ST. LUKE'S SUMMER HOME AT CRESCO

Was Inspected by a Party of Scrantonians Yesterday.
IT HAS A BEAUTIFUL LOCATION

It is a Country Home Half Colonial as to Style of Architecture and Surrounded by a Spacious Lawn--Built as a Summer Home for Loring Andrews--Home in Charge of Sisters of the Order of St. Margaret.

Perhaps it was a providential thing that everyone interested in St. Luke's Summer Home at Cresco did not attend its formal dedicatory yesterday, else today there would probably be a multitude of applications for admission by those whose financial condition and state of health reasonably place them beyond the circle of its benefits. So beautiful is its location, so surpassingly charming its environments that the visitor who views it for the first time cannot express the surprise and pleasure experience.

 Imagine a fine old country house, half colonial in style, and beneath it a spaciousness and frontage of which the cut gives but an inadequate view, surrounded by a lawn wide in extent and shaded by stately trees. The broad open entrance discloses a wide hall of a bygone period, running straight through where the vista from similar doors at the rear is at first that of a forest of oaks, extending up to the veranda and beyond the reach of the eye.
 The turf is as green and luxuriant as in an English park, and beneath the trees are swinging hammocks where the happy children swing and where the tired old mothers linger. The picturesque beauty of the scene is impossible to depict. The oaks are such as the Druids might have worshipped beneath, while here and there a cairnlike heap of boulders, fern fringed, affords a fascinating resort for chipmunks and squirrels, which gambol about with an utter absence of fear.

OTHER DELECTABLE FEATURES.
 There are many huge cherry trees laden with fruit and at least one small boy of the party scarcely landed yesterday that he was discovered far up in the branches. To say that these trees alone represent Paradise to the average boy who is so fortunate as to be a guest here, is to make a very mild assertion.

The house itself has an air of dignity and hospitality unusual in these days of modern frillery in architecture. The great doors, the spacious rooms and the comfortable fittings render it an ideal spot. It was built for Loring Andrews' summer residence some twenty years ago, and contains many conveniences which must have been innovations at that period. The beautiful oak floor of hall and staircase, dark with time, might well be coveted for a pretentious city home; the portico, with their deep, built in seats and the large windows render it an ideal place for the purpose to which it is to be devoted. Beyond all its cool, delightful location is a source of congratulation to the projectors.
 St. Luke's Summer Home has sheltered and hospitably unsummed and most nationalities, Christians, Jew, Protestant, Catholic--all needy and afflicted ones are welcomed; no difference is observed in care, no question of race or religion arises. Prayers are said at morning and evening, but no guest is obliged to attend. That the fact of this broadness of purpose is entertained may be judged from the gifts bestowed upon the home. Over every apartment entrance is a tablet bearing the loving legend, "This room was furnished by the friends whose names appear."

THE FURNISHINGS.
 The common room was furnished by the Ancient Order of United Workmen, No. 27; the reception room by the employees of the North mill of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company. The employees of the Scranton Stove works equipped the kitchen with its complete range. The Colliery Engineers employes contribute to the fittings of the refectory. The Knights of Pythias furnished the beautiful room on the first floor devoted to the Sisters in charge.
 The bedrooms, cosily fitted up with oak furniture and daintily enameled iron beds, were furnished by the Carpenters' union, No. 563; the employes of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western machine shops, the Anthracite commandery, Knights of Malta, No.
 21; employees of Mr. Pleasant colliery, and Pennsylvania railroad. The third floor contains large sleeping apartments and an unfinished room which will be fitted up as a chapel with altar and seats.
 The impressive service was conducted by Rev. Rogers Israel, assisted by Rev. E. J. Haughton who, in their vestments, stood in the wide hall near the open door way. The picture was one to be remembered. At the right stood the two Sisters in their dark garb with the snowy coifs framing their sweet faces. Grouped about the veranda were the guests of the occasion, while in the common room the family gathered. Cool breezes swept through the hall and the subdued voices of the little children under the trees mingled with the carol of birds in the branches.

THE ROOMS BLESSED.
 The services began with the reading of Psalm 67 and a benediction at the door. One after another the rooms were blessed, the little procession following the clergymen through the Home. A beautiful lunch was then served and several members of the party returned to the city, the others remaining to enjoy the day amid the pleasant surroundings.
 Those who went up from Scranton yesterday were: Rev. Rogers Israel, Rev. E. J. Haughton, Brother Francis, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dorman, Miss Susan E. Dickinson, Captain Samuel Hines, J. W. Dusenbury, John H. Jer-dan, of the Truth and a Tribune representative. As guests for the coming fortnight eight persons also accompaned the party. Two of these were Mrs.

 Steinhauser and Mrs. Gruener, old ladies from the Home for the Friendless, whose delight at the outing is difficult to describe.
 The Home is in charge of Sisters Alice and Miriam of the order of St.
 Margaret, which was founded in England almost fifty years ago. A branch was established in America by the Bishop Fond du Lac in 1872. The head of the order is in Boston, from which city the two gentle directors of St.
 Luke's Summer home come.
 The Men's Guild purchased this most desirable property, situated one mile from Cresco, of Mr. Shafer for $1,800 in consideration of the object. For two previous seasons Mr. Charles Schlager has generously given the use of his cottage at Lakeside and many sad and sick ones have recovered health and spirits beneath its shelter.

ADMISSION COMMITTEE.
 The members of the admission committee are: J. C. Hightner, Captain Samuel Hines, J. W. Dusenbury, Mrs.
 I. F. Eychardt, Mrs. J. H. Phelps and Mrs. A. E. Fettingrew.
 Theodore Wolfe, master of the Men's Guild, and Mr. R. J. Foster, have been very active in promoting the interest of the Summer home. The purchasing committee, Mrs. George L. Dickson, Mrs. C. B. Dorman and Mr. F. L.

 Brown, have attended to the general furnishings and have done much hard work in the interests of the project.

MISS STANTON CHOSEN.
 She Will Assume an Important Position at the Bucknell Institute.

Miss Eveline Stanton, of Chinchilla, will take charge of the Bucknell Institute as principal and of the college women as dean, at the opening of the school year, September 15.
 Miss Stanton graduated from Bucknell college with the class of 1890, taking high rank in her class, and receiving the prize in mathematics. She then became lady principal of Keystone Academy, achieving great success as a teacher and as an executive.
 After three years of service she resigned to pursue graduate work in the University of Chicago. President Harper says: "The records show that Miss Stanton did work of the highest order.
 Her specialty was in English and philosophy and her standing was the highest possible." It may be added that while in the university, she was collaborator in preparing a critical edition of Browning for publication.
 In 1892 Miss Stanton became presentress of the Northwestern State Normal school, the principal of which, Dr.
 Flickinger, says that in moral influence, tact in government, and skill in teaching, he knows of no one who is Miss Stanton's superior. Martin G.
 Benedict, Ph. D., professor of pedagogy in State college, formerly principal of the Northwestern Normal, wrote: "Miss Stanton has splendid executive ability. Her work as a teacher is brilliant. Her religious work at the Normal was most satisfactory. She had special charge of the Y. W. C. A., and part of the time conducted a Bible class of young ladies. Her religious and moral influence with young ladies was marked and always for good. Miss Stanton's social work, especially deserves commendation. She seemed to know how to dignify social life and yet make that life entirely enjoyable to young people."

JAMES YOUNG FOR TREASURER.
 He Has Announced His Candidacy for That Office.

James Young, of Dunmore, has announced himself as a candidate for county treasurer, subject to the decision of the Republican county convention.
 Mr. Young has long been one of the most active workers for party success in the county and has a host of warm, enthusiastic friends.
 His name has been frequently mentioned during the last year in connection with the broken county treasurer but it was not known that he would seek the nomination. His announcement of his candidacy settles the matter, and puts another formidable candidate in the field.

GOOD IMPRESSION MADE ON VISITORS

Central City Seems to Be Always Enlarging and Beautifying.

IMPROVEMENTS NOW UNDER WAY
 Description of the New Scranton Private Hospital Buildings--Joseph Jermyn Will Put Up a Large Structure on Penn Avenue--B. Moses Has Started Another Further Down the Avenue--Other Buildings in Course of Construction.

Last night the directors of the Scranton Private hospital opened bids for the contract of erecting the new hospital building. As yet the successful contractor has not been announced.
 The foundation walls of the new structure are about completed. They indicate that the building is to be a handsome and very substantial one, and a glance at the plans for the superstructure shows that this indication is about right.

The building is to be of stone, five stories in height, inclusive of the basement on the ground floor. On both the Wyoming avenue and Mulberry street sides there will be substantial and large porches above the entrance on each floor. These porches will be enclosed in glass and heated by steam, thus permitting the convalescing patients to take the sun even in coldest weather.
 The ground floor, which will be a few feet below the sidewalk level, will be arranged for renting purposes, the corner apartment being designed specially for a drug store. The first floor will be laid out in six two-room suites of offices which will be rented to doctors.
 On the second floor will be the administrative operating and patients rooms.
 The third and fourth floors will also have patients rooms, twelve on each floor. The top floor will contain the nurses' apartments. The kitchen and laundry will be located in an annex to the rear of the building and a nicely located of the Von Storch building.
 The Von Storch building will not be used in any way in connection with the hospital.

NEW STORE BUILDING.
 On August 1 Joseph Jermyn will raze the building front and rear at 129 Penn avenue preparatory to the occupancy of that site with a large store and flat building.

It will be four stories high, forty feet wide and one hundred and sixty-seven feet long. It will be built of brick, with stone facings and will be quite a handsome and imposing structure.
 At present the lot is occupied in front by a hotel building, until recently occupied by Ferdinand Arigoni, and a small store building, in which Mac's book store was formerly located. In the rear are private residences. Mr.
 Jermyn said yesterday to the Tribune reporter that he did not know just how a building of that sort would pay in that block, but at all events he was ashamed of the ramshackles that are there and resolved to replace them.
 B. Moses has broken ground on Penn avenue next to the Truth building for a 50x60 store and flat building. At present it is intended to erect only the first floor stores, four in number, but the foundations will be built with a view of adding five or six stories at any time circumstances will warrant it.

DR. GUNSTER'S RESIDENCE.
 The frame of Dr. P. F. Gunster's new residence on Mulberry street, between Wyoming and Washington avenues, is now in progress. The building is a nicely arranged building. The work of excavating for the foundations of the new department store building is about completed.
 All these, with the massive and beautiful Central building, the classic-faced Savings bank building and other structures of lesser note that are under way in the central city, gives the visitor, doubtlessly, a strong impression that this is a healthy and growing village.

POOR BOARD MEETING.
 Directors Listened to a Number of Applications for Aid.

The poor board held a short and uninteresting session yesterday afternoon at the city hall. Several applications for assistance were heard and in the worthy instances were referred to the proper poor directors. One case which was put before the board was that of a jury of a jury was that of Edward Gamal's application for the disposal of an unruly orphan child, of which he is guardian. Mr. Gamal is a resident of Willow street, and the boy's name is Augustus. He is 11 years old. The board did not see the necessity of interference along the lines of the application and the case was dismissed.
 John Coates, colored, is in poor health and wants to go back to Maryland.
 He is 45 years old and claims he is too old to reside at the Hillside Home, but he was sent there.
 Eddie Hogan, the lad who ran away from St. Patrick's orphanage on Monday, is discovered to be at the Hillside Home. He is being sent to the board signifying his consent for him to remain where he is if he can be taken care of.
 Aged John Downey, one of the first residents of old Shanty Hill, was granted admission to the Hillside Home.
 John Mason, at present an inmate of the Hillside Home, wants to go back to England to end his days. The board saw fit to grant his request.
 Colonel Herman Osthaus appeared before the board and called its attention to the desire of Phillip Arnt, a former inmate of the Hillside Home, and now living at the home of his sister, Mr.
 Arnt wants to pay the board eight dollars a month for twenty months of this broken time he stayed at the Home. His case was referred to Attorney John F. Scragg.

THE FASHOLD INQUEST.
 Commonplace Verdict Found by the Coroner's Jury.

Coroner Longstreet resumed the inquest into the death of the late George Fasshold at 8 o'clock last night in the office of Alderman Christian Storr, of the Nineteenth ward.
 George Smith and his sister, Miss Lena Smith, who were among the first to reach the room in which the deceased was discovered dying by his daughter, testified as to the position in which he was found and other like matters not particularly relevant.
 John Hines, a neighbor, told that he was with the deceased the day before his death and saw him in possession of a wallet containing $100. This wallet, devoid of the money, was found in Fasshold's room after his death.
 There was nothing to show but that the money was spent in paying a bill and there being no other evidence that would even hint at foul play, the jury agreed upon the simple verdict "came to his death by a pistol shot wound in the head."

TWO BLOCKS AT A TIME.
 Curbing of Mulberry Street Is Being Rapidly Pushed.

Work on the Mulberry street paving contract seems to have begun in earnest.
 W. J. Burke, who has the contract for curbing, has twenty men at work doing two blocks at a time. Stone is being received from five different quarries.
 This haste is due to an unexpected interruption which the heat of last week was responsible for. The men at the quarries were unable to work more than four and a half hours a day, two and one-half in the morning and two in the late afternoon, it is claimed, and for this reason the stone could not be supplied to the dressers and setters in sufficient quantity to keep more than a few of them at work.

INSPECTED THE CREMATORY.
 Members of the Board of Health Find Improvements Necessary.

The members of the board of health yesterday made the annual inspection of the crematory and decided upon a number of alterations and repairs.
 Chief among these is the re-roofing of the crematory building and the lowering of the receiving platform to the level of wagon platforms so as to do away with the laborious lifting of garbage barrels now necessary.
