Hill, of Pockville; Patrick J. Martin and Till, of Scranton; of Carbondale; Michael J. McDonald, of Dunmore, and Helen McAndrew, of Moscow; Robert A. Jones, of Yatesville, and Mary A. Bauer's Band Excursion.
Remember Bauer's band excursion to Mountain Park Tuesday, June 15. The Ninth Regiment band will be with them. Hanley is caterer. Trains leave at 9 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. Tickets, adults, 75c; children, 50c.

WAS A CROOKED TUBE.
Attorney Stanton couldn't converse very well through Paul Paszakow. Donnatia Pennate, a Dunmore man, was before Alderman O. B. Wright last evening to answer a charge of desertion made by his wife, Conchita Pennate. She alleges that he has left her alone for six whole weeks.

To get out of the fact of this neglect ex-Judge Stanton, who was counsel for the prosecuter, met with an awkward handicap. Mrs. Pennate could not talk English and no intelligent interpreter could be secured. Finally the woman's male friend, Paul Paszakow, was used as an interpreter.

He persisted in injecting opinions of his own and never repeated what Mrs. Pennate said. The defendant's friends objected to this. They demanded "fair play." It became necessary to adjourn the case until an intelligent interpreter could be found. Pennate was committed to the county jail until last evening.

JOHNSON WAS INJURED.
And He Good Naturedly Tells How and Why It Was.

Alexander Johnson, of Archbald, is now at the Lackawanna hospital suffering from a fractured collar bone and a couple of cuts on the head.

He was struck by a coal train on the Delaware and Hudson tracks at Archbald yesterday morning. He was taken to the hospital soon afterward.

Johnson good-humoredly blames his misfortune to a piece of wire. He said he was walking along one track and stooped down to pick up a piece of rusted wire. While stooping down he heard the noise of a moving train and looking ahead he saw what he had heard coming right toward him. He jumped to the other track, where he was struck by another train with the result as stated.

Johnson said to Dr. McGrath at the hospital: "It was all on account of that blasted wire," and he smiled.

Substitutes for Horsford's Acid Phosphate Are Dangerous.
Because they cost less, many substitutes are offered, some of which are dangerous, and none of which will produce the same effect as the genuine. Insist upon having "Horsford's" whether buying a bottle of Acid Phosphate, or "phosphate" in a glass of soda.

INSPECTION OF FIRE DEPARTMENT HOUSES

City Officials Look Into the Needs of the Various Companies.

NEW HOME FOR CRYSTALS FAVORED

Handsome New Home for the Nays and Their Complete Appointments—Hook and Ladder Company Needs Another Horse—Improvements Recommended for the Columbian—Centuries Make the Best Time Getting Out of Their Quarters.

A number of city officials yesterday afternoon made a tour of inspection of the fire department houses of the city. The party were Mayor James G. Bailey, Chief of the Fire Department, J. Hickey, City Treasurer, G. C. Bond, Street Commissioner, A. R. Dunning, Building Inspector, Nelson, Fred Dur, chairman of the fire department committee of select council; Lorenz P. Zeldler, chairman of the fire department of the common council; Select Councilman M. J. Burns and Councilman John J. Flanagan. Edward Wenzel, Simon Thomas and E. P. Gordon.

The quarters of Crystal Hose company on Linden street were first visited. The building is rented for the fire department. It is quite well adapted to the needs of the company. It was the consensus of opinion of the inspectors, however, that the city cannot erect a house for the Crystals any too soon. The company has two permanent men, Isaac Tice and Charles Tropp, and four horses, two for the hose wagon and two for the ladder. The permanent men gave an exhibition of the rapidity with which they can respond to an alarm. They got the hose wagon with the two horses hitched to it out of the building in twenty seconds after the time the alarm was sounded. They got the ladder in eighteen seconds.

THE NEW ENGINE HOUSE.

The handsome new brick and stone building erected by the city for the Nays Engine company was next visited. The permanent men there are Eugene Moyer and Henry Brown, colored, and they have three horses to care for, one for the hose reel and two for the steamer. Both were out of the building in thirty-one and one-half seconds after the alarm was sounded. In the cellar of the building is a water back stove by means of which the water in the boiler of the fire engine is always kept warm. The gauge usually registers five pounds of steam. An automatic acting torch under the boiler lights the engine fire the minute the engineer jumps on the engine. It is estimated that ten minutes is saved by these contrivances in raising the forty pounds of steam necessary to run the engine.

The Nays Aug's building is well arranged throughout. There are tub and shower baths, and a dormitory on the second floor. There are six stalls, three sliding poles lead from that room to the engine room below. On the top floor is the gymnasium which, as yet, is not supplied very extensively with apparatus.

The top of the West Side was made at the Hook and Ladder house, which is rented from Philip Schnell, by the city for $75 per month. The company has two permanent men, Henry Steinhauser and Thomas Conlin, and two horses. They are endeavoring to secure another horse for it is too much for two horses to pull the truck, which weighs 7,500 pounds with two men on it up any kind of a stiff grade. An additional horse could be purchased and the necessary changes made in the harness so that three horses could be hitched abreast for about $400, Chief Hickey said.

MADE FAST TIME.

The Hook and Ladder company have a lively and exceedingly well trained crew. When the alarm was sounded they got the truck out of the house in twenty-five seconds. The next stop was at the Franklin's house, on North Hyde Park avenue. It is owned by the city, and is in charge of the fire department. The crew and John Lowry, the former is a mechanical genius, has arranged a number of unique and valuable devices about the house. One is a water motor for running fans to keep the engine room cool, and another device for lifting the covering over the sliding pole hole. Mr. Lowry has also done his share to add to the beauty and comfort of the house, which is one of the most neatly arranged in the department. The company has on its rolls the oldest fireman in the city in point of service. He is T. H. Allen, the engineer.

On the exhibition test, the hose wagon, which is drawn by one horse, got out of the house in twenty-eight seconds, and the steamer, with two horses attached, got out in thirty-four and one-half seconds. One of the engine horses has only been in the department a short time or the time would have been several seconds less. The building occupied by the Columbia company, on Division street, is also owned by the city. It has one permanent man, G. W. Myers, and two of the finest horses in the department. Mr. Myers got the horses and wagon out of the house in twenty-one and one-half seconds. The hose wagon is in need of repairs and in August one of the combined hose wagons and chemical engines will be substituted for it. The present wagon will then be overhauled and given to the Nays Augs or Eagles. The Columbia's house was found in first-class shape throughout.

SIXTH WARD COMPANY.

The officials, after leaving the Columbia quarters, crossed over to Bellevue and inspected Eagle Engine house, which is rented from Patrick Golden by the city. The house was in charge of Joseph Heitman, the department extra man. James Ruane, the recently elected permanent man, was also present. The fire department committee recommended the placing of gas in the house and also noted some other improvements. The company is sorely in need of a hose wagon. On the test Heitman got the team and hose reel out of the house in twenty-two seconds. There is three bunks in the dormitory, on the second floor of the building.

The William Connell Engine house, on Pittston avenue, South Side, was the first South Side company visited. The company is comfortably housed in a brick building owned by William Connell. Sterling Simrell is the permanent man, and he has two horses to care for. He got the horses and wagon out of the house in twenty-four seconds. The second floor is used for a meeting room, recreation room, and dormitory.

Neptune Engine company is housed in the oldest fire department building in the city, and is sadly in need of rebuilding. Owing to one of the horses becoming somewhat nervous the test did not do the members of the company justice. They got the hose wagon out in twenty-seven seconds and the engine in something over thirty. There are two permanent men, William Fickus and Henry Hennard, they have three horses to care for.

THE RECORD BREAKERS.

In the Century House house the best official exhibition of the day was given. Edward Kneller, the permanent man, got his horses and wagon out in sixteen seconds. It was the opinion of the officials that the Century company should have a new building. The present quarters are rented from Mrs. Kelly and are not all that could be desired.

In the company rooms on the second floor a tasty lunch was served to the visitors by the members of the company. The last place inspected was the Phoenix Chemical house, on Upper Lackawanna avenue, which is in bad sanitary condition. There are three permanent men, Thomas Campbell, J. W. George and Lincoln Tillman, colored. They got their two horses and the chemical engine out of the house in sixteen and one-half seconds on the official test, but on a second trial reduced the time to thirteen seconds. Today the other fire department houses will be visited.

L. B. FINCH KILLED.

His Body Was Crushed Between a Car and a Wall at the Marine Vine Breaker.

Leander B. Finch, a well-known resident of Green Ridge, met death yesterday morning by an accident at the Marine vine breaker. Mr. Finch was in charge of a gang of men employed in lowering the tracks under the chutes at the breaker. The work had been completed and yesterday morning Mr. Finch and his men began the removal of the rubbish and finishing up the job. The chutes and a part of the breaker are supported by treating and this rests on stone wall foundations.

In lowering the tracks it was found necessary to replace the tracks closer to the stone foundation. Yesterday a car was run under the chutes to see whether or not it would clear the wall. The first car caught the wall and was blocked.

Mr. Finch gave orders that another car be run against the blocks and force it through. This was done and a part of Mr. Finch's clothing caught in the trestle and held him. The car came along under the chute and Mr. Finch was squeezed between the sides of the car and the stone wall. He was rolled almost eight feet, his body being terribly crushed.

REMOVAL OF THE BODY.

The workmen hastened and pulled the body from its position, but life was gone. Finch's features were awful to behold. The blood had been poured to the face until it was black, and the flesh appeared to be bursting.

The body was first removed to the breaker office and afterward to D. J. Elliott's residence, established a freed of North Main avenue. The undertaker's wagon removed the body to the residence, 1425 Capouse avenue, where a wife and little daughter received the remains.

Coroner Longstreet held an inquest upon examination that death was directly caused by the bursting of the sub-clavian artery in the left shoulder. The bone in breaking, cut the important vessel and it was this which caused the abnormal rush of blood to the head and face. The middle portions of Finch's body was crushed and every bone broken.

It was noteworthy that the one injury to the blood vessel was more deadly than all the other injuries. The jury will meet next Monday night to prepare a verdict.

The jurors are: W. G. Moser, Emerson J. Jones, A. J. J. Jones, J. S. Snydam, James Frable and Haydn Mitchell.

DRILLED IN A FIELD.

Second Battalion, Thirteenth Regiment, began drill last evening. The second battalion of the Thirteenth Regiment, Major F. B. Stillwell commanding, had a battalion drill last evening on the common at the northern end of Madison avenue.

Each of the four companies, A, B, C and D, were out. A. J. Jones and J. S. Snydam were their respective captains. The drill occupied nearly an hour's time. Skirmish and other field work was not attempted last night. There will be three similar drills before camp.

MAKING INROADS ON THE CIVIL LIST

Three Court Rooms in Session Again This Week.

VAN STORCH CASE STILL DRAGS ON

An Effort Was Made to Effect a Settlement Yesterday, but It Proved Futile—The "Sons of America" Case Is Up for Re-Trial Before Judge Searle—Judge Edwards Is Hearing the Case of the Arcade File Works Against T. F. Leonard.

Again this week, the three court rooms are being utilized for common pleas. Judge Archbald has the Von Storch case in the supreme court room; Judge Edwards is presiding in No. 1 and Judge D. W. Searle, of Montrose, is in No. 2.

None of the courts were able to get under way until the afternoon. No case could be gotten ready for No. 1 or No. 2, and in the Von Storch case a recess was taken for the purpose of settlement.

The matter of settlement was suggested by Judge Archbald at the opening of the case in the morning. Searle said the land in dispute was not worth the contention that is being made for it and as a matter of economy for the county and the parties involved he felt that an effort should be made to effect a compromise.

The lawyers agreed to get together but that is all they could agree to and when the hour for the afternoon session came around the trial was proceeded with.

The defense is still hammering away to prove the alleged trust and has a long string of witnesses yet to call. The plaintiffs have virtually not been heard from at all, having at the outset simply denied the trust. For this reason, how much testimony they will have to offer in rebuttal is possibly not even known to themselves at this time. When the case will be brought to a termination is therefore a mere matter of guess work. The most popular guess is that the case will continue all this week.

POINT AT ISSUE.

Nearly all the afternoon was spent in fighting over the point as to whether or not a declaration of ownership in the absence of the other contending party has any force. Judge Archbald had decided against it three or four times but yesterday when the defendants again raised it, he decided to consult the authorities and retired to his chambers to study the law. This is given as an instance of the progress that is being made.

The case of W. C. Tunstall against Joseph F. Baumeister and others was argued for retrial before Judge Searle in No. 2. J. Elliott, Robert Searle, the plaintiff and J. H. Hamilton and Joseph O'Brien for the defense. The defendants are all prominent members of the Patriotic Order Sons of America. In 1893 they began the publication of a monthly journal devoted to the interests of the order and known as the "Sons of America." It was printed at the plant of the Providence Register. After a short life the journal was discontinued. This is given as an instance of the progress that is being made.

At the time of the demise of the paper, the Sons of America company owned a printing bill to the Providence Register amounting to $240. For this Tunstall now sues. The defense alleges that J. U. Hopewell and not Tunstall was the owner of the paper and that full settlement was made with him by turning over to him the assets of the Sons of America consisting of about $600 in collectable subscriptions and advertising. Hopewell denies this, explaining that the paper and its assets were turned over to him with the understanding that he was to run it for the Sons of America. This is given as an instance of the progress that is being made.

THE FORMER TRIAL.

At the former trial of the case a verdict was secured for the plaintiff in the full amount of his claim. A new trial was granted by Judge Archbald on the ground that he erred in refusing to admit as evidence a card circulated by Hopewell in the county campaign announcing himself as a candidate for auditor and giving as one of his reasons for claiming the suffrage of the Republicans that he was the owner of a starch Republic paper, the Providence Register and had been for seven years.

Before Judge Edwards in the main court room the case of the Arcade File Works against T. F. Leonard is on trial. The plaintiff in the case is represented by James H. Torrey and Charles H. Welles; the defendant by S. B. Price and George S. Horn. The company seeks to recover for 1,000 dozen of files which it claimed Mr. Leonard ordered but refused to accept. Mr.

Leonard says that he is the aggrieved party. He ordered a certain make of files and wanted them as he expected the market price was about to go up. It went up as he expected, and instead of receiving the files he contracted for he received a letter from the company saying that it could not all the order owing to a rush of work and that they had instructed their agent to make all contracts subject to stock on hand. A voluntary non-suit was granted in the case of C. E. Battin against Spruks Bros. The case of Allan Price against E. G. Warden was reported settled.

BETTERLY AGAINST CHAPPEL.

In the case of A. E. Betterly against William Chappel, Judge Archbald denied the new trial requested by the plaintiff. George E. Patch applied for a new trial of his case against the city, which was decided against him last week. Patch and his wife, it will be recalled, were injured by reason of being thrown out of a carriage on the "Notch" road at a point where a ditch had been constructed by the city to turn off the water. One of the reasons given by Attorney Soper in his petition for a new trial was that Judge Lynch erred when he said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, excuse me, but this whole case hinges on the question of whether or not the water in that ditch was muddy. If it was clear the defendant could have seen the depth of the ditch and he would be guilty of contributory negligence in driving over it."

CHILD DEAD WHEN BORN.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Sue to Recover Damages for the Loss of Its Services—A Unique Case.

Whether or not parents can recover for loss of services of a still-born child, whose premature delivery was consequent upon the act of the defendant, is a question now before the local courts. It is claimed that, in New York state, in the case of Butler against the Manhattan Elevated Railroad company, the court of appeals decided, indirectly, that such recovery was possible, though in the case in question the plaintiff was unsuccessful.

The reason of the failure of the plaintiff was that the condition of the child precluded the possibility of determining, whether or not it would have had an earning power had it lived, and, if it was capable of earning, what its capacity would be.

In the local case these obstacles do not exist, the child having been delivered physically perfect, with the exception of life being extinct, and it is argued that the New York finding is per contra a decision in favor of the local case.

The case is that in which Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly and her husband, Thomas Kelly, are the plaintiffs and the Scranton Traction company the defendant. Mrs. Kelly boarded a car and was about to sit down when the motorman started the car with a jerk and she was thrown heavily upon the seat, with the consequences above indicated. She sues for suffering and debilitation, the husband claims for the loss of her services and both claim for loss of the services of the child.

The case was yesterday heard before Arbitrator C. E. Gardner, J. W. Walker and E. W. Thayer, attorneys I. H. Burns and C. L. Hawley appeared for the plaintiff and H. E. Hand for the company. Mr. Hawley, who made opening for his side, said that as far as could be learned the child features above was never before made in this state.
