It was feared that both men would be killed seriously injured, but they finally managed to extricate themselves. Mr. Kennedy received a severe gash on one knee and Mr. Carroll received a sprained leg and several bruises,

Plans for a New Church.

A letter has been issued to the congregation of Trinity church by rector and vestry, in which they think the time has come to consider the question of a new church. Plans for a church and parish house have been submitted to the vestry. After examination the rector has been authorized to make an effort to accomplish the desired object. Trinity Sunday a ves ted choir will be introduced and it is hoped that in the near future the de sire for a new church may be realized.

CUBIOUS SCRAPBOOKS.

Remarkable Volume That Every President Carries Away. From the Boston Transcript.

At the White House everything is Master Robert Gordon, of Petersburg, yisited relatives here on Saturday, now being made ready for the change of administration. Among the things which every president carries away Mr. and Mrs. William M. Evans, of making it to preserve only those clippings complimentary to the president But the scrap-book service at the White House is of interest only as typical of hundreds of tasks maintained in Washington. They owe their origin to the good old days of the spoils system, when the discovery of something which would afford an apology for the presence of another cierk was regarded as a meritorious act. A humane unwillingness to throw some good man out of a place explains the Electric Light company, less a de-duction for eight lights reported out paratively useless cervices. When Mr Cleveland came to the White House in 1884 he found the scrap-book work in the hands of two men; one clerk went over the newspapers, blue-penciling his selections, while another man did the muscular work of plying the shears. These two duties Mr. Cleveland rather courageously consolidated.

Never Worry. Take them and go about your busi-ness--they do their work whilst you are doing yours. That is why the circulation of The Tribune is constantly increasing, and why we are able to state the following facts:

- FACT 1-The Tribune is delivered to more homes and business places than any other Scranton newspaper.
- FACT 2-The Tribune is, without doubt, the best advertising medium in Northeastern Pennsylvania.
- FACT 3-The Tribune prints more news and contains more exclusive features than any of its competitors.
- FACT 4-The Tribune consists of 10 pages daily, except Saturday, upon which day a magnificent 16 page paper is issued.
- FACT 5-The Tribune contains no boiler plate or "patent" matter. Every line is carefully selected and well edited.
- FACT 6-The Tribune has, since its birth, constantly set the pace in the journalistic race in this section and today has outdistanced all competitors. The Tribune leads, the others try to follow.
- The Tribune is the best newspaper in the state, outside of FACT 7 Philadelphia and Pittsburg. It costs but 50 cents a month, delivered every morning before breakfast. Subscribe new and get the best.
