INTERESTING WEEK AT HARRISBURG

Knotty Problems That Will Confront Senator Matthew S. Ousy.

PROVIDING FOR THE DEFICIENCY

The Question of Wiping Out a Debt of $3,000,000, and at the Same Time Taking Care of Numerous ture -- Early Adjourment a Physical Impossibility.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Harrisburg, June 20.-Senator Quay is coming to town tomorrow night to dictate a policy which will get the legislature out of its present entanglement. The task before him is not a small one. The attempt to show that a deficiency in the state revenues does not exist her failed. The commonwealth is today $3,500,000 in debt. Quay must find some way of wipping this out, and at the same time getting cash enough to care for the numerous charities of the state. In addition to this he will have to again face the Pittsburg charter boomers and decide whether that city is to be given a new form of government.

ome of the leaders are intimating that they are preparing to adjourn July 1. This is considered a physical impossibility as there are only nine legislative days left. The Quayites are counted on reducing the school appropriation to $5,000,000 a year. This is meeting with the strongest kind of opposition in both branches. The debate on this proposition will at least take up a day. There will also be fights on the bills of the investigating and election committees. This is especially true of the Philadelphia "Lexow" appropriation, many of the members having prepared set speeches, The Grace church bill will cause another fight. Then owing to the scarcity of cash the appropriations committec will be forced to pare down all appropriations, and each of these bills will take more time in passing than is ordinarily the case. The necessity, therefore, of extending the session is apparent to most people, and it will probably be one of the things which Senator Quay will do. The "76" oppose an extension unless the Quay men furnish proof that they intend to raise sufficient revenue from proper sources to care for all charities. NATIONAL GUARD APPROPRIA-TION.

The proposition to decrease the appropriation to the National Guard and stance: dispense with the annual encampment will cause a fight. The soldier boys are willing to wait two years longer on an appropriation for dress uniforms, but they will not agree to be deprived of their summer outing. Adjutant General Stewart says the Guard was never in better shape and that it would be a great mistake to reduce the appropriation. The officers and men are working in perfect harmony all over scaled down the membership will be Governor Hastings has approved a

There are many acts of land granted by the comme. ealth years ago on which there is still due the state purchase money, interest and fees.
