JOHN T. WATKINS ABROAD

Has Been Awarded Medals for Singing and Elocution at the Royal Academy.

The many friends of Mr. John T. Watkins, the baritone singer, who has been studying at the Royal Academy of Music in London, will be pleased to learn that he has been awarded first honors in his class in singing and elocution.

The examination in the singing exercises is held similar to those in elocution, the participants undergoing a preliminary examination and the best ones are selected for the final competition.

There were seven judges on the work and Mr. Watkins received the unanimous vote of the adjudicators. This is a great honor, because few students secure this recognition in their first year, and many leave the academy without any medals at all, after having studied for several years.

In the elocutionary examination Mr. Watkins received first honors of his class, and was highly complimented by the judges, five in number, for his interesting work. His success in one year is remarkable.

The commencement exercises were held last Friday and genial John was decorated with two handsome medals by the Princess of Wales, who awarded the prizes to the students.

On Saturday Mr. Watkins sailed from Southampton for home, and is expected to arrive in New York next Saturday. His home coming will be the occasion for much rejoicing among his relatives and friends.

HAS JOINED THE RACERS.

Frank B. Reese, of South Summer avenue, the well-known athlete, and champion amateur sprinter of North-eastern Pennsylvania, has joined "the push" of racing wheelmen at the Scranton Driving park and will be seen in the races there on Aug. 4, 5 and 6. He will also enter the races at Bloomsburg and Wilkes-Barre during August, and expects to be counted a flyer before the season closes.

During the past week, Clarence Florey, the Wyoming avenue sporting goods dealer, equipped Mr. Reese with a complete outfit, consisting of a Spalding racing wheel, two sets of tires, gears, bars, uniforms, etc., and Frank has engaged training quarters at the track. He will ride independently this year, although he says he has received flattering offers from several bicycle clubs. The appearance of Reese on the track, together with Coleman, Marsh, Oswald, Dawkins and other West Side riders will add interest to the sport on this side.

FUNERAL OF W. D. MORGAN.

Services over the remains of the late William D. Morgan were conducted yesterday afternoon at the family residence, 318 North Summer avenue. The home was filled with friends of the deceased and many had to remain out doors during the services. Rev. D. P. Interment will be made in the Washburn street cemetery.

RUMPUSS IN THE I. C. B. U.

But the Sunday News Made Wrong Reference to Father Whelan: Says yesterday's Sunday News: It was stated on trustworthy authority last evening that Rev. J. B. Whelan, pastor of St. Patrick's church, Hyde Park, intends at the masses today to denounce the I. C. B. U. organizations of Scranton and vicinity for selling beer at an auction which was run to Farview last Tuesday. If Father Whelan fails to score them today from the altar, the beer selling at Farview will not pass without being properly execrated in the councils of the organizations, and a big rumpuss is looked for.

A representative of The Tribune called on Rev. Father Whelan at the parish residence last evening and made inquiries regarding the foregoing statement. Father Whelan stated there was no reference whatever made to anything of the sort at the masses during the day.

The News article further states that "The I. C. B. U. stands for the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union. The Catholic church, according to the Plenary councils of Baltimore, forbids any organization that under the guidance of the church, from trafficking in intoxicating liquors." * * * The excursion was run to raise funds for the entertainment of visiting I. C. B. U. delegates to the national convention which convenes in the rooms of John Boyle O'Reilly council, Y. M. C. U. during the same week of the C. T. A. U. convention, but it was a violation of the rules, and a grievous one at that, to have beer on tap where it was to get money for this purpose."

The matter will likely be brought before the local societies before the convention meets, and if such a thing transpired, some trouble may be anticipated for some one.
