testimonial to Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer, the "soldier's friend," who will soon reach her seventieth year. Mrs. Wittenmyer is a past national president of the Woman's Relief corps, and is prominent as a worker in the ranks of the order, and as a writer. She did heroic service during the war in relieving the sufferings of the sick and wounded soldiers, and even exposed herself in the front of battle in saving life. President Lincoln was her strong supporter. Secretary Stanton afforded her every facility for carrying on her work, and she had the support of the generals in the field. General Grant and Mrs. Grant were her friends and co-workers, and Mrs. Grant wrote the introduction to her book, "Under the Guns," testifying that even up to the present time she does good work in aiding the soldiers and their needy families and in securing pensions. Stroudsburg, Aug. 3 .- When the public boarded the trolley here yesterday they were greeted by fair young conductors in the persons of the prettiest girls in the town, who ran the street cars for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid society attached to the local camp of Sons of Veterans.

The girl conductors wore military caps jauntily perched on the side of their heads, and red, white and blue sashes encircled their slim waists. All day long they cleverly lifted the fares, their only fault being a tendency to forget the change. By evening they had accumulated a considerable sum for their cause.
