NORTHEASTERN PENNSYLVANIA TO CHANGE OWNERS?

Reported That the Delaware and Hudson People Are After the New

York, Susquehanna and Western

Railway. Wilkes-Barre, July 16 .- The Times

says: There has been considerable actively during the past week in the se-curities of the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad company. The preferred stock has risen in price in the stock exchange from $29 to $35.50 a share, dropping off yesterday and today to $33.50 per share. As is always the case when there is a sudden rise or unusual activity in any listed stock there are many rumors to account for the change. As an explanation J. C. Calhoun and F. H. Prince, of Boston, are said to have arranged with English capitalists for the investment of considerable sum in the Susquehanna and Western railroad, the plans being said to include an extension of the road to a connection with the Beech Creek.

In this connection W. P. Ryman, president of the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern railroad, which is operated by the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad company, was seen by a Times reporter this morning and asked regarding the rumor that the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern line is to be extended to Williamsport. Mr. Ryman said: "It is simply a rumor. There is a strong probability that such an extension will be made some time but there is nothing imminent about it." "How did the rumor revive at this time?" was asked. "Everybody," replied Mr. Ryman "has been trying to explain the general advance in stocks and somebody put this report abroad as an explanation of the rise in our railroad stock."

Mr. Ryman further said that the plan to extend the line to Williamsport is at present as remote as it was several years ago. He said it takes much time to determine on such a big tall. enterprise.

His wife arose at 5 a. m. and found that the house had been robbed. An investigation showed that the burglars effected an entrance by a rear cellar way to the first floor. They entered Mr. O'Malley's room and secured three gold watches, two silver watches, jewlery, etc., and $40 in money from his pantaloons pocket. There must have been three men in the party for they boldly took a trunk through a window and rifled it of its contents, taking money and other valuable pa-

The trunk was found this morning on the hillside behind the Maltby breaker, but there was no other clue to the robbers.

ware and Hudson people are after this road. This is an old rumor and was current about three years ago when the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern railroad was first opened.

In support of this theory the Scranton Tribune this morning says: "Sec-ond Vice-President H. G. Young, of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company; R. S. Hayes, of New York, one of the directors; C. R. Manville, superintendent of the railroad department, and C. S. Weston, general agent of the real estate department, held a consultation in the Hotel Jermyn last night. Messrs. Young and Hayes came from Albany in a special car at 9.50 o'clock p. m. They were met at Carbondale by Mr. Manville and in this city by Mr. Weston. All four proceeded to the Jermyn forthwith and were closeted together for several hours."

This morning all of these gentlemen were at Mill Creek in their private car and were going over the line of the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern railroad. There has been a very close traffic alliance between the Delaware and Hudson and Susquehanna and Western roads for a number of years. A business man of this city who is well posted in railroad and coal circles, in speaking lican when it is not too "Green," and a probable closer relationship beare frequently seen towing across the tween these two coal roads, told a lake one of the doctor's piscatorial Times man this morning that the Delayarns to some member of the reperware and Hudson coal, at the present rate of mining, would not last longer than ten or fifteen years and that before that time expired it would have to look for additional traffic elsewhere. The alliance with the New York, Susquehanna and Western would be but natural and good business policy, as it would give the Delaware and Hudson an entrance to New York harbor, and the construction of the Wilkes-Barre and Western, for which several surveys have already been made, would bring considerable soft coal traffic and by possible railroad connection in the western part of the state, form a link in the shortest and best route from Chicago to New York, "Depend upon it," said he, "the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern will sooner or later be extended west and the Delaware and Hudson will long before that control the Susquehanna and Western." It pay be mentioned in this connection that the next annual meeting of the New York, Susquehanna and West-ern will-take place the first Thursday in September.
