EASTERN LEAGUE BASE BALL GAMES

Only Two Games Were Played by the Clubs of the Circuit Yesterday.

SCRANTON DOWNS WILKES-BARRE

It Required Ten Innings to Do the Trick--The Miners Pulled themselves Together at the Finish, After an Exhibition of Rather Indifferent Playing--Buffalo Defeated Syracuse and is Now Tied with it for First Place.

Only two games were played in the Eastern league yesterday. Scranton defeated Wilkes-Barre in this city and Buffalo defeated Syracuse on the latter's grounds.

TEN INNINGS.

Miners Win in the Last Gasp from Wilkes-Barre--A Very Fast Finish.

The Miners were a little off their feed again yesterday and narrowly missed defeat by Wilkes-Barre. The result was otherwise, but it required ten innings for Grillon's men to do the trick and after the Wilkes-Barre had missed many a chance to bag the game. The visitors made a ticklish base in the final half.

Gillon was on the rubber for the Miners and earned every penny of his salary. He was at times poorly supported and occasionally was well supported, but the particular credit for the victory goes to the diminutive pitcher. Keenan was in the box for the Wilkes-Barreans and though he was touched twelve times for eight bases he kept the hitting distributed up to the tenth inning, when, with the score 4-4 a double by Bonner and Massey's single developed the winning run. Maguire followed with a three-baser, but Massey had been put out at second in an attempt to take a base too many on his single and in consequence the Miners won by only the narrow margin of one tally as Boyd and Gillon, the next two up, were easy outs at first.

McMahon, Smith and Goeckel gave Keenan the kind of backing one reads about or the Miners might have accomplished their object in nine innings.

CASEY, THE UMPIRE.
There was no umpire present, and Casey, of the Toronto club, which reached the city early in the morning, was agreed upon to adjudicate and to incidentally earn five dollars. Casey did his work well. The crowd could hardly be distinguished as such, for not more than 200 of the faithful were within the gates. They witnessed, however, an intensely interesting game.

A hit by Walters and a like offense by Shannon was all that developed for either side in the first inning.

In the second Bonner scratched a single, thanks to Betts' misjudgment, but Massey flew out to Goeckel. Maguire forced Bonner and Boyd flew out to center. Wilkes-Barre made cleaner connections, but no runs. With two out Smith walked. McMahon hit a grounder that should have forced Smith, but Bonner fumbled it and the two runners were safe. Keenan forced McMahon.

The Miners drew first blood in the third on Gillon's single, scratched over second to short right field, O'Brien's sacrifice and Walters' single. Beard forced Walters and Meaney got a pass. With two on bases Bonner popped an easy fly to Diggins, which hit O'Brien in the baron's half, with two out, an unearned run was scored on Beard's miss of Betts' grounder, which put the latter on second, from where he scored on Goeckel's single. Odwell was retired at first. Score, 1-1.

TWO SCRANTON RUNS.

Masley hit a warm liner to Smith in the fourth, but was thrown out at first. Shannon fumbled Maguire's grounder and then threw wild to first, Maguire reaching second, coming home on Gillon's double to right center after Boyd had fouled to Goeckel. O'Brien hit a safe one in front of the plate, advancing Gillon to third. O'Brien stole safely. A fourth wide ball to Walters was a passed ball, on which Gillon scored and O'Brien went to third. Beard flew out to Betts.

With two out again and in their last half the Miners earned one on McMahon's double and a single by Keenan. Score, 2-2.

In the fifth, with Meaney and Bonner disposed of on outfield flies, Massey slammed another at Smith and reached first before McMahon could attempt to field the ball. It had hit Smith in the chin and had jarred that player's anatomy to quite a considerable extent. Bill stole second, but was forced by Boyd at third. Shannon opened with a single for Wilkes-Barre. He was forced by Betts and the latter was tagged in an attempt to steal. Goeckel flew out to Meaney.

Gillon, O'Brien and Walters were consecutively disposed of in the sixth. The Barons tied the score in their half. Odwell singled, was sacrificed to second and came in on Smith's two-baser to right center. McMahon was retired at first on Beard's good assist and Keenan flew out to Walters. Score, 3-3.

TIED AGAIN.

Each side tallied one in the seventh. After Beard was out to Botenno, Meaney singled and scored on Bonner's triple down the right line. Massey was out at first and Maguire fanned. Shannon's triple and Goeckel's single tied the score, 4-4.

In the eighth and ninth the Miners went down one-two-three. The Barons were likewise treated in the eighth.

In the ninth, with one out, Botenno reached second on Massey's missed grounder, but the next two, Shannon and Betts, were unequal to the emergency and were retired at first and on an outfield fly.

After the Miners had obtained the winning tally on Bonner's double and Massey's single in the first of the tenth, the Barons worked up a score. Goeckel was retired at first. Odwell hit a grounder to Bonner, but Massey nuffed the assist. Diggins flew out to Maguire and Smith singled Odwell to second. McMahon was next up. A single would have tied the score and a double would have won the game, but the double McMahon could do was to hit an easy fly to O'Brien and that ended the game with two on bases.

Minerney Hit Hard.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 7.—There was no umpire on hand here today and Captain Field, of Buffalo, agreed to umpire and Mason. When the team got on the field, however, Manager Howe had Field object to Mason on the ground that he was not a member of the Syracuse team. Mason held the watch on the Bisons and when they did not come to time, gave the game to Syracuse by a score of 9 to 6. At 4 o'clock Rowe agreed to play with Kissinger in Mason's place. Buffalo knocked Malarkey out of the box in the second. Willis and Brown were substituted and they did excellent work. Score: SYRACUSE, 9; BUFFALO, 6.

BALTIMORES TO GLOBE TROT.

Will Go to Mexico at the End of the Season.

The Baltimore players are discussing a proposed trip through Mexico after the championship of the league. To have the Orioles and an "All-American" team play a series of exhibition games through the west and afterward four Mexico. Manager Boncroft, of Cincinnati, has been asked to manage the "All-American" team and will probably give a favorable answer. The All-American team will be the pick of the league players who are willing to make the trip. A number of prominent players have expressed their willingness to go and several members of the Boston team have already posted forfeits which are provided for in order to guard against the collapse of the scheme. The start will be made from Baltimore and the first game is scheduled for Cincinnati. Games will be played in St. Louis and Kansas City, after which the team will leave for the City of Mexico. President Diaz has consented to act as a member of a cooperative committee and the series will as a consequence become a society function in the Mexican capital. Manager Hanlon thinks that this alone will insure the financial success of the trip. The tour will be conducted on a cooperative basis and all receipts will be divided among all players, who will likewise share the losses if the plan proves a failure.

BASE BALL DICKERS.

It Is Players Wanted, Not Money, Says Earl Wagner.

"Any one versed in base ball dickers during the past three years must know that it is players, not money, that the club owners are after," remarked Earl Wagner. "A few days ago I offered Don Abe $3,000 for Donohue, and Chris asked me if there were any rodents in the region of my attic. I would pay that price for any fair to middling pitcher; not one of the youngsters, but a seasoned man, who has faced the major league batsmen at least twice."

An offer that Ed Hanlon made to the New York club, a cooperative basis, shows the value of a seasoned pitcher. Ed wants another pitcher, and he is willing to pay as high as $3,000—possibly $3,500—for Dad Clarke, but Scrappy advised Freedman not to accept. Perhaps Scrappy thought that Dad would strengthen the Orioles enough to give them another pennant, and, on the whole, it was a wise move on Freedman's part to refuse Hanlon's offer. Perhaps any other team club that has stand a better chance of landing Dad than Hanlon did."

Signed by Springfield.

Springfield, Mass., July 7.—Jimmy Rogers, the former Louisville manager, has been signed to play second base for the Springfield team.

DIAMOND DUST.

Toronto here today, Friday and Saturday.

Only one error has been charged against Tiernan in the last 38 games.

Morse and Gunson will be the battery opposed to Toronto in today's opening game.

The Miners will be at home until after July 21 and will play Toronto, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, as named, three games each.

Brooklyn is after Pitcher Joe Yeager, who has been in the Lancaster team for the past three years. Mr. Ryan offered Pitcher Chalmers, Fisher and a good sized bonus for Yeager. Baltimore and Philadelphia would also like to secure Yeager, but he has refused the offers to play at Baltimore, which is his home.

Baltimore was most successful with the Louisville team, with which they won six straight games, while the New York team, Cleveland, Pittsburg and St. Louis teams they won no less than 20. This year, however, the Cincinnati had the best record of any team, while New York had won a majority of their games with them up to date and the champions had little to brag of with the Brooklynians.

The trouble of fortune in base ball are attested in the case of Gene De Montreville and Joe Corbett. De Montreville was but a so-so hitter in the Eastern league, but he suddenly paralyzed the cities and set the form players awry by continually lighting on the shoats of the twirlers in the big league ball game, acknowledging one of the best natural batmen in the business. Joe Corbett, the other case in point, was formed out to Scranton by Ed Hanlon and pitched for the Eastern league hitters defiled so freely with Joe's curves that he was set down as a failure by many of the players. Today he is the winning pitcher of the Orioles.

FOR WOMEN CYCLISTS.

An interesting story is told of two young lady bicyclists who live at Brookville, N. Y., whose names are Miss Addie Curtis and Miss Flora Hill. The pluck of the young ladies was fully demonstrated in a way that pleased everybody. The two girls were out riding recently, and while resting on the roadside, near Hayesville, saw a tramp scatter something on the road in front of them and then disappear in the bushes which bordered the roadside. The girls were forced to ride by the place and saw that the tramp had scattered pieces of broken glass along the road with the evident intention of puncturing the tires of their wheels. Looking about, they got a sight of the tramp hiding in the bushes. "You did this," exclaimed Miss Hill, pointing toward the man; "come out here at once and pick up the glass." The tramp laughed insolently and uttered a coarse oath. The girls held a brief consultation. Then one of them walked coolly over to a willow tree, from which she broke off two small branches. The two then advanced resolutely toward the tramp, who at once capitulated and picked up every bit of glass he had strewn on the road a few moments before. Then he slouched away, but when at what he regarded as a safe distance he hurried back a volley of abuse. The girls jumped on their wheels and in a minute had overhauled the rascal, to whom they administered a thorough thrashing with the switches.

A new field for women has been opened in London, in the shape of bicycle repairs, and instructors in riding. The city has been invaded by women in this respect. They have a long list of customers, and instead of having patron come to a shop the women repairers in their houses or places of business once a week. These women are familiar with the different parts of a wheel, having studied and graduated at a bicycle school, and are competent to make all needed repairs. Their work appears to give satisfaction.

Miss Porter, who recently left Chicago for a ride to New York, covering a number of centuries during her trip, is a good and enthusiastic rider. She is not a professional rider in any sense of the word. Her long ride proved extremely pleasant, because, she said, it was so nicely planned. Her first three centuries were made over roads of the roughest character. She did not lack for company all the way. She never had less than two bicyclists with her, sometimes had as many as thirty, all voluntary. She was so nicely and gentlemanly treated by her escorts that she became provoked when she heard people talk of the demoralizing influence of companionship made by men and women on the road.

Blind riders are novelties, and some time ago a paragraph was published in one of the newspapers regarding the wonderful accomplishments of Helen Keller. There is another blind wheelwoman, and she is Miss Kate Helmeke, a teacher of the Missouri Asylum for the Blind at St. Louis. Her first effort was on a tandem, and after a month's practice she was able to ride unaided, continuing herself, however, in the asylum grounds. Not satisfied with this she determined upon a trip on the streets of the city. After being attended over a smooth course of several blocks she was enabled to negotiate over rougher routes. The tour was made without mishap, her keen sense of hearing warning her of the approach of vehicles.

Mrs. A. R. Lawton, of Savannah, Ga., will erect a church in memory of her late husband, which will cost something like $25,000. In agreeing to establish this church, Mrs. Lawton has made several interesting provisions. She stipulates that it must at all times be open to itinerant ministers and lecturers, and that she shall be consulted in all matters. There is no church or building in the city now which provides for this object and Mrs. Lawton has always held that there should be. Mrs. Lawton is also a believer in bicycling, and she wants the Lawton Memorial to be popular with bicyclists. With that end in view she also stipulates that there shall be a room in the basement of the church in which the wheels of all who desire to attend services can be kept. The congregation has agreed to the provisions.

L. A. W. NATIONAL MEET.

After six weeks of hard work S. Spencer Chamber, chairman of the eighteenth annual meet of the League of American Wheelmen, which will be held in Philadelphia, August 4-7, has officially announced that a one-fare round-trip rate will be made available during the meet. Tickets are to be sold and good, going, August 3 and 4, and returning from Philadelphia to August 5, inclusive.

This is indeed good news to league members throughout the country, for the one-fare concession will undoubtedly be allowed by all the passenger associations in the United States. This is the first instance in the history of the L. A. W. that such favorably at rate has been made, and it argues well for a record-breaking attendance of cyclists in this city during the first week of August.

Not one is better qualified to speak authoritatively on matters connected with the League of American Wheelmen than Abbot Bassett, its long-time secretary. Recently, in a letter to a prominent league officer, Mr. Bassett, in speaking of the coming national meet, had the following to say: "From my point of view it looks as though you would see in Philadelphia the largest meet the league has ever had. My correspondence from all over the country shows that everybody, nearly, is looking toward Philadelphia. You can be sure of a large attendance, as your city is within easy distance of 50,000 of our members. . . . We shall send a large delegation. . . . Philadelphia may feel sure of 15,000 visitors at least, and I should not be surprised if the figure far exceeded that." From which it may be seen that the executive committee's claim that 30,000 out-of-townners will attend next August's meet is not an immoderate one.

"Popular" prices will be the rule at the new Willow Grove track during the two days' racing which will decide the national L. A. W. championship for 1907. With a minimum charge of 25 cents for the "bleachers" (which will accommodate 15,000 people) the price for seats in the grandstand will be 50 cents, 75 cents and $1, according to location. The seats are so arranged that an uninterrupted view of the entire track may be had from every seat within an enclosure. Applications are coming in in such a rapid succession that the belief that the entire reserved sections will be sold out before the opening day of the races, August 6, is therefore behoves clubs and parties who desire to get their "out-of-town" organization especially to file their applications immediately. C. P. Weaver, eighth and Lehigh streets, has charge of this matter. Communications addressed to him will receive a prompt response.

BICYCLE BRIEFS.

A resident of New Jersey proposes to avoid the annoyance and delay caused by the rattling of the spokes of the wheels of the spokes in removable slotted lugs in the rim, so that a new one may be inserted in a moment. When a man walks a mile it is said he takes on an average 2,265 steps, lifting the weight of the body with each step. When he rides a bicycle the average gear he covers a mile with the equivalent of only 672 steps, requires less force, bears no burden and covers the distance in less than one-third of the time.

A Jersey rider has invented an apparatus for towing a crippled bicyclist, which is done by means of an appliance detachably secured to the frame of one machine and carrying an automatically winding tow line, which is attached to the disabled wheel.

A bicycle attachment, consisting of two frames, which are so arranged to form a foot rest when coasting, to hold the machine in a vertical position when not in use, and which may be locked securely to prevent the wheel from being stolen, is the invention of an ingenious Texan.

A patent has been granted on a machine to be used for street cleaning purposes. It is a bicycle with a roller brush attachment, and is intended for use in the city streets, with the intention of doing the work of six men in less time. A new idea in bicycle bells that will surely give a loud alarm is composed of three bells mounted on the handle bar, with three hammers, all operated by one lever, the bells being tuned to sound like a chime. To prevent the balls from dropping out of the bearings when the wheel is taken apart, a new device has a metal washer which locks into the outside of the cup and projects out far enough to hold the balls in place without interfering with the cones on the shaft. Two bicycles can be solidly coupled together by a newly patented coupler, consisting of three X braces, one set being attached to the rear hubs, and the lower braces of the wheels near the crank shafts, a second from the back upright braces near the top to the heads, and the third set across the heads of the machines.

For use as a trainer and teacher a simple device now coming into use has a frame to rest on the floor holding two parallel rollers for the back wheel to rest on and one for the front wheel, the bicycle being fastened to the rollers by the rider as desired, the front roller being attached to the inside back one by a chain or belt, to cause the front wheels to revolve for steering and balancing.

BILLY EARLE, GLOBE TROTTER.

This Famous Ball Player Continues His Long Trips. The omnipresent Billy Earle, globe trotter, hypnotist, and basket, turned up at the Hanover, in Philadelphia, recently. When Billy was on the world trip with the Spalding aggregation in '88 he met a Cincinnati friend on the Strand in London, and two years later when the Queen City man was on a business trip through Texas he spotted Billy in the act of shying a ribald compliment at a hunted-down, shivering umpire in the Texas league. Six months later the Cincinnati gentleman met the hypnotic wind-paddist at the American Exchange in Paris, and Billy's Banquet was flashed on the Cincinnati gentleman at Grand Rapids in '95 when the omnipresent hypnotist was doing the backdrop duty for Deacon Ellis' Grand Rapids team.

Tom Brown and Duke Farrell were discussing the all-seeing and ever-moving Billy, and Brown advanced the opinion that it was about an even money bet that Billy would flash his hammered-down shape on the Senators before they left town. "We met him in Cincinnati, Chicago, and St. Louis, and New York this season, and I will make book that he turns up in Philadelphia," said Tom. Scarce had the word passed Tom's lips when the hypnotist swelled into the rotunda of the hotel. "There must be a desire on some one's part to see you kept moving, Billy. When are you going to quit playing checkers with yourself?" queried Tom. Billy gave it out that he was negotiating for the sale of some of his real estate in Philadelphia. "For the non-stationary hypnotist, with all his travels, has managed to accumulate a tidy little wad against the rainy day.
