PLANS FOR MEDAL OF HONOR CONVENTION

Were Formulated at a Meeting of the Executive Committee.

ENTERTAINMENT OF THE VISITORS

A Programmo Has Been Arranged Which Occupies the Entire Time the Visitors Will Be in the City--It Includes a Reception, Trip to Glen Summit, Banquet and a Drive Over the Boulevard to Elmhurst--Seventy-five Medal Wearers Will Be Here.

At a meeting in the office of Major J. W. Oakford in the board of trade building yesterday morning a programme was definitely decided upon for the convention of the members of the Medal of Honor Legion which will be held in this city next week. The meeting was attended by Major Oakford, who is chairman of the executive committee; Colonel E. H. Ripple, Colonel H. A. Courson, Hon. J. A. Scranton and Attorney A. J. Colborn, Jr. General Nelson A. Miles, who is president of the legion, will not be present at the meeting for the reason that he turned his face eastward some two months ago for the purpose of personally watching the warfare between the Turks and the Greeks. General Miles is one of the conspicuous figures of the legion and his absence is much regretted. Nearly all of the other prominent members of the legion have signified their intention of being present.

At yesterday's meeting it was announced that seventy-five members of the legion will attend the convention and about thirty of them will be accompanied by their wives. The visitors will begin to arrive on Tuesday and that night a reception will be held in the board of trade rooms. This function will be in charge of a committee headed by Hon. J. A. Scranton, General Peck and the members of his staff will receive, Bauer's orchestra will discourse music and light refreshments will be served.

CONVENTION WEDNESDAY.

Wednesday morning the business meeting of the convention of the legion will be held in the board of trade assembly room and at 1 p. m. the visitors accompanied by a committee of citizens, will start for Glen Summit on the mountain heights above Wilkes-Barre. This trip is made possible through the courtesy of Superintendent C. R. Manville, of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company and General Manager R. H. Wilbur, of the Lehigh Valley company. The party will go from this city to Wilkes-Barre over the Delaware and Hudson road and from Wilkes-Barre to Glen Summit over the Lehigh Valley. Returning the route will be over the Lehigh Valley cut off to Avoca and the Delaware and Hudson to Scranton. Light refreshments will be provided at Glen Summit.

It is expected that the party will arrive in Scranton on the return trip at 6 p. m. That night the visitors will be entertained at a banquet in either the Hotel Jermyn or the board of trade rooms. The list of toasts and responses for the occasion have not yet been prepared. There are some very eloquent talkers among the medal wearers who have signified their intention of coming to this city and the banquet will be one of the notable events in connection with the meeting. The local banding committee will select the Scranton citizens who will respond to toasts and the members of the Legion will designate those who will be called on from among their number.

TRIP TO ELMHURST.

Thursday morning a drive over the boulevard to Elmhurst has been arranged for by a committee of which H. P. Simpson is chairman.

It is expected that a sufficient number of carriages will be loaned by citizens of the city to accommodate the entire party.

NEW KIND OF NOZZLE.

It is Being Tested by the Crystal Company.

The new hose nozzle which is being tested by the Crystal Hose company, was invented by Chief August, of the Allentown Fire department, and embodies two ideas that cover troublesome points in the ordinary nozzle.

One is the disastrous delay caused in making a twin stream from one hose. The old way was to shut off the force of water entirely and then make the connection. With the August nozzle this delay is done away with. The connection is made while the water is on and it is not necessary to reduce the force of the stream playing on the fire when another hose is being attached.

The new nozzle is a little over two feet in length and is broader for the first foot from the hose than the hose itself. In this first foot of nozzle there is a joint where the second hose may be connected. When a single stream is used a three-faced valve with a T on the opposite side closes the joint opening and the second hose can be attached while the stream is still playing on the fire. A turn of the valve releases the water and the turn connection is in operation.

Another feature of the new nozzle is an arrangement whereby a spray to protect firemen from smoke can be made.

CITY FIGURED IN FOUR CIVIL CASES

Swetland Street Property Holders Escape Outer Assessments.

KINGSTON MAN SEEKING DAMAGES

His Wife, He Claims, Was Permanently Injured by Tripping on an Uneven Sidewalk in Front of the Conway House in 1891--Skirmish Between Attorneys in the Bonta Cases--Constables Fee Bill Decision Appealed.

Four city cases and the Pritchard case occupied the time of common pleas yesterday. The former were tried before Judge Edwards. In the first case the city was plaintiff and two Sweetland street property holders, John Frank and August Seaman, were defendants. The city sought to enforce collection on municipal liens directed against the defendants' properties for guttering done by a city ordinance. Ex-Judge Stanton tried for a non-suit on the grounds that the lien was defective as it had been issued from the court of an alderman who he claimed had no jurisdiction, and again because there is no act of assembly permitting a city to provide for gutters by ordinance. Being overruled in these points of law, he made the contention that the work had not been done in accordance with the specification and the jury after being out a short time returned a verdict for the defendant.

The second case was one wherein the city was defendant and Christopher Smith, of Kingston, for himself and also as executor of the estate of his wife, Amelia Smith, was plaintiff. In 1891 Mrs. Smith came up from Duray where the family then lived to do some shopping. Going along Penn avenue, in front of the Conway house, which was then in course of erection, she stumbled, it is alleged, on an uneven plank walk and sustained injuries to her side and shoulder which made her virtually helpless and caused her intense pain and suffering until the time of her death three years later. Damages in the sum of $5,000 are asked by the estate for her personal injuries and a like amount is demanded by the husband for the loss of his wife's services. E. C. Newcomb and D. J. Reedy appear for Mr. Smith. City Solicitor Torrey and Assistant City Solicitor D. J. Davis are caring for the defense.

BARTHOLD-PRITCHARD CASE.
The case of Edwards and Barthold against Mrs. Martha Pritchard was given to the jury at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon after being on trial the best part of two days. To discredit the testimony of the experts who gave it as their opinion that the "with interest" clause was added to the note three or four months after the signature was attached, the attorneys for the plaintiff, Hulslander & Alworth, presented documents from the recorder's office showing that the note, bearing the words "with interest" was recorded in November, 1889, not a full month after it was signed and delivered.

Judge Gunster called another of the Bonta cases just after the above case went to the jury and directed that a jury be empaneled in it despite the protests of ex-Judge Stanton and City Solicitor Torrey of counsel for the defendant. Hulslander & Alworth, the Bonta company's attorney and that it was an injustice to try the case until he could reach here. Mr. Torrey said he simply represented himself and appeared rather as an officer of the court than as an attorney.

Judge Stanton disavowed being the Bonta company's representative, saying he was merely appearing for himself to protect an interest which he had in the Bonta patents. Mr. Torrey pointed out that it would again be unfair and unjust to allow the case to go to trial with Judge Stanton as the only attorney for the defense, for the reason that Judge Stanton's interests and those of the Bonta company are likely to be opposed some time or another.

OPPOSED A CONTINUANCE.
Mr. Comegys, attorney for the plaintiffs, insisted on going to trial immediately saying that Mr. Hibbs had been duly notified of the time for which the trial was set and he and not the opposition should be made to suffer for his failure to be present. Judge Gunster ordered the case to proceed, saying that a jury could be drawn at least before adjournment, and in the morning all hands could be present.

The defendants attorneys also wanted to have the cases held over until a final disposition be made of the Hinds case to which all the others are parallel in every respect. Mr. Comegys was willing to accede to this if the defendants would enter into a written agreement to accept the final finding in the Hinds case as the verdict in all, but this they refused to do.
