DOWN GO THE GRAYS.

Miners Gave Harper Superb Backing, and Won in the Last Inning of Game.

The Miners yesterday made it three straight from Providence and bagged the fifth game out of six played since the return from the mournful trip up north. Although Egan, the Providence pitcher, was hit with surprising regularity after the initial inning, he prevented any bunching excepting the proper time, and poor fielding and base third and up to the ninth and running were responsible for the defeat and it was not until that inning that of the Barons, Score: the Miners had the game safe. The Grays led until the fifth when the Miners tied the tally. They put one in velvet in the seventh and in the ninth batted in four runs on two doubles and a single, aided and abetted by a hit-by-pitcher and an error by Cooney. Harper attended to the pitching end of the game for the Miners and permitted only three hits after the third inning, but he was found for seven a told and presented bases on balls with nerve-racking generosity at time when the Grayc were prevented from scoring by the fastest of fast field wor and good luck.

In but few if any games at Athleti Park this season has a pitcher bee better supported than was Harper yes terday and in but few games have th Miners pulled themselves out of tighte Massey, Beard, Bonner an O'Brien in his one chance did phenom enal work in the field and Bonne took the bouquets for fast base running and timely hitting.

THE STRUGGLE BEGINS.

The Miners were first at bat and with O'Brien out Walters and Beard got on the circuit on errors by Welgand and Drauby. Eagan flew out to Coogan, advancing the two runners each a base, Bonner was retired at first. For the Grays Weigand hit a lucky one directly in front of the plate and not even an attempt could be made to assist him out. He reached second on Basset's hit and scored on Knight's triple to left Drauby singled Knight home, but was the starting point of a double play by Bonner, Beard and Massey on Cooney's force hit. Score, 9-2.

In the second Massey singled, but was flagged at second. Maguire put one down the left line for two bases, but Gunson and Harper flew out. the Providence half, Lyons singled and Coogan sacrificed. Dixon hit a warm one which Maguire juggled and wound up with a high throw to first, but Massey jumped in the air and made a onehand out. Lyons had wandered off third and toward home and attempted to score on Massey's return of the ball to Maguire, but the latter snapped it in to Gunson and Lyons was made the fag end of a neat double play.

With one hand out in the third, sin gles by Walters and Beard, Eagan's fly to right and Bonner's two-bases over third brought in two tallies and tied the score. The Grays made one in their half and with two out. Harper gave walks to Bassett and Knight and Drauby singled. Bassett scored on the hit which Eagan let go through him and Knight took leg bail for home or the error, but Walters had backed Peter and assited the ball to Beard who in turn got it to Gunson in time to nlp Knight at the plate. Score, 2-3.

THREE ON BASES.

Maguire singled in the fourth. After Gunson had sacrificed and Harper had fanned the bases filled O'Brien's single and a walk to Walters, but the side retired on Beard's fly to Knight. The Grays got three on bases in their half on a walk, a sacrifice, another walk, Dixon's life and a hit by pitcher, but Weigand had the third strike called on him.

Eagan's triple to left and Bonner's fly to centre brought in a run and tied the score in the fifth. A base on balls with two out was all that the Grays obtained in their half. Score, 3-3.

In the sixth Gunson singled and Harper sacrificed, but O'Brien forced Gunson at third and Waiters fouled to Bas sett. The Grays went down one, two,

Beard led off with a two-baser in th seventh, got a base on Engan's life and scored on Bonner's single to right. Massey singled Bonner to third, where he was thrown out by Eagan, and Maguire flew out to Knight. An outfield fly and two assists to Massey disposed of the Champs. Score 4-3.

It is hard to understand how two doubles don't make a run but that is what happened in the eighth. With Gunson out, Harper hit to left center for two sacks and O'Brien hit a high fly to short left center. Lyons, Cooney and Weigand went for it but let it fall and Weigand went for it but let it fall among them. Harper going to third and O'Brien sliding for his second base on the hit. Walters forced Harper in a tag; between third and the plate and Foard flew out to Drauby. For Provi-

was forced by Drauby and the latter by Cooney. Lyons went out on a diner

FOUR IN THE NINTH.

The Miners opened the ninth with good luck. Eagan was hit by a pitch-ed ball and Coopey made a miscue on Honner's grounder, Peter going to third and Bonner to second. Massey hit to right for two bases, scoring Peter and advancing Bonner to third. Maguire's two baser to left brought Bonner and Massey in. Gunson fouled Win Yesterday -- The Three Games out to Knight. Maguire went to third

With one out in the Champs' half, Dixon hit one over Eagan's head for three bases and scored during Bonner's fumble of Egan's grounder. Weigand feuled to Massey and Egan was

JUMPED THE TEAM.

Brott, of the Wilkes-Barre Ball Club Didn't Like Criticism. Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Wilkes-Barre, June 23.-Centerfielder Brott, who writes "M. D." after his name, jumped the Wilkes-Barrre Eastern league base ball club tonight and left for his home at Waterloo, Ohio, In the eighth inning of today's game with Springfield with one out Brott was on first and Manville on third. Bottenus went out on a fly to right field and Manville would have tied the score, but Brott tried to make second and was thrown out by Scheffler. Brott's poor base-running lost a chance to tie the score and possibly lost Wilkes-Barre the game.

He was criticised after the game and on that account decided to quit the business. He left here, bag and baggage, on the midnight Lehigh Valley train and with nearly $50 salary due him. He had two hemorrhages of the good condition since.

BOXING IN BELLEVUE.

Number of Ring Events in the Tourney of the Arlington Athletic Club.

A crowd of nearly one hundred sports, a number of them from the central city, witnessed a series of boxing bouts under the auspices of the Arlington Athletic club in Golden's hall, Bellevue, last night. The only good event was between Bartly Mangan and Henry Woods, of Bellevue, but theirs was of the exhibition order for three rounds and with the understanding that there would be no decision.

John Tighe, of the South Side, was referee and John Barrett, of Bellevue, time-keeper. The Arlington club officers who managed the affair were John Malloy, president; Michael Rogan, secretary; and Michael Golden treasurer. All the bouts were of three rounds duration and were marked by slugging and the tender ages of the contestants. The first event was between John Nallin, of the flats, and John Dunleavy, of the West Side Athletic club. They were 110-pound lads and boxed three rounds. Nallin, though the shorter and with a disadvantage in reach forced matters in the first two rounds. It was a victous fight. In the final round Dunleavy met Nallin's rushes and landed several right swings on the body and head. Both were weak at the finish and the bout was declared a draw.

John Sheridan and Patrick Ford, 110pound youngsters of Bellevue, met in a three-round go and each put up as fast an argument as was witnessed in the preceding bout. It was a punching exhibition in which the better boxing of Ford was balanced by Sheridan's greater weight and reach. Ford drew first blood in the third round. They were unwilling to box an extra round for a decision and Referee Tighe declared it a draw.

MALLOY-M'LOUGHLIN BOUT. The next pair, William McLoughlin, of the West Side, and Patrick Mallov, rounds. Malloy is a brother of the Malloy who was nearly put out by Tighe in Music Hall Monday night. He had a little science at his command, while McLoughlin had none, but he was a strong, husky boy and gave Malloy a hard battle. The latter did most of the leading in the last round and got the

Patrick Sheridan, of the Arlingtons and Thomas Ruddy, of the West Side Athletic club, met at 118 pounds. Sheri-dan showed a very fair knowledge of the game and outclassed Ruddy a mile They tapped one another in a fashion which made it plain that they were fondling each other. An inebriated spectator began singing "Comrades," but it did not encourage the pair to any faster work. In the second round Sheridan hit Ruddy at will, but purposely avoided many chances to finish him. Claret was flowing from Ruddy's nose before the round closed. In the final round Sheridan warmed up a little and after shoving his right into Ruddy's face several times the latter said: "That's enough," and the bout was ended by the referee and given to

By far the best event of the night was that between Henry Woods, of Bellevue, and Bartley Mangan, of the Arlington club. They were very evenly matched at 140 pounds and boxed three Theirs was an exhibition event and concluded the entertainment.

He owned a large tract of land, on which he lived, and was seldom seen away from it. He had lived alone for many years, and subsisted upon what he raised from the land. His abode consisted of one room, in which were stored all kinds of trash.

When searched over two thousand dollars in gold and bank bills were found in different places. Besides this it is said he possessed mortgages amounting to $5,000 or more. He was 80 years of age, and his death was due to lack of nourishment.

MEETING OF VETERANS.

Survivors of the 17th Pennsylvania Cavalry Elect Officers.

Gettysburg. Pa., June 23.-The survivors of the Seventeenth Pennsylvania cavalry held their annual meeting here today. The address was made by Adjutant J. A. Clarke, of Washington. The following officers were chosen: Colonel Coe Durland, of Honesdale, president; William Thompson, Pottsville, vice president; James A. Clark, Laurel, Md., treasurer, and Harry G. Bonebrake, Waynesboro, Po., secre-
