CITY NOTES.

There will be a band concert at the Country club this evening.

The Universalists will hold a birthday social at the chapel on Friday evening, June 25.

The excursion of the Union Veterans' union goes to Lake Ariel Saturday. It promises to be largely attended.

An ice cream and strawberry festival will be held in the parlors of the Green Ridge Presbyterian church this evening.

John Brown, of the West Side, was arrested for riding on a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train and was fined $5 by Alderman Millar.

John Enanuel is charged with stealing a horse in Newton township. Justice of the Peace Nicholas sent him to the county jail yesterday on that charge.

Do not forget the strawberry social at the Young Women's Christian association rooms Friday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock. A new kind of shortcake will be served.

There will be Union Bible class for the study of the Sunday school lesson this evening at 7:45 in Grace Reformed church, Topic, "The Review." At the close of the lesson there will be a talk on "The Dispensation," with a chart. All are cordially invited.

One of the greatest amateur base ball games of the season will take place in Athletic park this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock between the St. Thomas' college and the Lackawanna base ball teams. Each team has a vast number of admirers and it is expected that a large crowd will be in attendance at the game, as a great number of tickets are already disposed of.

This evening the Woman's Relief corps, No. 56, will celebrate its eleventh anniversary by giving a free entertainment in the parlors of the First National bank on Lackawanna avenue, to which the general public is invited. The programme: Piano solo, Miss Bertha Conger; address, Mrs. Ioni Walters; recitation, Mrs. Nellie Shelton; song, Mrs. Eva M. Burgess; recitation, Mrs. Lizzie Whitmore; vocal solo, Mrs. Ada Von Storch; banjo solo, Mrs. Lizzie Warner; recitation, Mrs. Bertha Caulkins; vocal solo, Mrs. Rachel Hall.

CAN ONLY COLLECT THE COSTS.

Judge Archbald Handed Down Yesterday.

Judge Archbald handed down an opinion yesterday in the case of the commonwealth against Joseph Greenburg and Jacob Suravitz, rule to open cannot collect the full amount of the fund in a criminal action and was directed to pay the costs. He afterwards claimed the benefit of the insolvency act and Suravitz became his bondsman. Later the insolvency proceedings were dismissed and suit was begun on the bond to recover. Judge Archbald holds that the county bond $200, but only the sum of $50, the costs owed, and directed that the judgment be modified to correspond to that view of the case.

whereby it is proposed to increase the revenue of the order that there may be a reserve on hand from now on when the risks are becoming greater as the members are growing older.

Before branching out on his "shop talk," Mr. Langfit said a number of incidental things, for instance, referring to Arcanum day he held it was more momentous than the queen's jubilee for it was the jubilee of 20,000 American kings.

Mr. Colborn next spoke. He took for his theme "Virtue, Mercy, Charity," the watchwords of the Royal Arcanum and about them built one of the very best speeches he has yet heard to deliver. In substance he said:

MR. COLBORN'S SPEECH.

Strange indeed has been the way in which man has trodden in his march to the front in all his achievements; stranger still has been his exodus from the bondage of oppression, ignorance and superstition, and his gradual wandering toward the Canaan of enfranchised humanity. He has not yet entered that land, but he is so near its borders that, standing on the mountain top of expectant vision, he can trace its landscapes of marvelous beauty, and exult in the prospect which stretches before him. Nay, more, his adventurous spirit has crossed over and brought back some of the fruits which grow in fertile soil. There have been seas and deserts to cross in the march, but there have also been the smitten rock and the heaven-sent manna. There have been valleys of shadows, but also peaks of cheering outlook, occasional defects and retreats, but steady and glorious progress has ever been made.

How dark the period of human history when, impelled by the fiercest of his own nature or the force of circumstances, every man was an Ishmaelite; his hand against every man and every man's hand against him. It was an era of robbery and cruelty. The City of Refuge was the only shelter from the hot anger of the blood avenger. The spear of Goliath and the club of Hercules were symbols of the power most generally recognized and respected among men. The brigand of the mountain took lawless tribute from the toilers of the plain. Booty was raised for war, and victory was license for every cruelty. Violence ruled in the earth, and pity knew not yet born. Virtue, mercy and charity were unknown. Another impulse, after years of darkness, acted upon the hearts and minds of men. Social institutions and personal aspirations began to change the old world, recognizing a new birth of time, revised its chronology, and no longer counted its years from the beginning of time, but made anno domini the beginning of its dates.

CHANGED THE WORLD'S THOUGHT.

The ministry of "Jesus of Nazareth," the lowly-born, illiterate carpenter, beginning in the midst of sinners, continuing in an incessant storm of persecution and slander, and crowned in blood after three short years, was able to change the current of the world's thought, hope and conduct for all subsequent time. It is long before the new civilization was a sturdier and efficient among the masses before the world lacked the song of heaven, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will unto all."

History, art science—in all these men have made wonderful progress. Fate would be too greatly taxed were I to recite the struggles, to enumerate the trophies, or catalogue the hosts of illustrious leaders in this onward march. Men have given their lives that they might bring the light of their lanterns into the darkest recesses that enveloped the mysteries of nature. Martyrs have paid the same great price to scale the walls of heaven, that, deeper look into the infinite realms of space. Scholar, scientist, historian, inventor, lawyer, teacher, physician, and minister, all have made their own way, fulfilled the mission in life by which they have given their fellowmen a relation before unknown, a remedy for the body, or a tonic for the soul, a better way of living, or a relief for any of the glorious army of benefactors to mankind.

In every path of life, in every industrial pursuit and professional walk, there are truths to be discovered, harmonies to be brought, sufferings to be relieved, and work to be done for our fellow-men. God has written upon every flower that sweetens the air, upon every breeze that sways the flower on the stem, upon the rain-drops that fall and refresh the smallest blade of grass, upon the mighty ocean that defies the power of man, upon every pointed shell that sleeps in the caverns of the fathomless deep, upon the blazing sun that warms the millions of creatures of earth, upon the stars that hold their carnival around the throne of night, upon every bright form of beauty presented to our view, upon all He has written—"no one liveth to himself alone." We must bear each other's burdens if we would fulfill the highest duty of man. Our fraternity is the foe of selfishness. We must not keep all the means, thought and kind words about our fellow-men sealed until he is dead and then pour them over his coffin, leaving him poor through life with scarcely one bright, cheerful, encouraging, hopeful word.

CHEERFULNESS A VIRTUE

There is no greater every-day virtue than cheerfulfulness. As well might fogs that vapors hope to cling to the sun-illumined landscape, as despair and moroseness to smiles and kindly cheer. Our influence should be felt for good wherever we are, and our smiles be scattered like sunbeams all along our way. They are cheap things to be fraught with so many blessings, they are the emotions of the soul to the higher and better responses of nature. The greatest battles are not always fought with sabre and cannon; they are won by wearers of shoulder-straps. Every man's life is a battle ground; every man's life is a record of unpublished victories and defeats. The past is but one great record of what has been and an intimation of what can be. The achievements of the ages gone before—the wisdom, the learning, the discoveries, the progress man has made in helping his fellow-man, the thousands of noble lives that have been filled with the humility of good ideas and gentle affections, all continue to form one vast, high pyramid upon whose lofty summit it is ours to build for the welfare of humanity so that we may leave the pyramid still tending further heavenward.

CONCERT BY THE BANDS.

S. V. Trent, of Phillipsburg, another gifted member of the order, was to have delivered an address, but was compelled to disappoint the committee at the last moment. A concert by the combined bands concluded the exercises. The excursionists left the grounds at 6:30 o'clock, after a day of rarest pleasure, unmarred by accident or detention of any kind.

Those to whom the success of the affair is due are the following, who composed the committee of arrangements: Executive committee—E. M. Barnes, chairman, White Haven, Pa.; Thomas J. Sharpe, secretary, Mountain Top, Pa.; H. J. Spruks, treasurer, Scranton, Pa.; William F. Dodge, Wilkes-Barre; H. C. Linderman, Archbald; E. P. Hemminger, Scranton; G. Hewitt, Scranton; W. Young, Pittston; George P. Ross, Honesdale; A. E. Vorhis, Scranton; H. S. Day, Ashley; J. Neilligan, Mountain Top; N. C. Clynner, White Haven; R. E. Byle, Dorranceton; John Copeland, Carbondale; J. G. Torborg, Wilkes-Barre.

Transportation committee—Jacob Brong, chairman, Mountain Top, Pa.; W. A. Brong, A. E. Vorhis, Scranton; William F. Dodge, Wilkes-Barre; Refreshment committee—William F. Dodge, chairman, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; William L. Spruce, Wilkes-Barre; James P. Murry, Wilkes-Barre. Music committee—Elias M. Jones, chairman, Scranton, Pa.; R. J. Bauer, Scranton; William F. Dodge, Wilkes-Barre.

Reception committee—A. J. Colborn, chairman, Scranton, Pa.; F. W. Martin, Scranton; Arthur L. Collins, Scranton; William F. Dodge, Wilkes-Barre; C. G. Boland, Scranton; John J. Davies, Scranton.

Press and advertising committee—A. E. Vorhis, chairman, Scranton, Pa.; J. McCaffrey, Scranton; Press Reporter, Wilkes-Barre; J. H. Hughes, Wilkes-Barre; George P. Ross, Honesdale; Jacob Brong, Mountain Top; A. J. Key, Wilkes-Barre; Henry G. Galt, Archbald; W. D. Evans, Carbondale.

Souvenirs of the day containing half tone portraits of the following officers of different councils represented and grand officers and interesting information concerning the order, were distributed on the grounds. They were compiled by A. E. Vorhis, chairman of the press committee and printed in The Tribune.

E. M. BARNES, Chairman of the General Committee in Charge of Celebration.

HIS WATCH STOLEN.

Controlled Shires Lost It While Returning from Jubilee Celebration.

School Controller George Shires of the First ward attended the Queen's jubilee celebration at Farview Tuesday, and in returning left the train at the Providence station of the Delaware and Hudson company. While being jostled in the crowd on the station platform he felt someone tugging at his waistcoat pocket and a moment later discovered that his watch was gone. Telegrams were sent to stations all along the line asking that a sharp lookout be kept for the thief, but up to this time he has not been heard from.

THE PUPILS' RECITAL.

Was Held in the School of Music Tuesday Night.

The pupils' recital at the Thiele School of Music Tuesday evening was a brilliant affair. Mrs. C. W. Randall, Miss Helser and F. Cromwell Hand were the vocalists of the evening. Jesse Snover, William Allen and Master Albert Moses gave violin selections, and Master Edmund Thiele, John O'Malley, John Hunter Meister and Miss Gertrude Moses showed remarkable cleverness on the piano.

The work of the pupils in every instance was creditable to the teaching of Mr. and Mrs. Thiele.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE DAY IN COURT

All of the Evidence in the Von Storch Case Has Been Heard.

ARGUMENTS WILL BE MADE TODAY

In Criminal Court a Number of Cases of Minor Importance Were Disposed of Before Judge Gunster and Edwards--When Court Adjourned for the Day Bramin Green, an Old Soldier, Was on Trial in the Main Court Room.

The Von Storch ejectment suit was resumed yesterday morning before Judge Archbald in the superior court room. It was continued last Saturday until yesterday because Judge Archbald had to spend Monday and Tuesday at Lock Haven. When the trial of the case was resumed yesterday the deposition of William Von Storch, the plaintiff, was read. It is a very lengthy document, containing about 30,000 words, enough to fill thirty columns of the Tribune. Mr. Von Storch is ill and was unable to attend the trial. His deposition was therefore taken at his home and read for the benefit of the jury yesterday.

Ambrose Mully testified that he rented a barn which stood in the rear of Currittton Von Storch's residence from William Von Storch and paid him the rent. He did not know Currittton Von Storch in the transaction. The evidence of the plaintiff in rebuttal closed with Mr. Mully's testimony. In sur-rebuttal the defense called Currittton, Robert and Leander Von Storch, who contradicted the evidence offered on the part of the plaintiff in a number of particulars. Currittton Von Storch testified that before the barn was rented to Ambrose Mully, William Von Storch came to him and secured his permission to rent the structure. With the testimony of these witnesses the attorneys on both sides announced that all of their testimony was in and Judge Archbald declared that portion of the case closed.

Today the arguments to the jury will be made and afterwards will come the charge of the court. It is not probable that the case will be given to the jury for consideration before Friday. It has been very ably tried and will long be notable in legal circles of the county for the brilliant array of counsel of each side with which every step during the trial was fought.

IN CRIMINAL COURT.

Martin McGarrig, who was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before Judge Edwards on charges of larceny and receiving, pointing the finger at a certain concealed warehouse yesterday afternoon declared not guilty of larceny and receiving. In the other two cases the costs were equally divided between the defendant and prosecutor, Michael Myonstky. The case was given to the jury about 1 o'clock.

Peter Rola was charged by Michael Breza with felonious wounding but after the jury heard the evidence they cut the grade of the crime down to aggravated assault and battery, of which they said Rola was guilty. Both men live in Barbartown.

Joseph Kinopek, of Old Forge, was thrown out of a house at that place one Sunday last spring and was badly bruised. He accused Clemons Veroski of doing the throwing but when the case was heard yesterday he was unable to establish fully that it was Veroski who threw him out and a verdict of not guilty was returned.

Constable J. P. Woelkers was the prosecutor in a case against Charles F. Crossman, of the South Side, who was charged with immoral conduct. The real prosecutor in the case was Maggie McHugh but she failed to appear and a verdict of not guilty was taken and the costs placed on Maggie. When court adjourned for the day in No. 2 Michael Pennell was on trial for cutting Joseph Delagando on the arm and finger with a knife in a house on Ninth street a year ago last Palm Sunday. Attorney T. P. Duffy assisted Mr. Thomas of the district attorney's office in prosecuting the case and the defendant was represented by Attorney E. W. Thayer. When court adjourned evidence on the part of the defense was being heard. It is alleged that Pennell acted in self-defense. He claims that he was attacked by Delagando and to protect himself was compelled to use a knife.

BEFORE JUDGE GUNSTER.

In the main court room Tuesday afternoon the case of the commonwealth against Christopher Anthony, charged with feloniously wounding Edward E. Davis, was heard. It is alleged that Anthony acted in self-defense. He claims that he was attacked by Delagando and to protect himself was compelled to use a knife.

planned Patrick McPeak, Mr. Conway denied guilty to selling liquor with- out a license and verdict of not guilty were taken in the other two cases. Patrick McPeak, Jr., of Old Forge, was tried for throwing stones at James Ford. Both are mere boys. The jury said not guilty and divided the costs.

Bramin Green, a man 50 years of age, who served in the late war, was called to answer a charge of having criminally assaulted 15-year-old Maggie Jones, of the West Side. She charges that on three different occasions, Feb. 12, 15 and 18, he assaulted her. The offenses she said were committed in the house of her aunt on Keyser avenue, with whom she lives and in the house of Mrs. Timmins, a neighbor, with whom Green boarded. The girl is small for her age and has been motherless for several years. Her father and his five children live with the aunt of the children, Mrs. Roland, of Keyser avenue. Dr. Carroll, the family physician, testified that the girl is in a delicate condition. The district attorney is assisted in trying the case by Attorney O. R. Partridge and Attorney John F. Scragg appears for the defendant.

THREE SIDED DEFENSE.

The defense is of a three-sided character. It is alleged that the action against Green was actuated by spite because of some trouble he had with the Jones; that the real offender is a 16-year-old Eugene Sullivan, a neighbor of the Jones, with whom the girl has been on intimate terms for a year past; that Green's condition is such that he could not have committed the offense charged.

One of the witnesses called by the defense was young Sullivan, who refused to answer questions asked by Mr. Scragg concerning his relations with the girl on the ground that he might criminate himself. The case will be resumed this morning.
