It was one of the most artistic recitals ever given in Scranton, All of the in-dividual selections were test pieces and they were rendered with excellent technique, smooth phrasing and noticeable musical feeling. The plane numbers were executed from memory with good repose. Miss Mabel Rennie gave three organ selections, all of which were difficult, but she handled them with the hand of a master, showing unusual talent. Mr. Chance is surely an exceptionally fine teacher and he has every reason to be proud of his pupils and their work. Messrs. Croft and Dryer ably assisted by giving the song numbers in splendid voice and style, Following is the programme as per-

A successful concert given by the stu-dents of the Thicle School of Music, took place last Tuesday evening. The pro-gramme was chiefly made up of composers, whose names are never absent from ers, whose names are never absent from a programme representing good music, and the pupils, big and little, beginners and advanced, played and sang their numbers worthy of a public performance. The chief and necessary branches of a school of music, piano, violin and the voice were most creditable represented. voice, were most creditably represented by some advanced pupils. Taking it all in all, it was a students' concert which would have done honor to any of our prominent schools of music in our large cities. Speaking of prominent schools why could not Scranton have a school of music on a large scale, where music, pure and simple, and strict and honest teaching would be its sole purpose? Surely we have good teachers among us and few cities of the size of Scranton can bring forth teachers and performers like. Mr and Mrs. Thiele, who, before they came to us, taught at one of the finest conservatories of music in New York cliy, and who have always been connected with the greatest artists. If some of our wealthy musical people who desire to see Scranton take her place among other musical cities, would substantially interest themselves and thereby bring about a faculty composed of these teach about a faculty composed of these teachers, and our old resident teachers, we would have a conservatory of music to which we could point with the greatest of pride. This students' concert, which reflects the utmost credit on the teachers, and which gave unbounded pleasure to the parents of the pupils and in ted guests, too, is only an evidence of what could be accomplished on a grander scale with greater resources, The praise-deserving pupils were; Mrz. C. W. Randall, Miss Elizabeth Heiser, Boprano; Mr. F. Cromwell Hand, barttone, Mr. William Allen, Mr. Jesse Snov-er, Mr. Albert Moses, violin; Mr. John O'Malley, Master John Hintermeister Mr. Edmund Thiele, Miss Gertle Moses, piano, including string orchestra.

The strife which has at times convulsed the Handel and Haydn society, one of the best known of Boston's musical organizations, since the resignation of Carl Zerwarded with a catchers outfit, mask rahn, two years ago, culminated at the meeting of the board of government this week. By a vote of 9 to 4 Mr. Zerrahn was asked to resume the conductorship of the society, and as a result President E. B. Hagar, Vice President G. F. Dan-iels and C. W. Stone announced their in-tention to resign. Zerrahn's only rival for the position of conductor was B. J. Lang, who has led the society for the past two sensons. Mr. Zerrahn is now traveling in Europe, but it is more than likely that he will accept the invitation to lead the society once more. Before his withdrawal he had been the conductor for forty-one seasons. Then some of the directors became dissatisfied and his resignation was asked for and accepted.

Lackawannas Capture Third Prize. It Was a Lively Fight, and During the Closing Days Was Rendered Delightfully Uncertain by the Leading Clubs Forming Combinations. Pandemonium Broke Loose When the Result Was Announced.

When the court house bell struck 9 o'clock last night there was more noise to the square inch in front of the Tribune building on Washington avenue than that particularly lively portion of the city's liveliest street possibly ever before witnessed. It was in the shape of cheering, yelling, and whistling and was all caused by the announcement of the result of the Tribune's amateur base ball club contest. The Sliders won. For the past two weeks the indications pointed to their being the victors and yesterday they had such a clean lead that they were confident they would bear off the coveted first prize. Their friends and hundreds of others who have followed the contest with interest were on hand to see the finish and when the announcement came that the uniforms were theirs they let their enthusiasm loose in large chunks and for a time there was an ear splitting burst of

to be made by C. M. Florey, the Wyoming avenue sporting goods dealer, and to be equal in every respect to uniforms worn by the professional clubs warded with a catchers outfit, mask, pad and glove, all of the best make. The third prize which goes to the Lackawannas is three Louisville and half a dozen league balls.

Over twenty clubs started in the contest when it began a little over two months ago, but as time rolled on the tail-enders lost heart and in a months time the fight simmered down to a struggle among the Sliders, Browns, Lackawannas and Harmonies. Three weeks ago it was anybody's race, one club leading one day and another the lans among your amateur ball tossers commenced working combinations and for the last two weeks the fight has been between two clubs, the Sliders ing "snooks" with the former and the Harmonies becoming allies of their neighbors, the Browns.
