During the evening Mr. Vandling was presented with an engraved and suitably drafted set of resolutions, and Colonel Osthaus was remembered with a handsome library chair.

ENGROSSED RESOLUTIONS.

The post-prandial pleasantries began with the presentation of the resolutions to Mr. Vandling by John H. Phillips. Among other things he said: When excellences exist in connection with your years of active and stainless official career, such as we have had in Mr. Vandling, we deemed it the better part to give to him, while living, a public demonstration of our appreciation rather than wait until after his death. During the past four years we have been the recipients of many favors at his hands, and in our humble way we have gathered around the festive board to show to him the regard and affection in which he is held by the postoffice employes.

Having had occasion in my official capacity as president of the local branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers to wait on Mr. Vandling in relation to matters pertaining to the welfare of the carriers, I can truthfully say that, in my brief career, I never accorded to a human being, it is not our purpose to say that Mr. Vandling is the best official Scranton has had or will have, but we are sure that no postmaster ever retired from office commanding greater respect from the employes than does Frank M. Vandling. The presence of our guests adds lustre to the gathering, and is a brilliant testimony of the esteem and affection in which Mr. Vandling is held by all.

On behalf of the employes of the Scranton postoffice I take great pleasure to present you with these engrossed resolutions, which are unanimously adopted by the letter carriers and clerks of whom you have had supervision over during the past four years. They humbly express our appreciation, accept them as a token of our highest regard and admiration. May your journey through life be full of sunshine, is our earnest wish.

Other features of the exercises were the presentation to Colonel Osthaus by G. J. Schantz, chief clerk; acknowledgments by the recipients of the gifts, and these toasts: "The Letter Carriers," John R. Thomas; "The Clerks," George Duhigg; "What I Know About the Business," Colonel Ripple; "My Neighborhood Down Streets," A. J. Colborn; "My Experience in Postoffice Matters Long Ago," W. S. Millar; "A Business Man's Opinion of the Service," Frank Thompson. During the evening a number of vocal selections were rendered in song, and quite a number of toasts were given by Messrs. Eymon, Stevens, Jones and Warren. The accompanist was Lewis Watkins.

ST. LUKE'S SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Went to Lake Ariel Yesterday and Had a Pleasant Time. The annual picnic of St. Luke's Sunday school at Lake Ariel yesterday was favored with delightful weather and the large assemblage fully enjoyed the day. The train left the Erie and Wyoming Valley railroad station at 8:30 a. m. and the start for the lake was made at 8:30 o'clock in the evening. The excursion was free from accidents and was thoroughly enjoyable.

VAN HORN WAS HERE.

Officers Tierney and Clifford Had a Special Mission Last Night. "The officers looked worse than he did."

"Who?" "Van Horn." "Yes, that's right; two more days on the train would have killed Lieutenant Davis."

"Van Horn stood it like a brick, didn't he?" "Long ride that." "You bet." "This is the latest 'guy' Detective Clifford and Special Officer 'Jack' Tierney are springing as they go along the street. Last night every body who met them drew the opinion that Van Horn was here and in the station house. The fact is he will arrive in the city under escort of Lieutenant Davis and Detective Moir some time today.

The exact time is not known. Chief Robling expects a telegram from the officers when they leave Sunbury. Another certainty is that there will be no public exhibition of Van Horn. Chief Robling said last night that if at the appointed time of the hearing a crowd finds itself in Alderman Millar's office Van Horn will be kept in the police station until some more convenient hour—12 midnight or 6 a. m.

KENT'S CHILD BRIDE.

He Walked With Her to Binghamton and There They Were Married. Came Back and Was Arrested.

Hugh Kent, 35 years of age, and Elizabeth Travena, aged 14 years, who eloped from the North End section of the city about two weeks ago, have returned as man and wife. The circumstances surrounding their clandestine marriage read like an Arabian romance.

The two met about a year ago and an attachment sprang up. Kent is a widower and to save the girl's good name he eloped with her two weeks ago. They had no money and walked all the way to Binghamton. Foster and weary the two reached there last Friday and were married the next day. Neither had any money to pay the minister's fee, but the price was advanced by Miss Davitt, a cousin of Miss Travena.

Miss Davitt was not the lady's latest name, as she also had eloped and her husband was with her at the time the Scranton elopers met them. Miss Davitt besides paying the minister's fee, also gave the young Scranton bride a long dress, which helped the girl to make a minister believe her claim of 18 years.

The girl is very small, while Kent is rather tall. They were married and returned to this city. Now the real trouble begins. It is not that on has become weary of the other; they think as much of each other as ever they did; but the parents of Mrs. Kent objected. They don't appreciate the humor of their 14-year-old daughter marrying a widower with three children. Accordingly a warrant was issued before Alderman Millar Wednesday and Kent was arrested at Plymouth. The charge was abduction.

Kent was taken before Alderman Millar yesterday. He, with his bride and her parents, occupied adjacent seats all the morning, but the case could not proceed for the very reason that there was no case. The charge of abduction could not stand because the girl is over ten years of age. In the afternoon Kent was discharged on his own recognizance. His bride was taken home with her parents. She preferred to go with her husband, but her parents would not consent. Kent is also anxious for his wife to join him and his three children. His home is in Wilkes-Barre.

Big Sale of Lots. Op. Tripp Farm Plot, Saturday, 10th.

WHAT WE GAVE UNCLE SAM LAST YEAR

About Eight Hundred Thousand Dollars Paid to Collector in This District.

SOURCES REVENUE COMES FROM

Collections for the Fiscal Year Ending June 30 Exceeded the Preceding Year by $11,871,41 -- The Greatest Amount Received from Any One Source Was from the Sale of Beer Stamps, Which Swelled the Total Amount by $497,290.47.

Nearly $1,000,000, or, to be exact, $788,866.65, has been collected in this Twelfth Internal Revenue district during the year which ended June 30. This big sum exceeds the total collections for the year ending June 30, 1896, $766,515.24, by $11,871,41, which is quite a gain for a period marked by business depression.

The revenue came from all manner of sources, beer, spirits, cigars and cigarettes, tobacco special-tax and playing card stamps sold and from "collections on lists." The only articles on which no revenue was collected in this district were snuff, oleomargarine and filled cheese.

There are some interesting facts in a comparison with the collections for the fiscal year of 1895-96. In the year just closed the lightest month was February in which the collections were but $44,628.87, as against $47,245.75 for February, 1896. The largest monthly revenue was $158,048.75 in June, this year, and $167,247.32 in June, 1896.

There was no oleomargarine revenue this year. In 1896 the small sum of $60 came from this source, but it was for a quantity of the stuff which was being illegally sold and was seized, the proceeds reverting to the government.

The greatest revenue from any one source was from beer stamps which netted $497,290.47. The next in order were special-tax, cigars and cigarettes stamps sold, $90,819, $55,698; tobacco stamps sold, $48,413, $47,352; special-tax stamps sold, $31,458, $124,425; oleomargarine, $60, none in 1896-7; playing cards, $47,839, $47,290; spirit stamps sold, $43,236, $41,745; cigars and cigarette stamps sold, $36,819, $55,698; tobacco stamps sold, $48,413, $47,352.

Figures are ordinarily dry things but in this instance the student of human foibles can determine something of interest. Compared with 1896 the collections were in round numbers as follows, the 1896 figures being mentioned first. Lists collections, $3,455, $3,426; beer stamps sold, $478,839, $47,290; spirit stamps sold, $43,236, $41,745; cigars and cigarette stamps sold, $90,819, $55,698; tobacco stamps sold, $48,413, $47,352; special-tax stamps sold, $31,458, $124,425; oleomargarine, $60, none in 1896-7; playing cards, $47,839, $47,290.

Mr. Hannah had studied the case carefully and went, with a cutter loaded with law books, prepared to show the court a thing or two. The case had not progressed far when a legal point came up, and Mr. Hannah undertook to read a little law to the court.

"What book is that?" inquired his Honor.

"The code," replied Mr. Hannah.

"The code adopted at the session of 1895, your Honor."

"Now, look here, young man," said the court, as he opened a weather-beaten volume of Statutes. "The first case tried by this book for the last eighteen years, and I'm going to keep right on a-doin' it, and there don't no new fangled laws go in this court. Do you hear? Sit down. BICYCLE FACTORY ATTACHED.

Execution Issued Against Lackawanna Wheel Company.

Attorney W. J. Hand, trustee for creditors, yesterday afternoon, entered upon a $2,500 judgment in the office of Prothonotary Pryor against the Lackawanna Wheel company. An execution was issued upon and placed in the hands of the sheriff.

The company has a factory on North Washington avenue, which has a capacity of turning out thirty high grade wheels a week. It is composed of local men and has been in existence about a year. John A. Mears is president, Jerry Kistler, vice president; George B. Carson, treasurer, and E. M. Vernoy, secretary.

The company has been doing a nice business it is claimed and will, it is said, be able to overcome the present difficulty. The probabilities are that the business will be continued under a reorganized company.

The recent slump in the prices of high grade wheels has had nothing to do with the company's trouble, the officials say.

KOROSKI SENT TO JAIL.

His Offense Is That He Loved Mary Pinloski Against Her Parents' Wishes—She Has Disappeared.

A curious case of parents trying to compel their daughter to marry a man she dislikes and carrying their wishes so far as to have the girl's father incarcerated in jail on a serious offense in which the girl herself is concerned, reached the county jail last evening.

The girl is Mary Pinloski and her age, remarkable to state, is 13 years. The man she loves and who is now in the county jail because of his reciprocity of affection is Frank Koroski, a 19-year-old youth. All live at Priceburg.

Mary Pinloska has disappeared and it is known that she was so badly beaten Tuesday night by her parents that she is marked with bruises from head to foot.

Where she is now is not known and the parents have gone so far as to issue a warrant for her arrest charging her with "complicity" with the young man who is in jail.

The trouble has been brewing for the past year or since the time that young Koroski met the girl. The parents of the girl had previously selected her future husband in the person of a middle aged man who resides in Priceburg. Mary would not consent, however, and as a final resort her mother, Mrs. Annie Pinloski went before a justice of the peace in Priceburg and swore out warrants for the arrest of the girl and Koroski, on a charge which, it would appear, the girl is the most interested.

Koroski was arrested and in default of $200 bail was committed to the county jail.
