BERNARD MCGREAVY ARRESTED.

Nathan Riceman Makes a Peculiar Charge Against Him. Nathan Riceman, of South Washington street, yesterday caused the arrest of Bernard McGreavy, of Chin-chilla, charging him with assault and robbery. McGreavy was taken before Alderman Millar yesterday to answer the charge. Riceman's story is in effect that he went to McGreavy's place in Chin-chilla, intending to purchase calves. Riceman alleges that McGreavy invited him out to the barn and when he got him there knocked him down and took every cent of money from his clothes. There was about $5 says Riceman. McGreavy's side of the story is decidedly different. He claims that Riceman gave him $1.00 on an old debt for other calves. After McGreavy got the money he says he refused to sell Riceman any more calves until the latter paid the balance of the outstanding debt of $5. Then Riceman got mad and concocted the charge against McGreavy. Alderman Millar held McGreavy in $500 if a further hearing Friday morning.

TWO FLOODED MINES MAY RESUME WORK

Progress Made in Getting Water Out of Avondale and Nottingham Workings.

DAM NOW THE OBJECTIVE POINT

As Soon as the Water Above It in the Avondale is Removed the Entire Pumping Capacity of the Nottingham Will Be Utilized and the Mine Cleared of Water—Then the Mining of Coal Can Be Resumed.

A very comprehensive account of the pumping operations at the flooded Avondale and Nottingham mines is contained in the current report of the Anthracite Coal Operators' association. The article in question indicates that the two collieries will be in operation before many months. It is as follows:

The problem of pumping the water in the Nottingham and Avondale mines is at last definitely solved. The water in the Avondale is being pumped out by the pumps at a short distance below the Fifth Lift west of the underground slope in the Red Ash seam of the Nottingham. The pumps were started and proved ample at 4 p. m. Saturday, May 28th, the highly efficient coal company demonstrated its ability to do great and, in a surprisingly short time, excellent work.

In only three weeks after becoming convinced that it would have to pump the water, three batteries of Babcock and Wilcox pumps, each with one horse power, each were placed, housed and completed on the surface. Five large pumps additional to the two already there, four more at the shaft, besides the two already at that point, together with all the necessary column and steam pipes leading from the pumps to the surface, were laid, so that when they were started all ran smoothly and without a hitch.

CONDITION OF AFFAIRS. The west holding compartment of the shaft had to be utilized to give room for the steam and column pumps, and the pumps and pipe leading from the shaft to the Red Ash slope, but all the workings of the shaft and in the Ross seam are available for mining at present. Only one cage can be used for hoisting in the shaft. At Avondale the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Operators' association used the Ross shaft for the pipes. They are sinking the water at the rate of about two feet a day, and pumping it to the surface at one lift. This will likely be the point where all the water will have to be pumped, and it is now intended, when the water is lowered to the level of the permanent pumps, to have all the water pumped directly to the surface through the Ross shaft.

The main shaft of Avondale and the air shaft will then be free for service in working the remaining coal from the No. 2 slope, which is separated from the source of the water by ample pillars. When this is done, and it is now demonstrated to be practicable, the standing water can soon be pumped out of the Nottingham, and the extra pumps taken out of the way. When this is done, which will be before long, the Nottingham and Avondale collieries will again become large producers.

To a Tribune reporter it was stated by a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western official yesterday that the water in the Avondale has been lowered about 45 vertical feet and that there is a little more than 100 feet of water to be removed before the dam is reached. Through the dam the water enters the Nottingham and the pumping will be done at a capacity sufficient to keep the flow level with the Avondale dam.

PUMPING OUT WATER. When the Avondale pumps remove the water above the dam the entire pumping capacity of the Nottingham will be utilized and the mine cleared. It will be from seventy to a hundred and twenty-five days before the Avondale dam is reached though the work may be hastened if the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre company, which owns the Nottingham, decides to tap the Avondale dam.

In that case the pumps of the two mines would be at work on a common body of water. It is reported that mining operations will be resumed in the Ross shaft if the water and column pipes it now contains will permit the installing of an adequate counter-balancing apparatus. This report could not be confirmed yesterday, but it is current talk in mining circles.

IN THE TOOLS OF UNCLE SAM.

Jennie Robbins Charged with Having Illegally Sold Liquor. Jennie Robbins was taken before United States Commissioner Milo J. Wilson yesterday afternoon, charged with selling liquor without having paid the special tax on it. Deputy Marshal Walters was the prosecutor. The evidence of the prosecution was that Miss Robbins when approached by Marshal Walters said that she was the proprietor of the place, which is located in the market block on Lackawanna avenue. There was conclusive evidence that liquor was sold. The defense of Miss Robbins was that she had applied for a United States license on June 1. The warrant, however, mentioned May 31 as the date of the misdemeanor. The Robbins woman said that she lied when she stated to the marshal that she was the proprietor of the place on May 31. She did not take possession until June 1. Commissioner Wilson held her in $200 bail to appear at the next session of the United States court for this district. She was given until this morning to furnish the bondsman. Attorneys Beale and Boyle represented the defendant.

MARKET FOR COAL IS MUCH STRONGER

Weakness Shown in the Middle of April Has Entirely Disappeared.

DEALERS ARE LAYING IN A SUPPLY

They Are Doing This in Expectation of an Advance in Price—Shipments Thus Far This Year Have Been Nearer to the Demands of the Market Than at Any Time Since 1894. Probable Consumption During the Year Is Estimated.

"During the past month the market for anthracite coal has become noticeably stronger," says the June letter of the Anthracite coal operators. "What little weakness was shown in the middle of April has entirely disappeared, and prices are being held nearer to the net circular than at any time within the past three years.

"Thus far there has been no marked activity in buying, but dealers who require a large tonnage and have carried small stocks, have commenced laying in their supplies at present prices in anticipation of an advance. To those more familiar with existing conditions in the trade, it is evident that there is little prospect of any decline in prices and every reason for an increase at an early date. It was generally expected that a new tide-water circular would be issued by some of the companies on the first of June, but instead, the price is being brought nearer to the existing circular, and when a new one is announced, which will likely be during this month, there will not be a wide difference between it and the actual prices received.

EARLY JUNE WEDDINGS.

Miss Esther Moyle Married to Elmer Swingle. Elmer W. Swingle, of Peckville, and Miss Esther Etta Moyle, of Oakwood place, this city, were wedded at 12:45 o'clock yesterday by Rev. C. M. Giffin, D. D., at Elm Park, Jersey. Little Miss Elizabeth Pettigrew and Leon Moyle, cousin and brother respectively of the bride, who were flower maid and master, were the only attendants. The ushers were: Fred Barry, William Gunn, Lewis Jones, Frank Benjamin, John Gaud and Thomas Glover. The bride's dress was of broadcloth, dark green in color, and trimmed with white silk bridle. She carried pretty roses. The effect was very pretty. A wedding reception was for the time dispensed with and Mr. and Mrs. Swingle left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding tour which will include New York and other points. Upon their return they will reside at Peckville. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Mary Moyle.

Conking-Hudson.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Anna Belle Hutson was united in marriage to Bert C. Conking. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride, at 1411 Price street, and was witnessed by the relatives and immediate friends only of the contracting parties. The parlor was prettily decorated and Rev. S. F. Matthews, pastor of the Scranton Street Baptist church, performed the beautiful ceremony as was usual. Miss Anna Conking played the wedding march. Immediately following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Conking held an informal reception, after which all sat down to a post-nuptial repast. Mrs. Conking is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hutson, of Montrose, Pa., but has been residing with her brother on Price street, where she was married. Mr. Conking, a former resident of Montrose, holds a very respectable position with a large telephone concern at Madison, Wis. Last evening the couple left for Madison, where they will hereafter reside.

Heckman-Snow.

Miss Amanda Snow and Milton Heckman were united in marriage by Rev. J. B. Sweet, pastor of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Cooper, of Tenth street, and was witnessed by the immediate relatives of the couple. After a wedding repast Mr. and Mrs. Heckman left for New York city on their bridal tour. Mr. Heckman is a resident of Canadensis, Berks county, and they will make their home there upon their return.

Ross-McDonnell.

Miss Belle McDonnell, of the central city, and Myles Ross, of Green Ridge, were married at noon yesterday in St. Peter's cathedral by Rev. J. W. Malone. Miss Nora Collins, of North Main avenue, was bridesmaid, and Michael Bannon best man. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Ross will reside on Sanderson avenue.

FATHER WAS NOT EXCITED.

Received the News that His Son Was Being Abused Very Quietly. The following letter was received yesterday by Chief of Police Robling: Andover, O., June 1. Chief of Police—Italian playing the bag pipes, accompanied by a little Italian boy came to this place today. The man was arrested for brutally kicking and beating the boy. Boy said his name is Nicholas Panus or Panz and that his father works in Spencer's coal mine at your place. His name is Joseph Panus. The boy also says that he was stolen by the man he is with. The man will not be allowed to take the boy from here, as he has grossly abused the boy and would see the father and if it's a case of child-stealing will hold him for you. Man is now in custody. Yours respectfully, P. F. Marvin. Justice of the Peace.

THE PHYSICAL EXAMINATION.

Will Be Conducted Tonight at the Armory on Adams Avenue. The board of physical examiners will meet all applicants for the West Point cadet appointment at the armory on Adams avenue at 8 o'clock tonight and examine them as to their physical fitness for the appointment. Uncle Sam being quite as much concerned about the physical as the military is, it is probable that the examination will be made-up of the young men he receives at West Point. The examination will be conducted by the regular board of surgeons of the Thirtieth regiment, which consists of Drs. Fulton, Parke and Keller.

ST. LEO'S DEDICATION.

Special Train to Be Run Over the Jersey Central Next Sunday. Hundreds of Catholics in this diocese will attend the dedication and altar consecration of St. Leo's church at Ashley on Sunday. Papal Delegate Martinelli and Archbishop Ryan will conduct the service. A special train on the Jersey Central railroad will leave here for Ashley on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and will be 75 cents. Stops will be made at Moosic, Taylor, Avoca, Pittston and Mill Creek. The papal delegate, Monsignor Sebastian Martinelli, will pontificate, and Rt. Rev. Bernard McQuaid, bishop of Rochester, will preach. In the evening Rt. Rev. M. J. Hoban will sing pontifical vesper and the Very Rev. Thomas Conaty, rector of the Catholic university in Washington, will preach. Archbishop Ryan will assume an important part in the ceremonies.

NEW BREAKER ASSURED.

It Will Be Built by Wyoming Land and Coal Company. The Wyoming Coal and Land company has decided to erect a breaker in place of the Hunt breaker which was destroyed by fire last week. The burned building was owned by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company. It will be recalled, and was only leased by the Wyoming company. The new breaker will be built by the latter company, and it will be located on their own land, about a half mile north of the Hunt breaker. Surveyors were on the ground Tuesday, says the Pittston Gazette, making preliminary surveys, and the exact site for the new building will be decided upon within a few days. The details have not yet been arranged, but Dr. Rice, the general manager, says the new breaker will have a capacity of 1,000 tons a day. The work of building will be started as soon as possible. A report is in circulation that the mine will continue in operation and the coal stocked until the breaker is ready to prepare it, but Dr. Rice says there is no truth in the report.

INSPECT STREETS, NOT SALOONS.

That's What Mr. Medway Wants the Dunmore Council to Do. One week from today the councilmen of Dunmore will make their annual tour of inspection of the streets of that borough with a view to ascertaining the condition of the various thoroughfares and what repairs are needed. Councilman Joseph L. Medway will not be with them. "I am anxious to examine the streets of the borough, not the saloons," said Mr. Medway yesterday to a Tribune reporter. "Last year was my first one in the council and I accompanied the other members on the tour of inspection and found that what they did not pay any too much attention to the streets they did not fail to devote a
