributed them to the conductors and motormen on the Green Ridge lines of the Traction company and also to about seventy-five railroad men.

Charles Coleman, of Delaware street, participated in the bicycle races at Wilkes-Barre Saturday and won one of the prizes, a diamond stud.

SOUTH SIDE.

Last evening, cool as it was, a youth of about 15 or 16 years created a little excitement in the vicinity of Cedar avenue and Campbell street. It was not quite dark and the street was thronged with pedestrians, when suddenly the lad appeared naked and ran up Cedar avenue about a block and disappeared through a house, only to reappear and run about half a square. He did not appear a third time. Where he came from or who he was no one seemed to know.

Henry J. Woelkers and M. Kramer, of St. Peter's society, George Rehmer and J. Albreckt, of St. Mary's German Catholic society, will leave today as delegates to represent the above societies at the state convention of German societies, which will be held at Pottsville Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Porker Burke, of Stone avenue, is confined to his home by a severe attack of pneumonia.

Miss Mayme Clearwater, of Pear street, has been selected as assistant secretary of the South Side Young Women's Christian association.

DUNMORE.

Mrs. Lina Bronson and daughter, Alice, of Pittsburg, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bronson, of Elm street.

Schenck and Charles Hobday and sister, Alice, of Blooming Grove, Pa., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hobday, of Brook street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rosencranz, of Pittston, spent Decoration Day with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Finkney, of Bloom street.

Calvin Warner, of Paupack, came to town Saturday to witness some of the attractions which had been prepared for Decoration Day. The day was exceedingly cold and being quite numb from his long journey, he stepped into a hotel to warm up, internally. As luck would have it, he met quite a number of jolly companions who became greatly interested in the glowing description he gave of his native town. Subject after subject were discussed until Warner became slightly under the influence of liquor. Then nothing would do but what he should lead the borough's Memorial Day parade. It all ended in his being lodged in the jail where he spent the night. Yesterday morning he was given a hearing before Burgess Burschell, but he presented so pitiable an appearance that he was discharged after receiving a severe reprimand from the burgess.

John Locca was arrested Saturday evening for being drunk and disorderly. Locca is a large, powerful fellow, and it was with much difficulty that he was placed in jail. At a hearing before Burgess Burschel yesterday morning he was fined $5.

Otto Rake, of Blooming Grove, Pa., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hobday, of Brook street.

William Davis, of Philadelphia, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Mathews, of Brook stret.

Dunmore presented a holiday appearance Saturday. The decorations throughout town being numerous.

No. 1 colliery will commence work Wednesday morning. No. 5 and Gipsy Grove collieries will start his morning.

The "Confidential Clerk," a four-act drama will be produced in Manley's hall Friday evening, June 18, by the Sans Souci Dramatic club. The cast of characters composes the best of local talent.

150 Buggy Company Failures.

During the past two years over 150 buggy manufacturers have failed, and the present disturbed condition of the market is anything but encouraging. In many cases the stocks were bought up by Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago. They have issued a big catalogue of these goods, which they are sending out broadcast—sending to everybody that writes for it—offering high grade buggies at ruinously low prices, on trial before paying. They seem to control the buggy market, and the question arises, what is the manufacturer going to do until this stock is sold out?

A GREAT REMEDY.

For Sufferers from Piles.

Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of Piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the new discovery for the cure of piles, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was, the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied; this was the more surprising to him, because he had carefully analyzed the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine or similar poison could be detected.

Physicians look with great favor upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking the place of surgical operations and because it is so simple, so easily applied and contains no mineral or other poisons so commonly used in pile cures.

Dr. Esterbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures the various forms of Piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or discomfort may be.

People who have suffered from piles for years are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that anyone can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation. Sold by druggists at 50 cents per package.

Send for Free book on cause and cure of piles.

MINOOKA.

Miss B Walsh, of Pittston, was the guest of Miss B. Higgins yesterday.

M. J. Eagan, of Jermyn, was a caller in town yesterday.

The entertainment for the benefit of the McCays, which was postponed from last Monday evening, will take place tonight The entertainment consists of vocal and instrumental solos and impersonations of numerous characters by John McCay.

The Moosic Populars and the representative team of Minooka gave one of the worst exhibitions of base ball seen on the grounds of the latter this season. Although playing semi-professional in Batavia, New York since the season opened, yesterday's contest did not give them a showing as fast amateurs, as the work of the home team was sleepy. O'Neill and Connors were the opposing pitchers and both were very wild, but they managed to keep the hits well scattered. Shea was put in to relieve O'Neill in the seventh and the Moosics managed to get a few hits, assisted by poor fielding and passed their opponents. Connors is the star twirler of the Luzerne valey and his friends say he has received tempting offers from an eastern league team. The weather was very disagreeable. A young man named Padden was selected to umpire; but his work was yellow and off color. Score 13 to 5.

PECKVILLE.

The Memorial Day parade here last Saturday morning was one long to be remembered. At 9 o'clock everything was in readiness and by the direction of the grand marshall, Chief of Police C. J. Ganzemuller, the processor started out on the line of march, as published in last Friday morning's Tribune. Prospect cemetery, where the exercises were carried out, presented a very pretty appearance. Nearly every grave was bedecked with floral offerings, which were carefully arranged, and from the graves of the veterans floated the stars and stripes. The cemetery was thronged with a large concourse of people, who came to pay respect to their dead friends, relatives and comrades. The services carried out were elaborate and well rendered. The following programme was observed: Prayer by the chaplain, H. Lathrup; singing, by the three united choirs, under the directorship of Professor John James; selection, by the Olyphant Cornet band; responsive services, by the veterans; singing, by forty-five little girls, each bearing a crown on the head with the names of every state in the Union, "Marching Through Georgia; address, by the Rev. S. C. Simpkins. His remarks were given with the deepest patriotism, but on account of space we are unable to give in full this morning; singing, by united choirs. The chairman, Burgess S. B. Williams, then requested that all join in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," after which the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Houkal, of the Presbyterian church, of Jessup. The Wilson Fire company then fell out of the procession and marched to the graves of two of their deceased members, J. Wilson Peck and Arthur Peck, and decorated their graves with flowers.

Last Saturday evening District Attorney John R. Jones, esq., of Blakely, presented to the members of Lieutenant James G. Stevens Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of Peckville, in the lecture room of the Methodist Episcopal church, a book in which was inscribed the enlistment and companies they participated in. Mr. Jones was the doner of the book, and Mr. Edwin H. Ritter, the efficient bookkeeper of the Mt. Jessup Coal company, who is noted for his professional penmanship, did the copying of the records.

Realizing the fact of the almost impossibility of thanking each and every one, who lent their aid in providing a befitting observance on Memorial Day, we, the undersigned, in behalf of the committee, take this means, the public press, of announcing our heartfelt thanks to one and all for their services rendered. Respectfully,

S. B. Williams, chairman.
C. J. Ganzemuller, secretary.

THE REDFERN

The acknowledged queen and leader of the Corset family throughout the universe. Let's tell you how it gained this proud distinction. Among mortals honors apparently come by chance some times, but it is never so in the world of commerce. Merit alone counts there, and that is the only reason that can be assigned even by would-be competitors, for the enviable position which has been won by

Redfern Corsets in the World of Fashion

LOOK AT THIS CORSET

for a moment. Do you see these gores in the skirt and bust? You can't find their counterpart in any other corset in the world. Look at the arrangement of the whalebones, which down to the smallest splint are genuine and of the finest quality. These, too, are differently placed and for very good reasons. Next, take in the lines on which this garment is moulded. Measure them, and if you know anything about the human form you'll admit that they are scientifically made. All the dozens or more models in Redfern Corsets will stand the same test, the changes being merely an adaptation to the varying lines in which the human form is cast. That's why Redfern Corsets always fit and are always comfortable and easy even if a size smaller than usual is worn to plan and make right fitting corsets, and the Redfern only reached perfection after the physiologist had brought his science to bear on it, and the modeller had labored for years to accomplish that which had hitherto been deemed impossible. Finally it fell into the hands of the operator, but there was trouble then again. for they had to be especially trained in order to get the desired results, so you see it's just as we said at the outset, honors are not gained in the world of commerce by mere accident or chance.
