THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review. New York, Aug. 9.—Quite a violent liquidation set in the stock market in the last hour and a half of trading today, and prices came tumbing from their high places, the decline from the high point being in many cases very wide. What the professional traders have been predicting for some time came to pass, namely: A sufficient decline to uncover stop loss orders by weak holders of stocks. The dealers have been aware of the "piramiding" of orders on a large scale, that is to say the re-investment of earning as fast as made by weak holders, which threatened what occurred today. It looked for a time as though the market was going to pieces under the weight of heavy offerings to read the state of the says of heavy offerings to reatize. But after it was over, a taking account of the day re-vealed that the net changes of importance were confined to a comparatively few stocks. It was the stocks that had enjoyed sensational advances in the morning, notably the Grangers, that suf-fered most severely in the afternoon. The total sales were 756,800 shares.
