DEATH IN POWDER AND DYNAMITE

Lightning Strikes the Magazine of Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, and Kills John Higgins, Numerous Buildings Demolished and Thousand of Windows Blown Out.

Wilkes-Barre, July 23.—At 1:55 this afternoon, says the Times, during the heavy electric storm, lightning struck the powder and dynamite magazine of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company at the Empire, and its contents exploded with terrible force, the concussion being plainly felt by the occupants of every building in the city. One man, John Higgins, was instantly killed.

Higgins was employed as a fireman in the boiler room at the breaker. Dan Mulhern is also employed there, his duty being to haul ashes with a mule and cart from the boiler room to a field not a great ways off. Higgins and Mulhern traded jobs for awhile today and a short time before the explosion Higgins started out of the boiler room seated on a load of ashes. He had passed the magazine and reached a point about seventy-five feet beyond when the explosion occurred. Higgins received the full force of the concussion and was blown a distance of about twenty feet. His face was frightfully mutilated, being split from the top of the forehead to the chin, and every stitch of clothing, with the exception of his undershirt, was blown completely off.

Where the magazine formerly stood there is a hole from ten to twelve feet deep caused by the explosion. The "shifting shanty," where the workmen change their clothing, was completely demolished. Near by it was located the boiler shop and one side of this was crushed in and the windows all blown out.

OTHER DAMAGE.

A short distance from where the magazine stood on Empire street stands twenty-four houses of the Red Ash Coal company, known as the Red Row. In the row not a pane of window glass is left. The saloon and residence of James McGroarty at the corner of Hillside and Northampton streets, is badly wrecked. All the windows of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre are gone, and two large plate glass windows in the front of James Murphy's saloon were destroyed. Every house on this street shows the damaging work of the explosion, and the windows in the Red Ash store are also smashed. A policeman walking in front of Thomas Davis' grocery store, was thrown to the ground by the force of the explosion and it was several minutes before he recovered sufficiently to resume his journey home. A moment before the explosion the electric car had arrived at the crossing and the passengers were alighting. When the terrific crash came the car rocked back and forth like a cradle and it was feared that it would be lifted from the track. An abandoned supply house owned by the company was totally demolished.

About the ground where the magazine stood one cannot find a piece of wood large enough to make a toothpick. A peculiar incident was the fact that the mule which was drawing the cart of ashes on which Higgins was seated, was not injured in the slightest, though his harness was blown completely off and the cart reduced to kindling wood.

DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING.

House Struck and Girl is Knocked Senseless—Other Destruction.

Wilkes-Barre, July 23.—About 1 o'clock this afternoon lightning struck the residence of Patrick Hoyle, at Airy and Stanton streets, and set fire to the house. A daughter of Mr. Hoyle fainted, and is yet in a critical condition from the shock and fright. The kitchen was burned and the house damaged to the extent of about $500. Steamer No. 3 and its crew, 13, and 7 responded and extinguished the blaze.

THE STORM WAS SEVERE.

Later Reports from Monroe County Indicate Serious Damage.

Stroudsburg, July 23.—Wednesday's storm was even more severe than first reports indicated. The temporary bridge over the McMichael's was nearly washed away, the trestles being loosened and bent by the force of rushing waters. There was a good-sized wash-out on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western at Henryville. At the Water Gap the storm was especially fierce and was accompanied by vivid thunder and lightning. The clouds hung low on the mountain and at one time completely enveloped everything in a thick mist. A picnic party of men and women from Bangor were caught in the shower and drenched to the skin. Lightning struck the wagon shed of A. H. Fetherman, of Bossardville, doing considerable damage. A bolt struck a green tree on the property of George Erdman, in Hamilton township, causing it to burst into flames and burn up. This is an unusual occurrence.

Out in Jackson the storm was very severe. Five bridges belonging to the county were swept away by the force of the water. The bridges are located near Mrs. Frank Rinker's, one near Ralph Singer's, two near Abraham Osterhout's and one near the Price property. Sister's bridge over the Pococo creek, in Stroud township, has been swept away by the sudden rise of the water and is a total loss.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

White Walking on Track George Cabour is Instantly Killed.

Wilkes-Barre, July 23.—While walking on the L. & W. track below the Woodward breaker at Kingston last evening, George Carbour, a well known Polander, of Edwardsville, was struck by the #12 passenger train and instantly killed. He was on his way home, and had just reached the sharp curve below the breaker when the train came along. The engine struck him and hurled him against the rocks. His skull was crushed and his face badly mutilated.

The train stopped and backed up, but the man was dead when reached. The body was placed on the train and brought to the Kingston depot where it remained until his family was notified. Carbour was 38 years old, and was employed as watchman at No. 2 mines of the Kingston coal company. He is survived by a wife and two children, a boy and a girl.

THE TURN OF LIFE

Is the most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. Those hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help.

The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life.

The Vegetable Compound is an invigorating strengthener of the female organism. It builds up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass that grand change triumphantly.

It does not seem necessary for us to prove the honesty of our statements, but it is a pleasure to publish such grateful words as the following:

"I have been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time during the change of life and it has been a saviour of life unto me. I can cheerfully recommend your medicine to all women, and I know it will give permanent relief. I would be glad to refer my experience to any sufferer."—Mrs. DELLA WATSON, 524 West 5th St., Cincinnati, Ohio.
