THE SCHOOL FESTIVAL.

Cantata Sung in a Very Creditable Manner in Jackson Street Baptist Church by Young People.

The young people of the Jackson Street Baptist church creditably rendered the cantata, "The School Festival," last evening at the church. Richard Nichols was conductor and the Misses Viola Evans and Norma Nichols were the accompanists. An orchestra consisting of William H. Stanton, cornetist; William Allen, violinist, and Philip Thomas, flute, assisted in the choral parts. The opening chorus of the programme was "Happy Hearts," after which the queen, Miss Martha B. Nichols, sang, and then made an address of welcome.

A chorus, "Hail to Our Beautiful Queen," was sung to which the queen replied with a solo, "I Come." The patriotic scholar, Miss Annie Thomas, made an address, and was answered by the gracious queen, who commended the punctuality in terms of praise by singing, accompanied by the full chorus, "Wear Thy Crown of Lilies White." A dialogue ensued between the queen and the tardy scholar, Stephen Davies, after which they sang a duet, assisted by the chorus.

The persevering scholar, Miss Bessie Hedden, spoke and was replied to by her queen, and was greeted by the chorus, "Now We Greet You, Sister Dear." The queen and her persevering scholar sang a duet, "In the Pleasant Path of Duty." The queen was then troubled by the woes of the quarrelsome scholar, Howard Griffiths, which was relieved by the singing of two scholars, the Misses Addie Lewis and Elsie Hughes. A dialogue took place between the other scholars, the Misses Eva Hughes, Annie Davies, Laura De Gruchy, Margaret Griffiths, Millie Thomas, Nellie Lance, Lizzie Widdick, on one side, and the queen supported by the generous scholar, Miss Maud Thomas, on the other side.

After the chorus, "How Sweet and Lovely is Her Face," which was addressed to the queen, and seemed to placate every scholar, an interview was held by the scholars with their queen, which resulted satisfactory to all. The tardy scholar, quarrelsome scholar and selfish scholar, Willie Nichols, however, had to have a little difference settled, and the chorus, "Gathered Once More," was sung and the queen gave a final address to her subjects, and all united in singing the chorus, "Now to the Lord."

Each character was aptly portrayed by the person assigned to it. There was a large attendance of the parents and friends of the young people, and they were well pleased with the entertainment.

SHOT IN THE HEAD.

Careless Handling of a Revolver Had a Serious Result.

Chester Williams, son of William T. Williams, of Snyder avenue, was accidentally shot last evening in the head on the right side just above the ear. The accident happened about 9 o'clock and was due to playing with a loaded revolver.

The revolver was in the hands of the young man, Charles Edwards, son of David E. Edwards, of Archibald street. Dr. J. J. Roberts was summoned and upon examination found that that the boy was suffering from a scalp wound only. Both boys are about 14 years of age.

The remains were borne from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dodd, of Railroad avenue, to the hall and Rev. W. P. O'Donnell was celebrant of the high mass of requiem and preached a very beautiful sermon. The attendance was large and the floral tributes handsome and profuse. A large procession of friends accompanied the funeral cortege to the Hyde Park Catholic cemetery, where interment was made. The following were the pall-bearers: John Lynn, John Trainor, James Hawley and James Murphy.

BONE SPLINTERS REMOVED.
George Davies, of North Bromley avenue, underwent a very successful operation yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. G. B. Reynolds was operating surgeon, and was assisted by Drs. Allen and Longstreet. The operation was for the removal of splintered bones from the thigh. It will be remembered that Mr. Davies, who is a brakeman on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, was injured several weeks ago at Gouldsboro by falling from the top of a box car. His thigh had never fully healed and the operation was found necessary.

MRS. MISSION INJURED.
Mrs. Barnett Mission, of 164 Jackson street, met with a very severe accident last evening about 8.45. She is about 60 years of age and in coming down stairs in the dark in her home she missed her footing and fell. Her injuries consist of a contused wound on the scalp, both bones of the forearm and the wrist bones broken. Dr. G. B. Reynolds was hastily summoned. He set the bones and made Mrs. Mission as comfortable as possible.

WOULD STEAL A MARCH.
But the Contestants Were Not to Be Caught Napping — Proceedings, Yesterday, in the Contest.
Harry Burkendorf and Henry Woodruff, of the Third district of the Third ward, who failed to show tax receipts, were found defective in yesterday's session of the Dunmore contest. There were twenty-eight witnesses examined in all. The other twenty-six were William Wendener, of the First district of the Second ward; E. E. Cramer, George C. Brown, Thomas Alston, Delmar Balkman, James Bruce, H. Bruns, George Black, Andrew Bechtolt, Samuel Cummins, A. Cole, H. B. Cole, G. H. Cummins, Otto Bartl, of the First district of the Sixth ward; George Hartman, Yaie Skinner, Christian H. Weber, A. R. Snyder, Chris Schweitzer, William Swartz, Elmer Setzer, Frank Skinner, Philip Hoffman, George Cupp, H. Wahlers and Philip Wagner, of the Third district of the Third ward.

Hon. C. P. O'Malley, of counsel for the contestants, yesterday secured from court permission to cross-examine witnesses as to their registration. The respondents in their bill of particulars attacked many of the Republican voters on the ground that they are not properly registered. At the hearings they do not examine these witnesses on the matter of registration and object to the contestants' attorneys bringing the question up in cross-examination.
Mr. O'Malley set forth to the court that if the respondents persist in this opposition the contestants will be required to call all those witnesses again in rebuttal, all of which will consume time, pile up the costs and greatly inconvenience the witnesses.
Judge Archibald decided that there was no occasion for this unnecessary expenditure of time, money and trouble and decreed that the contestants might examine the witnesses as to registration as they are subpoenaed by the respondents, whether or not the matter is brought up in direct examination. The judge promised to make allowance to the respondents for such portion of their time as the contestants may trespass upon.

FIRE ON FRANKLIN AVENUE.

Caused Much Excitement in Solomon's Shirt Factory.
There was much commotion and excitement in Solomon's shirt factory on Franklin avenue yesterday morning because of a fire on the floor above. About seventy girls are employed in the factory.
The building is at 131 Franklin avenue and is four stories in height. On the top floor is a furniture repair shop and there the fire started. Thomas J. Foley, Jeremiah Regan and E. Hart fought the flames with right good will and succeeded in extinguishing them before the arrival of the city fire companies in response to an alarm that had been sent in.
Meantime on the floor below the girls were making a desperate effort to get out of the building, and during the excitement, two of them, Mammie Kelly and Mary Gorman, fainted and had to be carried out. The actual damage done by the fire was slight. The building in which it occurred is owned by Carson & Davies.

THE REDFERN

The acknowledged queen and leader of the Corset family throughout the universe. Let's tell you how it gained this proud distinction. Among mortals honors apparently come by chance some times, but it is never so in the world of commerce. Merit alone counts there, and that is the only reason that can be assigned even by would-be competitors, for the enviable position which has been won by

for a moment. Do you see these gores in the skirt and bust? You can't find their counterpart in any other corset in the world. Look at the arrangement of the whalebones, which down to the smallest splint are genuine and of the finest quality. These, too, are differently placed and for very good reasons. Next, take in the lines on which this garment is moulded. Measure them, and if you know anything about the human form you'll admit that they are scientifically made. All the dozens or more models in Redfern Corsets will stand the same test, the changes being merely an adaptation to the varying lines in which the human form is cast. That's why Redfern Corsets always fit and are always comfortable and easy even if a size smaller than usual is worn to plan and make right fitting corsets, and the Redfern only reached perfection after the physiologist had brought his science to bear on it, and the modeler had labored for years to accomplish that which had hitherto been deemed impossible. Finally it fell into the hands of the operator, but there was trouble then again, for they had to be especially trained in order to get the desired results, so you see it's just as we said at the outset, honors are not gained in the world of commerce by mere accident or chance.
