I have nevconsidered the question of being a candidate for governor, have not even talked about it with my closest friends, more or less, eligible to the office of governor of Pennsylvania, and to be elected as 'the last man whom my father would support' is an unexpected compliment. The man whom Senator Quay supports for governor next year, he will, as a matter course, expect to control, and thus prevent independent judgment on the part of the executive. This is a price no self-respecting man can pay for the gubernatorial nomination. Hence the implied compliment in being 'the last man in the state whom my father would support'."

FATHER OF THIRTY-NINE.

Family So Large That Not All of Them Are Acquainted with One Auother.

From the St. Louis Republic. Dave Vititoe, 16 years old, a malarial resident at the City Hospital, is sist his return to the senate. That is blessed far beyond the avergage mortal in the ties of blood. He is much be familied. In fact, though Dave is acquainted with most of his brothers and sisters, there are two or three to whom he has never received an introduction. When it is known that the children of his father, a wealthy farmer and horse trainer in Breckinridge county, Kentucky, numbered at last reports thirty-nine, this circumstance will not seem remarkable. The elder Vititoe has 1 sen three times married. His oldst sor is 47 years of age. That is also the age of his present wife, the mother of Dave, by whom he has had twenty-two children There are thirteen children younger than Dave, who is 16 years old. Dave's private opinion is that the total number of children is forty, as he has not heard from home for some time. Of this Immense family, twentyseven children, according to Dave's best recollection, are now alive. Just how many are boys and how girls he is not able to say, but he is convinced that the boys outnumber the girls considerably. All the boys except the very little chaps are earnbe seen raging in this and Warren ing their own living, though Dave says the old man is in a position to manville church in this county was support them all, should it become struck and the damage will reach sevor horse trainers, having inherited the father's love of horse flesh, and having, dwelling houses were struck and near | as Dave says, "grown up with the colts in the stable."

> One remarkable feature of this immense family is that there has never been a duplicate birth. There are no twins, triplets, or other combinations.

In Need of Money and Threatened by Her Neighbors. FLEET NOT BOUND FOR CRETE

Auxious Now to Expedite the Peace Negotiations -- Bulgaria, Servia and Montenegro in a Menacing Attitude -- Troops in Thessaly Are Dying Rapidly.

Constantinople, Aug. 5.-The Turkish government officials are now manifesting a desire to expedite the settlement of the peace negotiations, owing to the straitened state of the Exchequer rendering it possible under the present circumstances to contract a new loan, because of the unhealthy condition of the troops in Thessaly, where many of the soldiers are dying, and for political reasons, the attitude of Bulgaria, Servia and Montenegro being regarded as threatening. The Turkish minister for foreign af fairs, Tewfix Pasha, replying to inquiries made by the ambassadors of the powers, has expressed ignorance of the distination of the Turkish fleet, which left the Dardanelles on Tuesday last. It appears, however, that the warships are not going to Cretan waters, which is probably a wise decison upon the part of the Turkish authorities as it has been stated that the admirals in command of the fleets of the powers have decided to oppose, by force if necessary, the entry of the Turkish squadron into Cretan waters, where precautions have already been taken against such an eventuality, by the dispatch of foreign warships to guard the different ports of Crete.

SITUATION AT CRETE. Canea, Island of Crete, Aug. 5 .- The belief of the Cretans that Djovad Pasha, the new military commandant is really charged by the sultan with instructions to wreck the antonomy scheme has had at least one very im-
