SAMUEL CREW'S OFFER.

Willing to Sweep a Block of Pavement Free of Charge if Furnished the Implements.

Samuel Crew, of 110 South Hyde Park avenue, is a gentleman of an earnest turn of mind and he is likewise very public-spirited. The pavement on Jackson street, lying between Main and Hyde Park avenues, is not overly clean on Sunday mornings and consequently a great majority of the churchgoers are frequently annoyed by flying dust. As a remedy Mr. Crew, through The Tribune, desires to submit the following proposition to Street Commissioner Dunning: "If Mr. Dunning, street commissioner, will kindly lease one broom, one shovel, and one wheelbarrow at the house, No. 110 South Hyde Park avenue, the occupant of said house will sweep and remove all dirt from Jackson street, from Hyde Park avenue to Main avenue, free of cost."

This, Mr. Crew states, will be done every Saturday evening, provided his implements are forthcoming.

RECEPTION FOR MISS COURSE.

On Friday evening Mrs. J. J. Timbol tendered her guest, Miss Olive Course, of Jersey, a reception. The guests were pleasantly entertained by the hostess and the young lady in whose honor the event occurred. Many pleasant diversions were provided which tended to make the evening one of unalloyed enjoyment. Refreshments were served. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sauber, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Siebert, Mr. and Mrs. Burlingame, Mrs. M. Course, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Maggie and Mae Griffiths, Mae Clearwater, Elvira Richards, Cora Turner, Mae Eaton, Mae Burlingame, Jennie Smith, Lillian Bates, Myrtle Bates, Arleta Baker, Dolly Thomas, Millie Mulre; Messrs. Arthur Thiel, Roger Forbes Eaton, Albert Morgan, Louis Bates, Floyd Baker, Harlie Zintel, Willie Sweet, Philip Bates, George Sauber, Harold Zintel.

BOTH ARMS BROKEN.

A young man giving his name as Kelly, and his residence as Bone Hill, came to the West Side hospital on Saturday for treatment. Both his forearms were broken. They were set and he went home. He had met with the mishap at Mountain Park, having having been struck by a swing as he attempted to stop it.

BURKE WAS AN IMPOSTOR.

"Say, fellows," said Edward Burke, "when you ever very, very hungry? Well, I am and if you can help a fellow out, why," etc. The above conversation was addressed to Frank Reese and Will Hughes, as they stood conversing, near the corner of Jackson street on South Main avenue, Saturday evening. "We'll help you out if you are not bluffing for a drink," quoth the would-be Samaritans. "Ah! say," said Edwards, as he took the money, enough for a good meal, "I ain't dat sort. I hope you won't lose your jobs by drinking." Edward started for a lunch wagon and incidentally stopped for some liquid hunger satisfaction in Warnke's. The young men saw the action and just for a test, "pushed" the fellow for his hold "graft." "Say," said he, "I have da coin, what you going to do about it?" Now Burke will not be hungry—for food—for the next thirty days. The charge was "vagrancy and begging."

MRS STEVENS ARRESTED.

An early morning visit by a constable, a hurried donning of clothes and a trial before an alderman formed the main features of arrest brought about by the swearing out of a warrant before Alderman Moses, by Mrs. R. Acker, Saturday morning. Mrs. Acker claims that Jennie Stevens, residing at No. 42 Lackawanna avenue, so attracts Mrs. Acker's husband as to keep him from home. She charges the woman with harboring him, and for this reason causes the arrest. Mrs. Stevens was arrested by Constables Henry Burshell and Deputy Constable John H. Jones, at her rooms at 7:30 Saturday morning and given a hearing before Alderman Moses. She was fined $10 and costs. While the constables were making the arrest another woman, who resides in the house, thought it was a "pull" and dashed for the fire escape. Reaching the bottom of the iron ladder, the distance to the ground was too great but an employe of the freight house opposite, came to her assistance. Upon reaching the ground she ran up the alley and went to a friend's. The husband who was alleged to have been harbored quietly slept through it all.

SEEN IN PHILADELPHIA.

Andy McHugh, the 13-year-old son of Hotelkeeper Richard McHugh, who disappeared mysteriously about five months ago, has been located in Philadelphia. A West Side man who knew the boy, but who was not aware that he was being sought for, met him on the street in the Quaker City last week. When asked what he was doing down there the boy replied that he was visiting his aunt, Mr. McHugh was much relieved to learn that the boy is alive and has set about finding him and bringing him home.

A MINE PARTY.

On Friday evening a party of West Scranton young people visited the Central mine and were shown about. They then returned to the residence of Hon. and Mrs. J. H. Fellows, where they were tendered a reception by the Misses Nellie and Lois Fellows. The occasion was in honor of Misses Anna Sturdevant and Anna Sterling, of Meshoppen, the guests of the Misses Fellows. The evening was spent in a pleasant manner and refreshments were served. The guests were Misses Anna Sterling, Anna Sturdevant, Meshoppen; Nellie and Lois Fellows, Gertie Fellows, Edna Saxe, Elizabeth Heizer, Jane Feltus, Fanny Kennedy, Ethel Fellows, Gertie Fellows and Ethel Fellows; and Turvey Breeze, Charles and

TO HARVEY'S LAKE TOMORROW.

St. Brendan council, Young Men's Institute, with their friends will go to Harvey's Lake tomorrow for their annual outing. The park at the lake has been greatly beautified this year, and it is now considered one of the finest in the state. The increasing popularity of the big lake demanded the improvement. St. Brendan council is one of the most prosperous branches in the Young Men's Institute. Its members comprise many of the best young men on this side. The excursion tomorrow will have the benefit of good management and a companionable crowd.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Alda Davis, of Archibald street, has gone to Syracuse, where she will spend two weeks with friends. Miss Margaret Jones, of Landis street, is sojourning at Lake Ariel. Louis A. MINOR NEWS NOTES.

The Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church, Bellevue, will conduct their annual excursion to Fairview, Wednesday, Aug. 15. They expect to carry a large crowd to this famed pleasure resort and have made every preparation for their pleasure and amusement. There will be base ball games, tugs-of-war, bicycle races, etc. Nellie Williams, who resides on Scranton street, had Andrew Orient arrested and tried before Alderman Kelly on Saturday. On hearing the testimony the alderman discharged the case. David Steinback and George Harvey are having no end of lawsuits. Steinback had Harvey tried and convicted before Alderman Kelly on a charge of assault and battery. Then Harvey had Steinback arrested on a similar charge and Steinback was held in bail before Alderman Millet. Now Steinback has Harvey tried before Alderman Kelly on a charge of perjury. Important business will be transacted at this evening's business meeting of the Young Men's Culture class of Plymouth church. All members are requested to be present. A large crowd attended the excursion of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Board of Erin, to Mountain Park on Saturday. It was a delightful day and everyone enjoyed themselves to the utmost. The committee had provided all kinds of amusements for the occasion and much interest was taken in the athletic contests. Donnie McHugh captured the hand-ball contest. The funeral of Horace Price, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Price, of Emmet street, was held yesterday from the parental home. Interment was made at the Washburn street cemetery. Irene Kreider, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kreider, of Sweetland street, was severely injured on Saturday afternoon. While playing football and struck her left elbow, contusing the arm and causing the elbow to swell. Dr. B. G. Beck with made the little sufferer as comfortable as possible. The funeral services of Sarah Jones, infant daughter of Rev. and Mrs. David Jones, will occur this afternoon at 3 p. m. at Lake Winola. Interment at the Lake Winola cemetery.

SOUTH SCRANTON.

A gang of youths, of respectable parentage, persist in persecuting Louie Lousenski, an old man and his family, living on Mosholo avenue, near Irving avenue. Friday afternoon the boys threw a base ball into Lousenski's garden and upon going for it they damaged the green structure in the garden. This is the second of so frequent occurrence that in this instance Mr. Lousenski seized the ball and would not return it. Out of revenge the boys assaulted Mrs. Lousenski, who is a widow, and she was hospitalized for several days. The family was compelled to stay within doors. Patrolman Sartor is alleged to say that Mrs. Lousenski, who made the complaint, must see Lieutenant Zang. The latter could not be found. Mrs. Lousenski is now confined to her home, without interruption for a long time. Lousenski claims that he is afraid his house will be set fire to.

In the new No. 10 school building now under course of construction will be completed by the beginning of the school season. The building measures 100 by 100 feet and will be fitted with all modern appointments.
