TWO PERSONS BITTEN BY DOGS.

Son of Hen Reynolds and Titus Evans Were the Victims.

Two more instances of the roaming at large of unmuzzled canines with vicious tendencies were reported to the West Side police Thursday. In the first instance, a young son of Ben Reypolds, of South Main avenue, was attacked and bitten twice by a hound owned by John Price, of South Main avenue. The little fellow was carrying ne meat at the time, and it is resumed the dog was after the meat. Mr. Price gave his consent to have the shot, and Patrolman Thomas Ev-arm did the deed. In the other case Titus Evans, man well on in years, was viciously attacked and bitten in the ankle by a brute, while walking along South Main avenue. The dog belongs to John Richards, of South Main avenue. Its owner refused to have it shot. Mr. Evans, who formerly resided on the West Side, but now resides at Olyphant, declared he would see the dog killed before he erformed home. It has not happened

Both sufferers received immediate medical attendance and no serious consequences are looked for.

LUNCHEON AND TROLLEY RIDE. A dozen young men of the Plymouth Congregational church went to Nay Aug park yesterday afternoon and entertained at luncheon by equal number of young ladies from the church. Every delicacy of the seaspir was laid out in abundance and every painte had a temptation in the spread. The early hours of the evening were spent in divers ways, and a royal good time was had by all. About o'clock the car was boarded and an hour or more was spent in trolley-riding. The ride ended at Eynon street, and here the party became the guests of Miss Jennie Price at her home on Eynon street. The remainder of the evening was spent in the enjoyment of music, recitations, singing and dancing. The party was composed of the Misses Margaret Evans, Margaret Myvanwy Williams, Anna Davies, Nellie Morgan, Sadie Davies, Annie Davies, Jennie Price, Carrie Hammond, Sarah Hughes, Della P. Evans, Lily Bevan, of Shennandoah; Messrs. William Edwards, William Johns, Byron Evans, John Stover, Tallie Evans, Edward Davies, John T. Jones, John H. Hughes, Morgan Daniels, Nathaniel Davis, Gomer Evans, Ely Harris.

MISSION SOCIETY ENTERTAINS.

The Bertha Lamont Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, of Washburn street, held a lawn party on the beautiful lawn at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Yost, of Jackson street. Miss Mable Yost assisted her mother in receiving, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The lawn was brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns, and from between two large oak trees was suspended an immense national flag. In the early part of the evening a business session was ed. This business part was followed by worthy deputy master, Harry Nichols;

Gertrude Barrowman executed a piano solo, and Rev. J. P. Moffatt, pastor of the church, offered prayer. Miss Josle E. Williams gave an interesting talk Reading." "Missionary upon Messrs, Herbert and Harry Hall and Will Cadwgan rendered a selection on mandolines and guitar. A recitation was then given by Miss Mable Spencer, followed with a solo by Norwood Pitcher. The exercises were concluded with a few general remarks by the pastor. This society draws its membership from the younger members of the church, and has for its object the pushing forward of church mission work. It has over sixty members, and the majority of these were present, together with a few invited friends. Refreshments were served and the rest of the evening was spent in the usual diversions of games, etc.

FUNERALS YESTERDAY.

Patrick Flannery, late of 529 Third place in the Hyde Park Catholic cemetery yesterday morning. The deceased had been taken from his late home to the Church of the Holy Cross, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Father Loughran. The funeral sermon was also preached by Fath. er Loughran, who made several touching and kind references to the manly life of the deceased. The attendance of friends was large, and many accompanied the remains to the cemetery. St. Peter's society, led by St. Leo's drum corps, were present in a body, and led the funeral cortege. The pallbearers were from the society and were: James Sheehan, Michael Walsh, Martin Moffitt, John Walsh, Thomas Calpin, Peter McDonough.

The funeral services of the late Evan Williams were held from his home on Lafayette street. The attendance of friends who came to pay their last tribute of respect to a dead friend, was large, and many accompanied the funeral procession to the cemetery. There were many beautiful floral offerings. Rev. David Jones, pastor of the First Welsh Congregational church, preached the funeral sermon. At the close of the services the remains were borne to the Washburn street cemetery and laid at rest. The pall-bearers were: Thomas Powell, Thomas Williams, Edward Davies, John X. Daniels, Thomas R. Davies, Evan P. Davies.

NOTE NOT RITTENHOUSE'S. In the article of Friday's issue of this paper it was stated that, in the case of Eastman vs. Rittenhouse before Alderman Moses, Rittenhouse held a note against Eastman. In justice to Mr. Eastman it should have stated that the note in question was held by a disinterested party. The lines which would have read so were inadvertently omitted in setting the copy up.

ner to his company, with Major Whitney and others as invited guests. The affair was conducted on a generous scale, and with the single idea of the entertainment of Captain McCausland's friends. At 7 o'clock the guests sat at a dinner, the menu of which consisted of oysters, soup, consomme, fish, roast turkey, roast beef, potatoes and chicken salad, olives, cake, pastry, fruits, Roman punch.

The dinner was well served by Captain McCausland's personal servants. Afterward there was a period of speechmaking and entertainment of the vocal and instrumental kind. Captain Mc-Causland presided. Major Whitney responded to a call for remarks and in his talk he complimented the members of Company G for its soldierly attainment. The other invited guests in turn paid his compliments to the entertainer and the brave boys he commands.

THOSE PRESENT.

The officers and others present were Major Whitney, Adjutant Wood, Regimental Sergeant Major H. M. Coursen, Captain Fellows and Lieutenants Davis and Decker, of Company F: Captain Smith and Lieutenant Dodge, of Company E; Captain Corwin and Lieutenants Huff and Benjamin, of Company H; Captain Kambeck and Lieutenants Sample and Berry, of Company B; Emerson D. Owen, of The Tribune, and Charles E. Daniels, of the Truth, and Quartermaster Sergeant Reese Watkins. The latter is held in great re gard by the members of Company G because of his interest in their rifle The dinner was among the team. pleasantest of camp experiences.

Tonight the week at Gretna ends and tomorrow the Thirteenth regiment will come home with one of the greates camp records ever tallied. It has been a week of conquest for us and as such is probably the greatest in the history of the regiment. Nothing has escaped the remarkable prowess of Colonel Coursen's men. Arriving at camp at sunrise last Saturday the regiment was at first handicapped by an incomplete camp, which was caused by the early and unexpected appearance of the regiment. During Saturday everybody was busy at making things comfortable for the week's stay. Sunday passed quietly, services being held throughout Monday began the real battle. It was on this day that our boys, while in a drenching rain, stood under the inspection fire of Adjutant General Stewart Inspector General Morrell and staff.

A PROMINENT EPISODE.

This was the grandest episode of the week's camp life. The appearance of 400 citizen soldiers standing for the decisive examination, while the ele-ments tried their best to discomfort them; drenched to the skin yet each private, corporal, sergeant and on up to the colonel himself bearing the rod with the patience of tried soldiers and unmindful of any other thing than the honor of the regiment-it was better that it did rain, because the very circumstance enhanced the meaning of the great success.

Tuesday was Governor's Day, and again our boys distinguished them-Wednesday morning another selves. victory was scored when the Thirteenth made the unusual record-breaking time of 12 minutes in the regiment

> Friday there were no contests so w couldn't win anything. The regiment did the best she could under the circumstances and practiced for the next camp. Besides these tallies the regiwas honored with two days ment guard duty at brigade headquarters, and all along our officers have been honored with the best will of the headquarters' officers. Frank Benjamin was made brigade clerk, a distinctive honor, and other smaller honors have been accepted. The camp life has been most delightful. Food has been plentiful and wholesome and the general conduct creditable. During the week Companies B and G gave special entertainments. Thursday night B (Captain Kambeck) had a most enjoyable clam bake, and tonight Captain R. J. McCausland, of Company G. gave his Montrose boys a dinner in the mess tent. Thousands of persons from Lebanen Allentown, Reading and other towns have visited the soldiers during the
