TWO HOURS OF ENJOYMENT.

Blind Musicians John and Mary Mc-Coy at St. Rose Hall.

Two full hours of enjoyment were afforded the audience at St. Rose hall on Wednesday evening by the blind musicians, John and Mary McCoy. Every one was pleased by the talent they displayed. Miss McCoy's strong seprano voice and her perfect enunciation delighted all who heard her singing. Mr. McCoy sang among other solos "The Bells of St. Mary's," and his powerful baritone voice was very pleasing. The duets between the brother and sister were highly appreciated in the harmonious blending of their

The programme included comic and dialect recitations, also instrumental

Mr. McCoy extended sincere thanks to Rev. T. F. Coffey for many favors received, and was grateful for the free use of the hall. He said that meeting with many kind clergymen, he had found none kinder than the pastor of St. Rose parish.

Soutag-Martin Wedding.

Miss Teresa Sontag, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sontag, was married to P. J. Martin, of Park Place, on Wedesday afternoon at St. Rose church doubt the buying of bonds for the Fleetwood mill will be finished. The by Rev. J. J. Griffin. The bride was at-tended by Miss Charlotte Nagle, of Dundaff street. James J. Gorman, of South Main street, was the groom's best man. The bride and her maid were dressed in lavender gowns and carried bouquets of marchel neil roses. They presented a charming appearance. After the ceremony the bridal party rode to Olyphant and on their return held a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Martin are well known and esteemed in the community, They will reside on Canaan street.

Bicyclists at Hotel American.

Two young men, Benjamin F. and George Loper reached Carbondale soon after 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening. having, as they stated, left Philadelphia at 2 a. m., riding the entire distance to Carbondale on their bleycles. They showed by their weariness and sun burnt condition that their task had not been easy. Their cyclometers registered over 199 miles. The young men were bound for Bethany, Wayne county. They left this morning and will visit relatives, returning to Philadelphia next Saturday.

Fell Township School Board,

The township directors of the schools will hereafter hold the regular meetings of the board alternately at Simpson and Richmondale on the third Thursday of each month. At the meeting on Wednesday there were present Messrs. Lavin, Fitzpatrick, Kiefer, Dunn and Mooty. President Lavin appointed an auditing committee and director Mooty made suggestions in order to raise the standard of the schools and make them equal with any in the county. He desired well qualified teachers, harmony in the board and the enforcement of the school laws.

Demanded His Money.

After the picnic of the Brooklyn drum corps in Murdock's grove on Wednesday, Michael Connor, who acted as the treasurer of the affair, started for his home in Pike street. While on the way he was approached by a man unknown to him, who demanded the money. Mr. Connor drew his revolver and no further attempt of robbery was made, for the stranger quickly disappeared.

THE HINKLEYITES.

Something About an Odd Sect Located Near Binghamton. From the New York Herald.

One of the strangest sects in the United States, whose existence was until recently practically almost unknown, are the Hinkleyites, who occupy a small settlement among Pennsylvania's hills, a few miles from the New York State line, not far from the city of Binghamton. There, strange as it may seem in these hard times, money is a drug on the market, and yet the inhabitants are contented and happy. But it is doubtful, though, if all the money in the community were scraped together it' would foot up more than $10 at any one time. This peculiar settlement is known as Hinkley's Corners. It consists of a half dozen houses, a like number of barns and other outbuildings, and a frame structure used as a place of worship in cold weather. As long as the weather will permit, the religious rites of this strange sect are held in the open air, usually in a cave near the woods,

The history of this peculiar commun ity is a strange one. About thirty-five years ago a man named Hinkley began preaching a crusade in the city of had violated one of the principles upon which it was founded.

POLICE INTERFERED.

Hinkley's crusade was so much of : success, many prominent persons following his standard, that the police suddenly put a stop to the sacrifices, The result of this threat was to cause Hinkley and a few followers to emigrate to the mountains, there to start the peculiar settlement that exists today. While working about the farms the men wear ragged clothes that in the summer season scarcely cover their bodies, but on Saturdays, the day set apart for public worship, they don their best apparel. The services open with an invocation, the sacrifice having been previously prepared and laid on the altar. The fire is then lighted and If the smoke arises in a straight column, both men and women burst into songs of thanksgiving; but should the smoke hang in a cloud above the altar a weird, wailing song fills the air until the priest has replenished the fire, pripared a new offering, and the smoke ascends directly heavenward. FUNERALS AND WEDDINGS.

A strangely weird and solemn sight is a funeral among these strange people. The body is carried to its last resting place on a bier, the grave having previously been lined with straw, and into this the uncoffined remains are lowered. Each person in attendance then sprinkles a handful of earth on the corpse, all the while chanting the funeral hymn, and finally passing out of the graveyard, until only the sexton is left to complete the work of burying the dead.

A wedding is an unusually quiet affair. The contracting parties call upon the priest, who requires them to sign an agreement to live together as man and wife, and then performs a short ceremony, at the conclusion of which he pronounces the couple united. Then at the next funeral or on the next day of worship he announces the wedding, and the newly-married couple are accorded the rights usually bestowed upon man and wife-they are at liberty to purchase a farm, and the community will become security for the payment within five years. If at the end of that time the farm is not paid for the priest, who is the chief exe-cutive officer of the community, forecloses the claim, and the couple are obliged to separate and seek work where they can among their fellows.

HIS GENTLE REMINDER.

One Judge Who Whispered Something to the Attorney.

For the purpose of this tale it must be remembered that Judge Coffee has red hair, says the San Francisco Wave. Perhaps the shade is more properly termed "ginger," but then, a chevelure approaching rubesence ever dubbed red. Ex-Judge Bowers, a venerable jurist, who in early duys was a light of the superior bench, was arguing a law point of some importance before Judge Coffey. He has a trick of emphasizing his periods with an uplifted forefinger, and, after defining his views, ended up very solemnly: "I see around me many gray-haired lawyers, whose opinions, I have no doubt, agree with those I have just expressed to your honor-men whose snowy locks testify to-" At this juncture, Judge Coffey leaned over his deak, and in his mildest tones, interrupted: "I have no doubt you are right, Judge, and your deference to gray-haired men is very appropriate, but I'd like to remind you there's a red-headed man whose opinion is of most importance in this case."
