Cawley will begin work immediately. A large party of ladies and gentlemen enjoyed a moonlight trip to the Pot Hole at the Ridge last evening, and also visited the shaft of the Forest Mining company, Burgess Langan, who chaperoned the party, edified them with a glowing discription of the process by which the Pot Hole was formed and otherwise entertained them in a manner that will make the visit a pleasant recollection. The members of the party were Misses Langan and Dunleavy, of Philadelphia, Miss Hannon, of Orange, N. As predicted a few weeks ago, Mr. C. H. Geibig has retired from the service of the Delaware and Hudson company. His resignation was accepted on the 20th inst. and his place is now filled by Mr. Davenport, of Parsons. Mr. Gerbig was a faithful and efficien servant of the company, and his departure will be regretted by every one who had occasion to do business with him. Mr. Gerbig's personal business called for more of his attention, and he felt it necessary to retire.

Perhaps the pettiest piece of van-of the state was that committed in the destruction of the shade trees at the "Forty-foot" falls on White Oak creek. This spot was, beyond question, the most picturesque nook in this vicinity, and in the summer time especially hundreds found comfort in the cool shade of the trees that overhung the falls. But the mercenary woodman cared nothing for this, so h felled every tree near the falls for the few dollars worth of timber they contained. It may safely be said that there are many in town who would very willingly give the grasping fellow, whoever he may be, more than the timber was worth if the trees were preserved. No one seems to know who is responsible for this contemptible business, but whoever is, has earned the condemnation of every one who knew and appreciated this magnificent work of nature, which has been so wantonly destroyed.
