OVER A STEEP BANK.

Two Men and a Horse Plunge Fifteen Feet and Escape Injury.

James Gilligan and a companion residents of Mayfield, are congratulat ing themselves on the happy ending of au accident which came very near proving serious.

The two had come to this city in a carriage and were on their return trip when the accident occured. Just as they came to the D. & H. crossing near Eighth avenue the passenger train came and they stopped the horse to wait until it passed. The horse be-came frightened, however, and began to back the carriage against the fence. which enclosed a bank about fifteen feet high. The railing suddenly gav way and the men, buggy and hors went over. The buggy was overturned in the descent and landed on Mr. Gilligan and his companion, and on top of the whole came the horse. Nothing short of serious injury could have occurred to the men. So thought the spectators who hurried to the scere. However, on clearing the wreck of the carriage away the men were found without a scratch. This was due to the framework of the buggy which in closed them, but prevented the weight of the horse from coming upon them The horse was also uninjured, but the carriage is a complete wreck.

DEATH IN A BUNCH OF BANANAS.

Mr. Shannon's Fortunate Escape from a Tarantula.

A large tarantula was found in bunch of bananas at the store of J. B. Shannon on Salem avenue, Saturday morning.

Mr. Shannon was filling an order for stomer and was selecting a dozen from a large bunch. The first bana. warning bat he had of the deadly in-sect was from a small boy who called his attention to a large spider. Mr. Shannon knew at once that the spider was a tarantula whose bite means a horrible death and he jumped back just as the insect was about to alight on his hand. It dropped to the sidewalk and ran into a crevice before it could be killed. This is the second experience of the kind Mr. Shannon has had within five years.

A SURPRISING DISCOVERY.

Nearly $300 Accidentally Found by Samuel Pearce.

Samuel Pearce, a drayman, while moving an old cupboard at the home of Mrs. Harriet Raynor, made a surprising but not unpleasant discovery. He noticed something glitter when h pulled the cupboard out and a further examination showed that it was caused by a box of gold coins. On counting the gold it was found that there was $250. In another box was a large amount of silver coins amounting to about $50. There was also papers stating the source from which the

And as for Yankee ingenuity and mechanical development, nothing outside of America can GREATER NEW YORK.

Illinois, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania are the only states of the Union with a population greater than that of the newly-formed city, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Washington, Oregon and Wyoming together have but about half as many people as Greater New York. The total popula-tion of Vermont or North Dakota could go to New York and, by scattering around the city, nobody would know there were any strangers in town. New York has about twice as many inhabitants as Cuba, which is pretty near done whipping Spain. Egypt has twice the population of the new city: Greece, which is defying all of Europe, twothirds as many as New York, while Calle, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark and a whole lot of other countries that have kings and an army of royal familles are about in New York city's class. London has more people than New York, such as they are, but she has no such number of the same kind of hustlers and up-to-date business people. They don't grow in the old world. But in any other respect than mere noses New York is the crowning giory of the creative hand of man, and in a tew years more she is going to admit of no rivalry .- Pittsburg Times.

SATURDAY'S FIRE.

The barn of William Hicks, situated between Archbald and Park streets, was nearly entirely destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. Both companies responded promptly to the alarm but some delay was caused by the necessity of the companies to joint their hose in order to reach the building. They succeeded in keeping the flames from spreading to other buildings. The barn contained a large quantity of ice, some meat, a boiler and engine and a quantity of hay. Some of the neighbors succeeded in taking out some wagons, a pair of scales and other valuables. The loss is partly covered by insurance.
